LABOR MEASURE SENT TO TRUMAN

Reds Attempt To Strengthen Balkans Grip

Opposition Leader In Bulgaria Seized

LONDON, June 6. (AP)—A new Balkan ferment, stirred by the Hungarian coup and highlighted by the arrest of the chief opposition leader in Bulgaria, roused fears among diplomats here today that a Communist campaign was in full swing to consolidate control in Southeastern Europe in direct answer to President Truman's doctrine.

Political police were on the march in Budapest, where an Associated Press dispatch reported the Hungarian people live "in days and nights of suppressed terror," again listening to forbidden radio broadcasts. Vienna dispatches said the Hungarian border guard had been increased by thousands to prevent the escape of refugees.

More Red Moves Feared

Speculation on more Communist moves to strengthen their position before Soviet occupation troops are obliged by the peace treaties to withdraw from former Axis satellite nations was aroused by the departure of Premier Groza, of Romania, and a group of party leaders for Yugoslavia and Bulgaria. Groza made a "good will" trip to Hungary only a few weeks before Premier Ferenc Nagy was toppled in the Hungarian coup. His visit to Marshal Tito, the Soviet Union's strongest supporter in the Balkans, stirred a belief that negotiations on a Moscow-inspired Balkan federation might be underway.

Reports reaching Turkey, always sensitive to any Soviet move, said the Russians had concentrated at least 100,000 troops from east and west in Bessarabia, former Black Sea province of Romania, and that so-called labor battalions were being sent from Hungary and Romania into Bulgaria. These reports said it was assumed the battalions were to build roads and railroads near the border of Greece.

One outspoken diplomatic source in Istanbul was quoted as saying "if Russia gets away with this thing in Hungary then it means Russia stands safe and supreme behind the iron curtain and hopes of democracy there have crumbled for at least a decade."

Many Arrested In Romania

Other information reaching Turkey said there had been 15,000 arrests of non-Communists in Romania in recent days.

The arrest of Nikolai Petkov, opposition agrarian, by Communist Georgi Dimitrov's Bulgarian government in connection with alleged conspiracies to overthrow the regime by force, appeared to be in the same mold as the accusations that resulted in the resignation of the Hungarian premier.

Will Ask Election Probe By Senate

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) announced tonight he will recommend a full senatorial investigation of reported frauds and irregularities in a Kansas City Democratic primary last August.

He made the announcement after a Judiciary subcommittee he heads had spent a full day questioning three federal judges and District Attorney Sam Wear of the Western District of Missouri on their conclusion last fall that the government lacked grounds to proceed in the case.

The judges—Albert L. Reeves, Albert A. Ridge and John Caskie Collet—all said they based their recommendation on a summary of a preliminary FBI investigation, prepared and submitted to them by Wear. They also said that, at the time, they had not inspected a group of affidavits collected by investigators for the Kansas City Star, which were incorporated in the FBI files.

Taft, Answering Truman's Blast, Says Administration To Blame For High Prices

SEN. ROBERT TAFT... Replies to Truman's attack.

Likely Major Issue For 1948 Keynoted

WASHINGTON, June 6—(AP)—Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) lashed back at President Truman on the economic battlefront today, blaming the Truman administration for high prices and keynoting a likely major issue for the 1948 presidential election.

"What I object to is the President's inconsistent talk about lowering prices," Taft said in a statement, "when every policy of his administration has increased prices and is still doing so.

"He proposes to veto the law of supply and demand and avoid the results of his own policies by occasional grumbling at businessmen and high prices."

Thus Taft replied to Mr. Truman's attack yesterday in which the Chief Executive accused Taft of pursuing a "boom and bust" economic bubble and harboring "fallacious and dangerous" economic views.

700-Word Statement

The clash of views between the White House and the Republican Senate policy chief, floodlighting Taft anew as a possible 1948 GOP presidential candidate, broke into the open when Mr. Truman took the Ohio lawmaker to task at his news conference yesterday. Mr. Truman took particular exception to a remark by Taft in an interview that apparently the President had sidetracked a campaign to keep prices down in favor of "heavy spending abroad that will keep them up."

In a 700-word statement, Taft today declared that Mr. Truman has "created all the basic conditions which compel high prices." And he listed five points to illustrate what he termed the President's inconsistencies:

"1. The President was the one who vetoed the first OPA bill (last year) and then abandoned OPA control after Congress gave him full power to regulate most prices, including the price of all manufactured goods.

"Because we prohibited OPA prices below cost, he decided to take off every control. Apparently, if he was not allowed to bust, he proposed to boom."

"Encouraged" Wage Increases

"2. The President encouraged a pattern of general wage increases all over the United States on the theory that they could be granted in all fields without price increases, a theory which even his strongest supporters immediately found to be unsound.

"3. The President has fought every effort of the Congress to reduce government expenses and taxes. Taxes increase costs and increased costs inevitably mean higher prices.

"4. By vetoing the Case bill (last year's labor measure), and otherwise, he has resisted the effort to curb the power of the labor union leaders which meant higher wages for a very limited group of powerful unions, but increased costs for everybody else.

"5. Huge dollar funds have been made available through the International Bank, the International Fund, the British loan and many special loans, far beyond the proof of specific needs which I have always voted to meet.

Dewey, Stassen Meet But Do Not Discuss Politics

New York Governor And Warren Confer

NEW YORK, June 6 (AP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Harold E. Stassen conferred today and afterwards both said there was no domestic political significance to their meeting.

Stassen, only announced candidate for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination, talked with Dewey for an hour and 20 minutes in the Governor's hotel suite.

Dewey, a front runner for the GOP nomination next year, meets tonight in Albany with Gov. Earl Warren, of California, who also has been mentioned as possible standard bearer for the party in 1948.

Warren Arrives By Plane

Warren arrived here by plane in the afternoon and told newsmen his meeting with Dewey would be "purely social and had no political significance."

Asked if he would talk politics during his overnight stay at the state capital, Warren laughed and said it would be difficult for him and Dewey to talk "without discussing politics, I guess."

Both Dewey and Stassen said in separate news conferences after their meeting that they discussed only Stassen's recent 10-week trip through 16 European countries and, said Stassen, "the implications on America of world economic police."

Dewey, 1944 GOP presidential nominee, said he was "in pretty general agreement on the facts" Stassen related.

But neither would disclose what specific aspects of the European situation they discussed.

Dewey, Bishop Oxnam Confer

Stassen, considered in Republican circles as liberal in his views on foreign and domestic affairs, talked with the New York Governor immediately after Dewey held an hour-long conversation "on foreign affairs" with Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, of the Methodist Church New York Conference, and John Foster Dulles, foreign affairs adviser to Dewey in the 1944 campaign.

Dewey apparently thought the earlier conference of sufficient significance to announce it at his news conference regarding the interview with Stassen. But he did not reveal the subjects discussed.

French Rail Strike On

PARIS, Saturday, June 7 (AP)—The French government, confronted with a paralyzing strike, announced early today that it would take all necessary steps to keep food moving throughout the country, but that it would not requisition the railroads or workers.

CAPS FILL AIR—The 494 members of the graduating class of the United States Naval Academy yesterday filled the air in Dahlgren Hall with midshipmen's caps at the traditional end of commencement exercises. They had just taken oaths as ensigns after getting diplomas from Secretary of Navy Forrestal. Forrestal said "the United States provides the principal core of stability in a world shaken by six years of bitter, destructive fighting."

House Decision On Information Bill Is Deferred

Program Is Assailed By GOP Legislators

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—An attempt to push through a measure authorizing the administration to operate a foreign information and educational exchange program bogged down in the House late today under an acriminious attack, and a decision was deferred until next week.

Rep. Bender (R-Ohio) declared the program "is part of the whole Truman doctrine of draining off the United States to support every reactionary government in the world."

But Rep. Frances Bolton (R-Ohio) said that "the women of this country do not want more wars and they are willing to spend anything save their honor to prevent another."

The pending bill, among other things, would authorize the Voice of America broadcasts and an educational exchange program.

Throughout the day, members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee — unanimously supporting the bill — had dominated the debate, drawing repeated protests from those in opposition.

But late in the day Rep. A. L. Miller (R-Neb) gained the floor to protest that bringing foreign students to this country would "keep GIs in this country from getting an education" because of the overcrowded condition of educational institutions.

Rep. Willis Bradley (R-Calif) protested that there is "no limitation" on the numbers that could be brought in, and declared: "God

Aggressors Are Warned By "Ike"

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 6 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower declared tonight that "we intend to continue the firm champion of those who seek to lead their own lives in peace" despite any "hostility" from another nation.

Without naming Russia, the Army Chief of Staff noted that "at least one of the powerful nations does not see eye to eye with us on measures for the stability peace demands."

"But another's indifference — or even hostility — must not deflect us from the course we deem right," he continued.

"We do not dictate to any nation what it does internally but we intend to continue the firm champion of those who seek to lead their own lives in peace with world neighbors. They need our help."

The General added that "without American aid, guidance and leadership there is immediate danger of social, political and economic chaos among hundreds of millions."

Eisenhower's address was for a reunion of the 35th Division which formed part of his armies in Europe in World War II and in which President Truman served as an artillery officer in World War I.

Lane To Receive Honorary Degree From U. Of Md.

COLLEGE PARK, Md., June 6 (AP)—Gov. Lane will receive an honorary doctor of laws degree from the University of Maryland tomorrow, when he delivers the commencement address at graduation exercises for 870 men and women at Ritchie Coliseum.

Honorary certificates of merit in agriculture will be presented to Richard C. Riggs and Alice Wolf, both of Baltimore County; Lloyd Galderston, II, of Cecil County, and posthumously, to J. Andrew Cohill of Washington County.

TEN CHILDREN INJURED WHEN MINIATURE TRAIN WRECKS AT TOLEDO, O.

TOLEDO, O., June 6 (AP)—Ten Jackson, Mich., fifth-graders, holding their class picnic in Toledo, were injured this afternoon when they were spilled from the locomotive of the children's train at the Toledo Zoological Park.

The children were among 30 classmates riding the train when the locomotive overturned at the mouth of a tunnel. The two cars behind the engine remained upright.

Glen Symmes, who was operating the train, said he tried to bring it to a halt when the children began rocking it, leaning in unison from one side to another.

Admit Refugees, Hilldring Urges

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP) — Assistant Secretary of State John H. Hilldring told a House Judiciary Subcommittee today the United States cannot successfully seek homes for Europe's displaced persons in South America and Palestine unless this country accepts its share of the burden.

For the administration, he endorsed the bill by Rep. Stratton (R-Ill) to admit 400,000 European refugees to the United States over the next four years.

John B. Trevor, president of the American Coalition, another witness, called for "suspension of all immigration into the United States, except for the wives and children of American citizens."

He told the committee his coalition represents 85 "patriotic, civic and fraternal societies." Entry of 400,000 persons from Europe, he said would place a "dangerous burden upon our American economic system."

The hearing produced a heated clash when Rep. Gossett (D-Tex), a committee member, observed:

"Isn't this supposed to be an Anglo-Saxon country—that is, English-speaking? I am not referring to New York City—that isn't an English-speaking place."

Rep. Celler (D-NY), another committee member, quickly interposed: "I resent that," he said "the people from one place are as good as those from another" and that there are "German-speaking communities" in Gossett's State of Texas.

Late President's Estate Shrinks To $1,438,940.09

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 6—(AP)—The $1,943,855.86 gross estate left by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt shrank to $1,438,940.09 two years after his death through payment of taxes and other expenses, an executors' accounting disclosed today in Dutchess County Surrogate's Court.

Income of $167,787.40 from the date of Mr. Roosevelt's death, April 12, 1945, to April 30 this year, actually increased the estate to $2,111,673.26, the accounting showed, but expenses of $672,733.17 also were incurred.

Payments from the estate included $68,777.45 in legacies and $30,397.15 in creditors' claims and debts but the biggest outlays were for taxes which were grouped with other expenditures in a $493,524.17 item for funeral and administrative expenses.

Phone Workers Win Hike

Moscow Insists U.N. World Police Force Be Small

"Inflated Armies" Not Necessary, Reds Say

LAKE SUCCESS, June 6 (AP) — Russia said today that the world situation does not warrant maintenance of "inflated armies, navies and air forces" and insisted that the proposed United Nations global police force be small.

Delivering an hour-long policy speech to the Security Council, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko cautioned the great powers against maintaining such inflated forces on the pretext htey were needed for use by the peace agncy.

"We cannot but take into account that the aggressive bloc headed by Hitlerite Germany and militaristic Japan, had been defeated and that ex-enemy states have been placed under the control of the Allies," he said. "It follows, therefore, that there is no necessity in general that the United Nations maintain excessively numerous armed forces.

"Under such conditions it is impossible to justify the maintenance of inflated armies, navies and air forces, including armed forces, made available to the Security Council."

Gromyko made no mention of conditions in the Balkans and Eastern Europe.

Gromyko stood firm on every one of the major objections raised by Russiain the Military Staff Committee, which finally submitted a widely-split report on the Global force after 15 months of secret discussions. In the report Russia opposed the United States, Britain, China and France on more than a third of the basic principles.

The council is now debating the report in efforts to reach agreement and start machinery for setting up the international units.

Bodies Of Virginia Man, Woman Found In River

BERRYVILLE, Va., June 6. (AP)—The bodies of a man and a woman were found today in the Shenandoah River in a remote section of Clarke County and the county coroner said their deaths appeared to have been the result of a suicide pact.

Sheriff W. W. Smallwood, Jr. said the bodies were identified as those of Mrs. Julia May Stout, about 30, and Thomas Ritenour, 30, both of Stephens City, Frederick County.

Dr. Frank E. Tappan, county coroner, returned a verdict of death by drowning and said the deaths appeared to be the result of a suicide pact.

Sheriff Smallwood said that each of the bodies was tied around the waist with a rope, which was attached in turn to a rowboat chained to a tree on the river bank.

Apron-Waving Housewife Prevents Train Wreck

SWAN, Ia., June 6. (AP)—Burlington Railroad officials told today how a housewife waving an apron probably prevented a passenger train carrying 22 passengers from plowing into a track washout near here.

Conductor B. F. Martz, Ottumwa, said Mrs. Emma Bowers flagged down the train with her apron during Wednesday night's hard rain storm here.

Swan is 20 miles southeast of Des Moines.

"We might have been on it before we saw it," said Martz. "It was a mighty fine thing for the lady to do."

Army Fights To Save Two U. S. Airmen

Trapped In Nicaragua Jungle Since May 21

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., June 6 (AP) — The "green hell" of a Nicaraguan jungle was being forced today to give up the last of 15 airmen it snatched from a burning bomber more than two weeks ago.

It required only minutes for the men to plunge into the dense fastness on May 21, as they flew from the Canal Zone toward Kelly Field, Texas. Intensive rescue efforts got under way quickly, but 17 days later two men are still the prisoners of the tangle of trees, vines and creepers.

One Is Identified

The army at Morrison field here said one of the men yet to be rescued is Master Sgt. Richard A. MacCready, Franklin, Ky., who definitely is alive. The name of the other was withheld because "we don't know if he is dead or alive," the 62nd Air Rescue Squadron reported. Ground troops are battling towards them.

Of the 13 men previously rescued, one died as he was placed aboard a helicopter after 14 days in the jungle. He was listed as Sgt. David J. Wylie, Chicago.

"This has been one of the Army's most difficult rescue efforts since the war," said Morrison Field officers.

Revolution Complicates Matters

Conquering the jungle required thousands of miles of flying, aerial photographing of a large area in sckearch of clues, the parachuting of a doctor, supplies, instructions and work crews into the jungle, hacking out a clearing for helicopter to land, and tedious chopping of paths through heavy growth toward survivors. Ground troops were highly praised for their part in the rescue.

A political revolution in Nicaragua at the height of the rescue complicated matters for a time. Communications became sketchy, but no hinderance was offered by authorities to the humanitarian effort.

The Army would not predict how long it would take to reach the last two prisoners of the jungle.

Army, Navy Order C-54s Inspected

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—All Douglas C-54 Skymasters in military transport services were ordered today to undergo inspection of tail assembly fittings in a temporary grounding which officials said would not interrupt scheduled operations.

The Army Air Forces Air Transport Command acted first in what was described as "a route flying safety precaution" based on reports from Wright Field that inspections had shown looseness and shearing in bolts and vertical stabilizer attachment fittings in some planes. ATC said it has 194 C-54s in operation.

The Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics later took parallel action to require inspection of the 66 Skymasters operated by the Naval Air Transport Service and 30 to 40 others used for other than scheduled flying.

Commander Tom South, of NATS, announced that the DC-4 was given a clean bill of health following complete check of the tail assembly.

"No weaknesses or troubles were revealed," he said. "There has been no disruption of NATS schedules and no planes have been grounded."

The nation's commercial airlines, which operate 254 Skymasters converted from the military type for domestic and international services, indicated there would be no interruption of schedules.

Rent Bill Trimmed

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—Senate-House conferees agreed today to eliminate from the final draft of rent control extension legislation a "local option" provision which would have permitted city, town or county government to end rent control within their borders when they deem it wise.

They likewise dropped a provision authorizing individual states to put their own control programs into effect.

Senate Passes Union-Curbing Bill, 54 To 17

Margin Is Enough To Override Veto

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP) — A history-making bill to curb strikes and unions passed Congress tonight with a tremendous victory margin—large enough to nullify any presidential veto unless there is a chance of sentiment.

By 54 to 17, the Senate approved the measure and put it up to President Truman to sign or veto in the next 10 days. The House had passed it 320 to 79 two days ago.

The margin of approval on both these votes was far better than two-thirds of those voting, and that is the majority that would be required to override a presidential veto.

But opponents of the measure hope that a strong veto message by Mr. Truman might win over the votes of some who approved it originally.

Seventeen Democrats joined tonight with 37 Republicans in favor of the bill. Only two Republicans, Langer, of North Dakota, and Morse, of Oregon, were in the "nay" list with 15 Democrats.

Barkley Speaks

Just before the final vote, Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) told the senate that while he could not support the bill, "I am not speaking for the President." He added:

"I don't know what his attitude will be. I do know he will have the bill carefully analyzed and then act as his conscience dictates, regardless of the consequences, political or otherwise, to him."

The bill goes far beyond the labor legislation program recommended by Mr. Truman in his state of the union message to Congress last January.

Bitterly opposed by labor union leaders, but described by its sponsors as an incentive to production and a balancing wheel for labor-management relations, the bill:

1. Permits the government to get 80-day court injunctions against "national paralysis" strikes, such as a railroad or coal mine tieup.

2. Outlaws the closed shop, in which only union members may be hired.

3. Permits the union shop only when a majority of workers vote for it. In the union shop, non-union workers may be hired but they must join the union shortly.

4. Outlaws union-controlled health and welfare funds established since January 1, 1946.

5. Makes unions liable for unfair labor practices and subject to suit for violation of contract.

Bans Jurisdictional Strikes

6. Outlaws jurisdictional strikes (usually called in inter-union disputes) and secondary boycotts, in which a union strikes at another employer by refusing to handle his products for its employer.

Sens. Murray (D-Mont.) and Pepper (D-Fla.) kept the opposition fight rolling up to the bitter end.

The bill, if it goes on the statute books either with President Tru-

Tornado Inflicts Heavy Damage On Colo. Town

JULESBURG, Colo., June 6—(AP)—Heavy damage was inflicted on this Northeastern Colorado community today by a tornado which struck at 2:05 p. m. (MST) today. No fatalities were reported.

W. B. Reed, telephone company manager, said about half the buildings in the business district and some residences were damaged.

Reed said several persons suffered cuts from flying glass but there were no immediate reports of serious injuries. Reed himself and his chief operator, Inico Imherr, were cut when windows at the exchange were blown in.

Twister Razes Homes

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., June 6—(AP)—A small tornado struck a subdivision of new homes on the southwest side of Champaign at 4:30 p. m. (CDT) today, demolishing eight houses and damaging at least 25 others, but there were no fatalities or injuries.

Loneliness Lifted

2,500 Cheer "Kiss Her" As Farmer Meets Woman He Won Through Mail

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., June 6 (AP)—A farmer took a wife today—a bride he won through the United States mails—and a crowd of 2,500 cheered "kiss her" when they met.

A thronged railroad station was journey's end for Betsy Riley, of Knoxville, Tenn., widowed mother of a nine-year-old boy, and Warren E. Bounds, 31, whose love letters lifted the loneliness from two hearts.

Struggling a car's length through the grinning mob, Bounds obeyed the cheered order again and again as soon as Betsy was in his arms.

When his lips were free he said: "I've waited 15 years for a moment like this."

Betsy, in a blue frock and a little hat with lace, captured the crowd with a soft drawl when she said: "I think it's going to work out all right."

Fifty-one minutes after her train came in Betsy became Mrs. Bounds in the office of City Clerk Albert L. Fuller.

She carried the white carnations that her bridegroom brought her and the red roses which were presented her at the station by John Scarpitto, of the Lions Club.

Nine-year-old Billy was remembered, too, and he was busy stuffing his pockets with the candy bars the crowd showered on him.

Bounds said he first heard of Betsy five months ago when she answered a letter he wrote to a lonely hearts club in Tennessee.

There were about 29 letters between them, he said, and then came the magic love note in which "Betsy wrote me she was willing."

Speaks Tonight

Truman Flies To Missouri For His Most Joyous Homecoming In Months

KANSAS, CITY, June 6 (AP) — President Truman flew from Washington to Jackson County today for his most joyous homecoming in many months.

He found his mother happy and feeling much better after a grave illness. His old war comrades extended welcome arms and noisy acclaim.

Mr. Truman speaks tomorrow night at 10 o'clock (EST) to the Thirty-Fifth Division reunion. Today the ex-soldiers roared their applause when he arrived with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to greet this morning's business session with a simple "I'm glad to be here."

From this welcome he drove to his mother's cottage in rural Grandview, after a brief lunch at his hotel suite.

There he found 94-year-old Mrs. Martha E. Truman smiling her own welcome "quite avid and alert," to quote Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, the President's physician.

The chief executive, who spent nearly two weeks at his mother's bedside recently, carried a box of fresh flowers.

Returning an hour later to Kansas City with his sister, Miss Mary Jane Truman, he told reporters as he entered the hotel:

"Mother's getting along all right. I found her in good shape. She's better than when I left here."

Reds Attempt To Strengthen Balkans Grip

Opposition Leader In Bulgaria Seized

LONDON, June 6. (AP)—A new Balkan ferment, stirred by the Hungarian coup and highlighted by the arrest of the chief opposition leader in Bulgaria, roused fears among diplomats here today that a Communist campaign was in full swing to consolidate control in Southeastern Europe in direct answer to President Truman's doctrine.

Political police were on the march in Budapest, where an Associated Press dispatch reported the Hungarian people live "in days and nights of suppressed terror," again listening to forbidden radio broadcasts. Vienna dispatches said the Hungarian border guard had been increased by thousands to prevent the escape of refugees.

More Red Moves Feared

Speculation on more Communist moves to strengthen their position before Soviet occupation troops are obliged by the peace treaties to withdraw from former Axis satellite nations was aroused by the departure of Premier Groza, of Romania, and a group of party leaders for Yugoslavia and Bulgaria. Groza made a "good will" trip to Hungary only a few weeks before Premier Ferenc Nagy was toppled in the Hungarian coup. His visit to Marshal Tito, the Soviet Union's strongest supporter in the Balkans, stirred a belief that negotiations on a Moscow-inspired Balkan federation might be underway.

Reports reaching Turkey, always sensitive to any Soviet move, said the Russians had concentrated at least 100,000 troops from east and west in Bessarabia, former Black Sea province of Romania, and that so-called labor battalions were being sent from Hungary and Romania into Bulgaria. These reports said it was assumed the battalions were to build roads and railroads near the border of Greece.

One outspoken diplomatic source in Istanbul was quoted as saying "if Russia gets away with this thing in Hungary then it means Russia stands safe and supreme behind the iron curtain and hopes of democracy there have crumbled for at least a decade."

Many Arrested In Romania

Other information reaching Turkey said there had been 15,000 arrests of non-Communists in Romania in recent days.

The arrest of Nikolai Petkov, opposition agrarian, by Communist Georgi Dimitrov's Bulgarian government in connection with alleged conspiracies to overthrow the regime by force, appeared to be in the same mold as the accusations that resulted in the resignation of the Hungarian premier.

While the State Department in Washington drafted a strong note to Russia charging Soviet interference

Will Ask Election Probe By Senate

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) announced tonight he will recommend a full senatorial investigation of reported frauds and irregularities in a Kansas City Democratic primary last August.

He made the announcement after a Judiciary subcommittee he heads had spent a full day questioning three federal judges and District Attorney Sam Wear of the Western District of Missouri on their conclusion last fall that the government lacked grounds to proceed in the case.

The judges—Albert L. Reeves, Albert A. Ridge and John Caskie Collet—all said they based their recommendation on a summary of a preliminary FBI investigation, prepared and submitted to them by Wear. They also said that, at the time, they had not inspected a group of affidavits collected by investigators for the Kansas City Star, which were incorporated in the FBI files.

Taft, Answering Truman's Blast, Says Administration To Blame For High Prices

SEN. ROBERT TAFT... Replies to Truman's attack.

Likely Major Issue For 1948 Keynoted

WASHINGTON, June 6—(AP)—Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) lashed back at President Truman on the economic battlefront today, blaming the Truman administration for high prices and keynoting a likely major issue for the 1948 presidential election.

"What I object to is the President's inconsistent talk about lowering prices," Taft said in a statement, "when every policy of his administration has increased prices and is still doing so.

"He proposes to veto the law of supply and demand and avoid the results of his own policies by occasional grumbling at businessmen and high prices."

Thus Taft replied to Mr. Truman's attack yesterday in which the Chief Executive accused Taft of pursuing a "boom and bust" economic bubble and harboring "fallacious and dangerous" economic views.

700-Word Statement

The clash of views between the White House and the Republican Senate policy chief, floodlighting Taft anew as a possible 1948 GOP presidential candidate, broke into the open when Mr. Truman took the Ohio lawmaker to task at his news conference yesterday. Mr. Truman took particular exception to a remark by Taft in an interview that apparently the President had sidetracked a campaign to keep prices down in favor of "heavy spending abroad that will keep them up."

In a 700-word statement, Taft today declared that Mr. Truman has "created all the basic conditions which compel high prices." And he listed five points to illustrate what he termed the President's inconsistencies:

"1. The President was the one who vetoed the first OPA bill (last year) and then abandoned OPA control after Congress gave him full power to regulate most prices, including the price of all manufactured goods.

"Because we prohibited OPA prices below cost, he decided to take off every control. Apparently, if he was not allowed to bust, he proposed to boom."

"Encouraged" Wage Increases

"2. The President encouraged a pattern of general wage increases all over the United States on the theory that they could be granted in all fields without price increases, a theory which even his strongest supporters immediately found to be unsound.

"3. The President has fought every effort of the Congress to reduce government expenses and taxes. Taxes increase costs and increased costs inevitably mean higher prices.

"4. By vetoing the Case bill (last year's labor measure), and otherwise, he has resisted the effort to curb the power of the labor union leaders which meant higher wages for a very limited group of powerful unions, but increased costs for everybody else.

"5. Huge dollar funds have been made available through the International Bank, the International Fund, the British loan and many special loans, far beyond the proof of specific needs which I have always voted to meet.

Dewey, Stassen Meet But Do Not Discuss Politics

New York Governor And Warren Confer

NEW YORK, June 6 (AP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Harold E. Stassen conferred today and afterwards both said there was no domestic political significance to their meeting.

Stassen, only announced candidate for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination, talked with Dewey for an hour and 20 minutes in the Governor's hotel suite.

Dewey, a front runner for the GOP nomination next year, meets tonight in Albany with Gov. Earl Warren, of California, who also has been mentioned as possible standard bearer for the party in 1948.

Warren Arrives By Plane

Warren arrived here by plane in the afternoon and told newsmen his meeting with Dewey would be "purely social and had no political significance."

Asked if he would talk politics during his overnight stay at the state capital, Warren laughed and said it would be difficult for him and Dewey to talk "without discussing politics, I guess."

Both Dewey and Stassen said in separate news conferences after their meeting that they discussed only Stassen's recent 10-week trip through 16 European countries and, said Stassen, "the implications on America of world economic police."

Dewey, 1944 GOP presidential nominee, said he was "in pretty general agreement on the facts" Stassen related.

But neither would disclose what specific aspects of the European situation they discussed.

Dewey, Bishop Oxnam Confer

Stassen, considered in Republican circles as liberal in his views on foreign and domestic affairs, talked with the New York Governor immediately after Dewey held an hour-long conversation "on foreign affairs" with Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, of the Methodist Church New York Conference, and John Foster Dulles, foreign affairs adviser to Dewey in the 1944 campaign.

Dewey apparently thought the earlier conference of sufficient significance to announce it at his news conference regarding the interview with Stassen. But he did not reveal the subjects discussed.

French Rail Strike On

PARIS, Saturday, June 7 (AP)—The French government, confronted with a paralyzing strike, announced early today that it would take all necessary steps to keep food moving throughout the country, but that it would not requisition the railroads or workers.

Aggressors Are Warned By "Ike"

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 6 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower declared tonight that "we intend to continue the firm champion of those who seek to lead their own lives in peace" despite any "hostility" from another nation.

Without naming Russia, the Army Chief of Staff noted that "at least one of the powerful nations does not see eye to eye with us on measures for the stability peace demands."

"But another's difference — or even hostility — must not deflect us from the course we deem right," he continued.

"We do not dictate to any nation what it does internally but we intend to continue the firm champion of those who seek to lead their own lives in peace with world neighbors. They need our help."

The General added that "without American aid, guidance and leadership there is immediate danger of social, political and economic chaos among hundreds of millions."

Eisenhower's address was for a reunion of the 35th Division which formed part of his armies in Europe in World War II and in which President Truman served as an artillery officer in World War I.

Lane To Receive Honorary Degree From U. Of Md.

COLLEGE PARK, Md., June 6 (AP)—Gov. Lane will receive an honorary doctor of laws degree from the University of Maryland tomorrow, when he delivers the commencement address at graduation exercises for 870 men and women at Ritchie Coliseum.

Honorary certificates of merit in agriculture will be presented to Richard C. Riggs and Alice Wolf, both of Baltimore County; Lloyd Galderston, II, of Cecil County, and posthumously, to J. Andrew Cohill of Washington County.

CAPS FILL AIR—The 494 members of the graduating class of the United States Naval Academy yesterday filled the air in Dahlgren Hall with midshipmen's caps at the traditional end of commencement exercises. They had just taken oaths as ensigns after getting diplomas from Secretary of Navy Forrestal. Forrestal said "the United States provides the principal core of stability in a world shaken by six years of bitter, destructive fighting."

House Decision On Information Bill Is Deferred

Program Is Assailed By GOP Legislators

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—An attempt to push through a measure authorizing the administration to operate a foreign information and educational exchange program bogged down in the House late today under an acriminious attack, and a decision was deferred until next week.

Rep. Bender (R-Ohio) declared the program "is part of the whole Truman doctrine of draining off the United States to support every reactionary government in the world."

But Rep. Frances Bolton (R-Ohio) said that "the women of this country do not want more wars and they are willing to spend anything save their honor to prevent another."

The pending bill, among other things, would authorize the Voice of America broadcasts and an educational exchange program.

Throughout the day, members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee — unanimously supporting the bill — had dominated the debate, drawing repeated protests from those in opposition.

But late in the day Rep. A. L. Miller (R-Neb) gained the floor to protest that bringing foreign students to this country would "keep GIs in this country from getting an education" because of the overcrowded condition of educational institutions.

Rep. Willis Bradley (R-Calif) protested that there is "no limitation" on the numbers that could be brought in, and declared: "God

Late President's Estate Shrinks To $1,438,940.09

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 6—(AP)—The $1,943,855.86 gross estate left by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt shrank to $1,438,940.09 two years after his death through payment of taxes and other expenses, an executors' accounting disclosed today in Dutchess County Surrogate's Court.

Income of $167,787.40 from the date of Mr. Roosevelt's death, April 12, 1945, to April 30 this year, actually increased the estate to $2,111,673.26, the accounting showed, but expenses of $672,733.17 also were incurred.

Payments from the estate included $68,777.45 in legacies and $30,397.15 in creditors' claims and debts but the biggest outlays were for taxes which were grouped with other expenditures in a $493,524.17 item for funeral and administrative expenses.

TEN CHILDREN INJURED WHEN MINIATURE TRAIN WRECKS AT TOLEDO, O.

TOLEDO, O., June 6 (AP)—Ten Jackson, Mich., fifth-graders, holding their class picnic in Toledo, were injured this afternoon when they were spilled from the locomotive of the children's train at the Toledo Zoological Park.

The children were among 30 classmates riding the train when the locomotive overturned at the mouth of a tunnel. The two cars behind the engine remained upright.

Glen Symmes, who was operating the train, said he tried to bring it to a halt when the children began rocking it, leaning in unison from one side to another.

Admit Refugees, Hilldring Urges

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP) — Assistant Secretary of State John H. Hilldring told a House Judiciary Subcommittee today the United States cannot successfully seek homes for Europe's displaced persons in South America and Palestine unless this country accepts its share of the burden.

For the administration, he endorsed the bill by Rep. Stratton (R-Ill) to admit 400,000 European refugees to the United States over the next four years.

John B. Trevor, president of the American Coalition, another witness, called for "suspension of all immigration into the United States, except for the wives and children of American citizens."

He told the committee his coalition represents 85 "patriotic, civic and fraternal societies." Entry of 400,000 persons from Europe, he said would place a "dangerous burden upon our American economic system."

The hearing produced a heated clash when Rep. Gossett (D-Tex), a committee member, observed:

"Isn't this supposed to be an Anglo-Saxon country—that is, English-speaking? I am not referring to New York City—that isn't an English-speaking place."

Rep. Celler (D-NY), another committee member, quickly interposed: "I resent that," he said "the people from one place are as good as those from another" and that there are "German-speaking communities" in Gossett's State of Texas.

Moscow Insists U.N. World Police Force Be Small

"Inflated Armies" Not Necessary, Reds Say

LAKE SUCCESS, June 6 (AP) — Russia said today that the world situation does not warrant maintenance of "inflated armies, navies and air forces" and insisted that the proposed United Nations global police force be small.

Delivering an hour-long policy speech to the Security Council, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko cautioned the great powers against maintaining such inflated forces on the pretext htey were needed for use by the peace agncy.

"We cannot but take into account that the aggressive bloc headed by Hitlerite Germany and militaristic Japan, had been defeated and that ex-enemy states have been placed under the control of the Allies," he said. "It follows, therefore, that there is no necessity in general that the United Nations maintain excessively numerous armed forces.

"Under such conditions it is impossible to justify the maintenance of inflated armies, navies and air forces, including armed forces, made available to the Security Council."

Gromyko made no mention of conditions in the Balkans and Eastern Europe.

Gromyko stood firm on every one of the major objections raised by Russiain the Military Staff Committee, which finally submitted a widely-split report on the Global force after 15 months of secret discussions. In the report Russia opposed the United States, Britain, China and France on more than a third of the basic principles.

The council is now debating the report in efforts to reach agreement and start machinery for setting up the international units.

Bodies Of Virginia Man, Woman Found In River

BERRYVILLE, Va., June 6. (AP)—The bodies of a man and a woman were found today in the Shenandoah River in a remote section of Clarke County and the county coroner said their deaths appeared to have been the result of a suicide pact.

Sheriff W. W. Smallwood, Jr. said the bodies were identified as those of Mrs. Julia May Stout, about 30, and Thomas Ritenour, 30, both of Stephens City, Frederick County.

Dr. Frank E. Tappan, county coroner, returned a verdict of death by drowning and said the deaths appeared to be the result of a suicide pact.

Sheriff Smallwood said that each of the bodies was tied around the waist with a rope, which was attached in turn to a rowboat chained to a tree on the river bank.

Apron-Waving Housewife Prevents Train Wreck

SWAN, Ia., June 6. (AP)—Burlington Railroad officials told today how a housewife waving an apron probably prevented a passenger train carrying 22 passengers from plowing into a track washout near here.

Conductor B. F. Martz, Ottumwa, said Mrs. Emma Bowers flagged down the train with her apron during Wednesday night's hard rain storm here.

Swan is 20 miles southeast of Des Moines.

"We might have been on it before we saw it," said Martz. "It was a mighty fine thing for the lady to do."

Army Fights To Save Two U. S. Airmen

Trapped In Nicaragua Jungle Since May 21

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., June 6 (AP) — The "green hell" of a Nicaraguan jungle was being forced today to give up the last of 15 airmen it snatched from a burning bomber more than two weeks ago.

It required only minutes for the men to plunge into the dense fastness on May 21, as they flew from the Canal Zone toward Kelly Field, Texas. Intensive rescue efforts got under way quickly, but 17 days later two men are still the prisoners of the tangle of trees, vines and creepers.

One Is Identified

The army at Morrison field here said one of the men yet to be rescued is Master Sgt. Richard A. MacCready, Franklin, Ky., who definitely is alive. The name of the other was withheld because "we don't know if he is dead or alive," the 62nd Air Rescue Squadron reported. Ground troops are battling towards them.

Of the 13 men previously rescued, one died as he was placed aboard a helicopter after 14 days in the jungle. He was listed as Sgt. David J. Wylie, Chicago.

"This has been one of the Army's most difficult rescue efforts since the war," said Morrison Field officers.

Revolution Complicates Matters

Conquering the jungle required thousands of miles of flying, aerial photographing of a large area in sckearch of clues, the parachuting of a doctor, supplies, instructions and work crews into the jungle, hacking out a clearing for helicopter to land, and tedious chopping of paths through heavy growth toward survivors. Ground troops were highly praised for their part in the rescue.

A political revolution in Nicaragua at the height of the rescue complicated matters for a time. Communications became sketchy, but no hinderance was offered by authorities to the humanitarian effort.

The Army would not predict how long it would take to reach the last two prisoners of the jungle.

Army, Navy Order C-54s Inspected

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—All Douglas C-54 Skymasters in military transport services were ordered today to undergo inspection of tail assembly fittings in a temporary grounding which officials said would not interrupt scheduled operations.

The Army Air Forces Air Transport Command acted first in what was described as "a route flying safety precaution" based on reports from Wright Field that inspections had shown looseness and shearing in bolts and vertical stabilizer attachment fittings in some planes. ATC said it has 194 C-54s in operation.

The Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics later took parallel action to require inspection of the 66 Skymasters operated by the Naval Air Transport Service and 30 to 40 others used for other than scheduled flying.

Commander Tom South, of NATS, announced that the DC-4 was given a clean bill of health following complete check of the tail assembly.

"No weaknesses or troubles were revealed," he said. "There has been no disruption of NATS schedules and no planes have been grounded."

The nation's commercial airlines, which operate 254 Skymasters converted from the military type for domestic and international services, indicated there would be no interruption of schedules.

Rent Bill Trimmed

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—Senate-House conferees agreed today to eliminate from the final draft of rent control extension legislation a "local option" provision which would have permitted city, town or county government to end rent control within their borders when they deem it wise.

They likewise dropped a provision authorizing individual states to put their own control programs into effect.

Margin Is Enough To Override Veto

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP) — A history-making bill to curb strikes and unions passed Congress tonight with a tremendous victory margin—large enough to nullify any presidential veto unless there is a chance of sentiment.

By 54 to 17, the Senate approved the measure and put it up to President Truman to sign or veto in the next 10 days. The House had passed it 320 to 79 two days ago.

The margin of approval on both these votes was far better than two-thirds of those voting, and that is the majority that would be required to override a presidential veto.

But opponents of the measure hope that a strong veto message by Mr. Truman might win over the votes of some who approved it originally.

Seventeen Democrats joined tonight with 37 Republicans in favor of the bill. Only two Republicans, Langer, of North Dakota, and Morse, of Oregon, were in the "nay" list with 15 Democrats.

Barkley Speaks

Just before the final vote, Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) told the senate that while he could not support the bill, "I am not speaking for the President." He added:

"I don't know what his attitude will be. I do know he will have the bill carefully analyzed and then act as his conscience dictates, regardless of the consequences, political or otherwise, to him."

The bill goes far beyond the labor legislation program recommended by Mr. Truman in his state of the union message to Congress last January.

Bitterly opposed by labor union leaders, but described by its sponsors as an incentive to production and a balancing wheel for labor-management relations, the bill:

1. Permits the government to get 80-day court injunctions against "national paralysis" strikes, such as a railroad or coal mine tieup.

2. Outlaws the closed shop, in which only union members may be hired.

3. Permits the union shop only when a majority of workers vote for it. In the union shop, non-union workers may be hired but they must join the union shortly.

4. Outlaws union-controlled health and welfare funds established since January 1, 1946.

5. Makes unions liable for unfair labor practices and subject to suit for violation of contract.

Bans Jurisdictional Strikes

6. Outlaws jurisdictional strikes (usually called in inter-union disputes) and secondary boycotts, in which a union strikes at another employer by refusing to handle his products for its employer.

Sens. Murray (D-Mont.) and Pepper (D-Fla.) kept the opposition fight rolling up to the bitter end.

Tornado Inflicts Heavy Damage On Colo. Town

JULESBURG, Colo., June 6—(AP)—Heavy damage was inflicted on this Northeastern Colorado community today by a tornado which struck at 2:05 p. m. (MST) today. No fatalities were reported.

W. B. Reed, telephone company manager, said about half the buildings in the business district and some residences were damaged.

Reed said several persons suffered cuts from flying glass but there were no immediate reports of serious injuries. Reed himself and his chief operator, Inico Imherr, were cut when windows at the exchange were blown in.

Twister Razes Homes

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., June 6—(AP)—A small tornado struck a subdivision of new homes on the southwest side of Champaign at 4:30 p. m. (CDT) today, demolishing eight houses and damaging at least 25 others, but there were no fatalities or injuries.

Loneliness Lifted

2,500 Cheer "Kiss Her" As Farmer Meets Woman He Won Through Mail

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., June 6 (AP)—A farmer took a wife today—a bride he won through the United States mails—and a crowd of 2,500 cheered "kiss her" when they met.

A thronged railroad station was journey's end for Betsy Riley, of Knoxville, Tenn., widowed mother of a nine-year-old boy, and Warren E. Bounds, 31, whose love letters lifted the loneliness from two hearts.

Struggling a car's length through the grinning mob, Bounds obeyed the cheered order again and again as soon as Betsy was in his arms.

When his lips were free he said: "I've waited 15 years for a moment like this."

Betsy, in a blue frock and a little hat with lace, captured the crowd with a soft drawl when she said: "I think it's going to work out all right."

Fifty-one minutes after her train came in Betsy became Mrs. Bounds in the office of City Clerk Albert L. Fuller.

She carried the white carnations that her bridegroom brought her and the red roses which were presented her at the station by John Scarpitto, of the Lions Club.

Nine-year-old Billy was remembered, too, and he was busy stuffing his pockets with the candy bars the crowd showered on him.

Bounds said he first heard of Betsy five months ago when she answered a letter he wrote to a lonely hearts club in Tennessee.

There were about 29 letters between them, he said, and then came the magic love note in which "Betsy wrote me she was willing."

Speaks Tonight

Truman Flies To Missouri For His Most Joyous Homecoming In Months

KANSAS CITY, June 6 (AP) — President Truman flew from Washington to Jackson County today for his most joyous homecoming in many months.

He found his mother happy and feeling much better after a grave illness. His old war comrades extended welcome arms and noisy acclaim.

Mr. Truman speaks tomorrow night at 10 o'clock (EST) to the Thirty-Fifth Division reunion. Today the ex-soldiers roared their applause when he arrived with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to greet this morning's business session with a simple "I'm glad to be here."

From this welcome he drove to his mother's cottage in rural Grandview, after a brief lunch at his hotel suite.

There he found 94-year-old Mrs. Martha E. Truman smiling her own welcome "quite avid and alert," to quote Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, the President's physician.

The chief executive, who spent nearly two weeks at his mother's bedside recently, carried a box of fresh flowers.

Returning an hour later to Kansas City with his sister, Miss Mary Jane Truman, he told reporters as he entered the hotel:

"Mother's getting along all right. I found her in good shape. She's better than when I left here."

Moving Downstream As Thousands Flee

DES MOINES, June 6 (AP)—The flood crest of the swollen Des Moines River, reached Tracy, Ia., this afternoon after breaking a 44-year-old record, and the Weather Bureau said tonight the crest would move steadily downstream.

The peak reading of 25.85 feet at Tracy, 40 miles southeast of Des Moines, was recorded after several thousand residents of three communities fled to higher ground. The reading was eight-tenths of a foot higher than the estimated record set in 1903.

The Weather Bureau here said the crest would reach Eddyville, 15 miles downstream from Tracy, sometime tonight with a stage of 26 feet. The crest at Ottumwa, 20 miles from Eddyville, was due late tomorrow with a stage of 19 to 19.5 feet. The record stage at Ottumwa was 19.4 feet in 1903.

The 1,000 residents of Eddyville, Ia., abandoned their homes when a railroad dike broke. All of the residents of the small community of Red Rock left their homes, several families being evacuated by boat.

In Ottumwa, an industrial city of over 30,000, more than 1,500 persons were being removed from low areas.

Army engineers at Rock Island, Ill., said they were sending rescue boats, men and sandbags into the flooded area in response to requests from Ottumwa. The Red Cross sent eight rescue workers into the state to co-ordinate assistance work and aid their local representatives.

High water marks of as long age as 1903 were threatened as the Des Moines River spread out over farm lands, washed out railroad track and flooded highways. The Weather Bureau forecast "locally heavy rains tonight and tomorrow in the flooded Des Moines River valley.

Two Non-Striking Ford Foremen Are Beaten

DETROIT, June 6 (AP) — Two non-striking foremen were beaten today and four other men arrested on the 17th day of a strike by 3,800 foremen against the Ford Motor Company.

Treated for cuts and bruises were Anthony Vella, 43, and Ford Paddock, 32, both foremen in the production foundry of the River Rouge plant. The company said neither was seriously hurt.

Arrested in connection with the incidents were Charles Martin, 40; Orlie Kuntzman, 41; Henry Brox, 34, and Frank Wojciechowski, 38. Police, who released the four on $500 personal bonds, said they would be arraigned tomorrow on charges of assault and battery.

State Education Program Is Discussed By Lane

TOWSON, Md., June 6—(AP)—The state administration's new education program is "directed toward improving the lot of teachers personally and professionally," Gov. Lane told the Towson State Teachers College graduation class tonight.

In discussing the plan, Lane said it was reported that the state teacher colleges had enrolled more freshmen recently than at any time during the past 10 or 15 years.

The governor outlined the state aid to schools program which was embodied in legislation by the 1947 General Assembly.

Gen. Gerhardt Receives New Army Assignment

BALTIMORE, June 6. (AP)—Gen. Charles Hunter Gerhardt, wartime commander of thousands of Maryland troops, has been assigned intelligence officer at Second Army headquarters here, the Army reported today.

The officer is now on leave from his postwar assignment with the United States military mission to Brazil. He is expected to report here shortly.

Gen. Gerhardt, a combat veteran of both world wars, assumed command of the 29th Division in July, 1943, while it was preparing for the invasion of Europe.

man's signature or without it, will be known as the Taft-Hartley Act after its sponsors—Sen. Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, and Rep. Fred Hartley, New Jersey Republican heading the House Labor Committee.

The provision of the bill authorizing 80-day injunctions against strikes imperilling national health and safety would go into effect immediately with enactment of the measure.

Senators and representatives who drew up the compromise reasoned this might block a possible soft coal strike July 1.

As soon as the Senate voted, William Green, president of the AFL, issued a statement saying that the Senate action "places the decision in the President's hands as to whether industrial democracy shall survive in America."

O'Conor Voted For Bill

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP) — Here's how Maryland and West Virginia senators voted when the Senate today adopted the conference report on the general labor bill, sending the measure to the White House:

Republican for the report—Revercomb, of West Virginia.

Democrat for—O'Conor, of Maryland.

Democrat against — Kilgore, of West Virginia.

Tydings (D-Md.) was paired for the report.

Nine More Letter Bombs Are Found

LONDON, June 6 (AP) — Postal workers intercepted today nine more deadly letter bombs reportedly addressed to Prime Minister Attlee, Winston Churchill and other present and former ministers of the British Cabinet.

A new bag of mail brought to 20 the number of explosive letters received here from Turin in Northern Italy in a "murder-by-mail" campaign which the Stern Gang, Jewish underground group, proclaimed as its project.

The London Press named Attlee and Churchill as among the targets for the nine intercepted bombs, and said others including Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morrison, Fuel Minister Emanuel Shinwell, Home Secretary Chuter Ede, who has general charge of Scotland Yard, and Health Minister Aneurin Bevan.

The letters were similar to those delivered earlier in the week addressed to Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, Anthony Eden, and nine other top-rank political leaders.

Pere Marquette Railway Is Merged Into C. And O.

CLEVELAND, June 6 (AP) — Pere Marquette Railway was merged into the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company today, creating what officials described as the seventh largest railroad in the nation in point of operating revenues.

C. and O. has controlled Pere Marquette since 1929 through ownership of a majority of its common stock, and in recent years joint officers have served the two lines.

Although the new line will retain the name of the parent organization, the name Pere Marquette will be perpetuated in the twin streamlined passenger trains operating between Grand Rapids and Detroit, President Robert J. Bowman said.

Stolen Truck Attracts 14 Pursuing Police Cars

BALTIMORE, June 6. (AP)—Six youths in a stolen truck attracted 14 pursuing police cars and transformed Baltimore into something like the Indianapolis Speedway today, but the finish line was the City Hall.

Police reported a wild, 75-mile-an-hour chase began when Patrolman Anthony Monczewski, in a squad car, drove up to the truck to investigate. That was in Fairfield, an outlying section of the city.

The frightened sextet, police said, then drove off, and after awhile of high speed and hairbreath turns, Monszewski radioed for reenforcements.

The truck was finally halted and its occupants—all negros — surrounded in a northern residential area of the city.

Moving Downstream As Thousands Flee

DES MOINES, June 6 (AP)—The flood crest of the swollen Des Moines River, reached Tracy, Ia., this afternoon after breaking a 44-year-old record, and the Weather Bureau said tonight the crest would move steadily downstream.

The peak reading of 25.85 feet at Tracy, 40 miles southeast of Des Moines, was recorded after several thousand residents of three communities fled to higher ground. The reading was eight-tenths of a foot higher than the estimated record set in 1903.

The Weather Bureau here said the crest would reach Eddyville, 15 miles downstream from Tracy, sometime tonight with a stage of 26 feet. The crest at Ottumwa, 20 miles from Eddyville, was due late tomorrow with a stage of 19 to 19.5 feet. The record stage at Ottumwa was 19.4 feet in 1903.

The 1,000 residents of Eddyville, Ia., abandoned their homes when a railroad dike broke. All of the residents of the small community of Red Rock left their homes, several families being evacuated by boat.

In Ottumwa, an industrial city of over 30,000, more than 1,500 persons were being removed from low areas.

Army engineers at Rock Island, Ill., said they were sending rescue boats, men and sandbags into the flooded area in response to requests from Ottumwa. The Red Cross sent eight rescue workers into the state to co-ordinate assistance work and aid their local representatives.

High water marks of as long age as 1903 were threatened as the Des Moines River spread out over farm lands, washed out railroad track and flooded highways. The Weather Bureau forecast "locally heavy rains tonight and tomorrow in the flooded Des Moines River valley.

Two Non-Striking Ford Foremen Are Beaten

DETROIT, June 6 (AP) — Two non-striking foremen were beaten today and four other men arrested on the 17th day of a strike by 3,800 foremen against the Ford Motor Company.

Treated for cuts and bruises were Anthony Vella, 43, and Ford Paddock, 32, both foremen in the production foundry of the River Rouge plant. The company said neither was seriously hurt.

Arrested in connection with the incidents were Charles Martin, 40; Orlie Kuntzman, 41; Henry Brox, 34, and Frank Wojciechowski, 38. Police, who released the four on $500 personal bonds, said they would be arraigned tomorrow on charges of assault and battery.

State Education Program Is Discussed By Lane

TOWSON, Md., June 6—(AP)—The state administration's new education program is "directed toward improving the lot of teachers personally and professionally," Gov. Lane told the Towson State Teachers College graduation class tonight.

In discussing the plan, Lane said it was reported that the state teacher colleges had enrolled more freshmen recently than at any time during the past 10 or 15 years.

The governor outlined the state aid to schools program which was embodied in legislation by the 1947 General Assembly.

Gen. Gerhardt Receives New Army Assignment

BALTIMORE, June 6. (AP)—Gen. Charles Hunter Gerhardt, wartime commander of thousands of Maryland troops, has been assigned intelligence officer at Second Army headquarters here, the Army reported today.

The officer is now on leave from his postwar assignment with the United States military mission to Brazil. He is expected to report here shortly.

Gen. Gerhardt, a combat veteran of both world wars, assumed command of the 29th Division in July, 1943, while it was preparing for the invasion of Europe.

man's signature or without it, will be known as the Taft-Hartley Act after its sponsors—Sen. Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, and Rep. Fred Hartley, New Jersey Republican heading the House Labor Committee.

The provision of the bill authorizing 80-day injunctions against strikes imperilling national health and safety would go into effect immediately with enactment of the measure.

Senators and representatives who drew up the compromise reasoned this might block a possible soft coal strike July 1.

As soon as the Senate voted, William Green, president of the AFL, issued a statement saying that the Senate action "places the decision in the President's hands as to whether industrial democracy shall survive in America."

O'Conor Voted For Bill

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP) — Here's how Maryland and West Virginia senators voted when the Senate today adopted the conference report on the general labor bill, sending the measure to the White House:

Republican for the report—Revercomb, of West Virginia.

Democrat for—O'Conor, of Maryland.

Democrat against — Kilgore, of West Virginia.

Tydings (D-Md.) was paired for the report.

At this point Rep. Rizley (R-Okla) called for a quorum. But Republican Leader Halleck (Ind) chose adjournment instead.

Nine More Letter Bombs Are Found

LONDON, June 6 (AP) — Postal workers intercepted today nine more deadly letter bombs reportedly addressed to Prime Minister Attlee, Winston Churchill and other present and former ministers of the British Cabinet.

A new bag of mail brought to 20 the number of explosive letters received here from Turin in Northern Italy in a "murder-by-mail" campaign which the Stern Gang, Jewish underground group, proclaimed as its project.

The London Press named Attlee and Churchill as among the targets for the nine intercepted bombs, and said others including Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morrison, Fuel Minister Emanuel Shinwell, Home Secretary Chuter Ede, who has general charge of Scotland Yard, and Health Minister Aneurin Bevan.

The letters were similar to those delivered earlier in the week addressed to Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, Anthony Eden, and nine other top-rank political leaders.

Pere Marquette Railway Is Merged Into C. And O.

CLEVELAND, June 6 (AP) — Pere Marquette Railway was merged into the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company today, creating what officials described as the seventh largest railroad in the nation in point of operating revenues.

C. and O. has controlled Pere Marquette since 1929 through ownership of a majority of its common stock, and in recent years joint officers have served the two lines.

Although the new line will retain the name of the parent organization, the name Pere Marquette will be perpetuated in the twin streamlined passenger trains operating between Grand Rapids and Detroit, President Robert J. Bowman said.

Stolen Truck Attracts 14 Pursuing Police Cars

BALTIMORE, June 6. (AP)—Six youths in a stolen truck attracted 14 pursuing police cars and transformed Baltimore into something like the Indianapolis Speedway today, but the finish line was the City Hall.

Police reported a wild, 75-mile-an-hour chase began when Patrolman Anthony Monczewski, in a squad car, drove up to the truck to investigate. That was in Fairfield, an outlying section of the city.

The frightened sextet, police said, then drove off, and after awhile of high speed and hairbreath turns, Monszewski radioed for reenforcements.

The truck was finally halted and its occupants—all negros — surrounded in a northern residential area of the city.

Spottiness Develops In Business Picture

One of the disconcerting factors in the business picture is the spottiness that has been developing. Even six or eight months ago almost anything would find an immediate and profitable market. The backlog for manufactured articles of all kinds still seemed virtually inexhaustible. That is no longer true.

Small, private aircraft are an especially outstanding example of the change. Following the war, a long list of manufacturers rushed into production. Some optimists seemed to think that the personal plane would become nearly as abundant as the automobile. What actually happened was that the market became saturated in a remarkably short time. Where, less than a year ago, new small planes sold at premiums, overstocked dealers are now offering them at a discount. At least one maker has abandoned production of a once heavily advertised model. Used plane prices —due in large part to the sale of surplus government ships—have sagged. The usual reason given for the public's reluctance to buy planes is the high operating cost, which is far beyond the means of the average family.

Many other commodities are in the same boat. Small radios, for instance, are a glut on the market. Prices have been slashed. And where, in the recent past, it was next to impossible to find a standard-brand radio-phonograph combination, you can now take your pick of scores of models and styles in all price brackets. And many a buyer is showing an unanticipated reluctance to invest in expensive equipment.

This condition is not entirely restricted to luxury and semi-luxury lines. Dry goods have run into consumer resistance. Sheets and other linens, once among the scarcest of items, have tended to move slowly. Stores report that women in increasing numbers are turning thumbs down on the higher-priced dresses and coats. There has been a slackening in the "soft-goods" field. And that, in turn, means reduced employment and worker income. As retail and wholesale inventories build up, orders to manufacturers go down.

This is not universal by any means. The automobile makers, according to Business Week, "haven't even made a dent in their market as yet." Recently car output took a drop, due to a lack of flat steel. But it is being increased as rapidly as the producers can get the necessary materials. All car dealers seem to have sufficient orders on their books to last for the rest of this year, and perhaps well into next. Even so, the dealers—as well as the makers—are seriously concerned over what will happen when the backlog is used up and they have to really start selling once more. Thousands of people have reluctantly abandoned plans for buying new cars—because of the price tags.

Probably the greatest decline, so far as dollar-volume and jobs are concerned, has occurred in residential building. It has slowed everywhere, and in some sections has come to a virtual standstill. It is holding up best in rural areas, where cost of building is somewhat lower than in the metropolitan districts. It is at its worst in suburbs of cities, where extremely ambitious plans for home developments have not matured. The need for homes is as high and perhaps higher than ever—but prices, which buyers consider out of all reason, stop sales.

Industrial building has done much better. Many companies have had to expand to meet their commitments and to maintain their competitive positions, but a number of important businesses have announced that expansion plans have been curtailed, or have been postponed in the hope that costs will come down.

All in all, production is still at a high level. But the dark spots in the picture are becoming more numerous. The government economists are frankly worried. Unemployment has not reached a serious level yet, but it has been increasing. A drop in the amount of overtime work available has hit many working families hard. This is having its obvious effect on purchasing and on industrial production. Millions of people living on fixed or semi-fixed incomes find that the bare necessities of living absorb all they receive. No one has found the solution to such problems as these.

Putting Noise To Work

Science is truly wonderful. The Naval Research Laboratory in Washington has come up with a way to disperse fog over airports and, of all things, mow grass—with a whistle. The scheme is still in its infancy, and may not prove to be entirely practical, but it has worked in tests.

It consists of sending out powerful vibration waves through the air at a frequency at the edge of audible sound. In the case of fog, the waves agitate the vapor until it coagulates into raindrops and falls to the ground. In the case of grass, the waves agitate the stems so violently that they break off. This is what is meant by a sharp noise.

The chief bugs in the idea are the tremendous cost of the device for projecting the air waves and the tremendous shriek they make when projected. Fog, tall grass and an assortment of nuisances might be preferable to being deafened by a machine to eradicate them.

There may be some doubt about a gadget to cut fog off at the roots, but many a man of the house would be much obliged for an invention which would let grass grow to a height of three inches and then break off of its own accord.

Moving To Town

It is no longer a mystery why city streets and sidewalks appear more crowded than they did before the war. The United States Census Bureau says people have been moving from the country to the city. Civilian population living in urban areas, 56.7 per cent of the total in April, 1940, increased to 60 per cent in July, 1946.

One interesting fact divulged is that between 1940 and 1945, migration to urban regions was sufficient to maintain the urban population at approximately the 1940 level in spite of the expansion of the armed forces. But it is noteworthy that since the war the majority of country real estate buyers are coming from large population centers in the East and Midwest.

Thus while the cities are growing rapidly at the expense of the rural-farm areas, there is always present a large number of urban dwellers who favor living on farms or at least prefer living in the country.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

SKIN DISTURBANCES DUE TO POOR CIRCULATION

THE CAPILLARIES are so numerous that when the flow of blood to a certain section of the skin is altered, the color changes. A typical example is blushing in which the passageways dilate, bringing more than the usual amount of vital fluid to the surface.

Sometimes these tiny vessels are changed in such a way that the shade of the epidermis is unattractive. In livido-reticularis, a bluish-red mottling appears on the legs and feet. Pain is rarely associated with the abnormality. It occurs in mild form in young ladies who go out in raw weather without adequate protection. On returning home the blotching which is observed disappears after becoming thoroughly warmed.

In others, the lesions are more persistent. They are accentuated by chilling and never quite fade even when the extremities are warm. This stage of the affliction is seldom uncomfortable and may be discovered accidently by an observing friend. In a few, the extremities feel congested, numb, tingling, or sore. Now and then ulcers form over areas where the discoloration is marked.

No one knows the cause. The capillaries are narrowed in some spots and dilated in others. The nervous system probably plays a role as many victims are jittery or have high blood pressure. Once in a while the glands are implicated. If the blemishes are unsightly they can be camouflaged with cosmetics. Occasionally the nerves leading to the structures must be severed, a procedure that is not entirely satisfactory. It does not cure but makes the condition less noticeable.

Acrocyanosis is another disorder of this type. The hands and feet are cold and exhibit a dark red hue. In addition, perspiration may be profuse. Here, too, inclement weather causes the symptoms to become more severe, inducing puffiness, tenderness, and numbness. During the summer time, the frigid sensation vanishes but the color persists.

The excess perspiration may prove to be a handicap in business, especially in shaking hands. The paper on which the individual is writing becomes wet as well as the silverware while eating. In some instances the secretion is so abundant that it drips from the hands constantly. Women are the usual sufferers and a glandular imbalance is generally responsible. The nervous system is likewise involved and as in livido-recticularis, the victim is likely to be high-strung and tense.

There are many other disturbances along this line which are of little consequence and in no way impair health. The quantity of blood going through the parts is the determining factor; thus the palms of the hands of one person may be slightly warmer or colder than another. The color also varies. Since the caliber of the capillaries is dependent upon the nervous and glandular systems, their size may similarly serve as an index of the efficiency of these structures.

Not exactly, as rheumatic fever is one form of the rheumatic state. "Rheumatism" is a general term used by the public to denote various muscular and joint pains.

A CALLOUSED SOLE

P. M. D. writes: What is the cause of a callus on the ball of one foot?

REPLY

In many instances this occurs when the arch in this area (transverse) gives way as a result of faulty posture, poor walking habits, or improper shoes. The arch may also become weakened after illness which has confined the patient to bed for some time. Exercises and padding the shoes often alleviate the condition.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

In a recent Supreme Court ruling, a Hawaiian couple were awarded an island they bought 25 years ago, but which was taken over by the navy during the war. The island now contains a million dollar air base. I can visualize the wife telling her husband to go claim their little island: "After all, dear, we're human. It's about time we heard the patter of little motors. And we've always wanted our own little hangar."

Every morning the wife will go downstairs, pick up the milk, and sweep off the runway. And just picture that wonderful family scene with everyone gathered around the breakfast table adjusting their safety belts. And when hubby leaves for work, she'll probably spend all day leaning over the back fence gossiping with the pilots. Or else she'll always be running up to the neighbors trying to borrow a cup of gasoline.

The woman on the next island will probably always be complaining. "Oh, I wish she'd leave me alone—always using my jet plane so she can get to the market. Why doesn't her husband leave the C-54 with her once in a while?" Of course at 3 in the afternoon if you look up in the sky, you'll see three little parachutes. They'll be the kids dropping home from school.

And at night, the husband will turn to his wife and say: "How'd you like to go to the movies tonight? There's a great double feature at the Bijou in Newfoundland."

Owning an air base might be fun for that couple, but it doesn't appeal to me. It would be awful waking up every morning hearing a terrific roar and then finding out it's not applause.

TWIXT THE DEVIL AND THE DEEP BLUE SEA

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Various Democrats have accused Harry Truman of deserting Franklin Roosevelt, but the nearest real break came two days ago when the entire Truman Administration almost walked out on the grand old lady of the Democratic party, Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt.

Despite the fact that Mrs. Roosevelt was the honored speaker at the Jefferson Day dinner in Los Angeles, and despite the fact that the dinner was being arranged by James Roosevelt, eldest son of the late President, the White House for a time ordered a complete boycott.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, scheduled to speak alongside Mrs. Roosevelt, canceled. And Democratic Executive Director Gael Sullivan was ordered to cancel. In the end, Sullivan persuaded President Truman to reverse the boycott at least to the extent of letting him speak alongside Mrs. Roosevelt. Ungallant Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, however, never did get off his high horse. He remained in a huff in Washington counting his tax-money.

Basic reason for the hushed-up dinner-party fracas was Henry Wallace and the Truman Doctrine.

When Wallace spoke in Los Angeles recently, the local Democratic committee, under pressure from ex-Attorney General Bob Kenny, county chairman Rollin McNitt, and Jimmy Roosevelt, finally voted to welcome Wallace.

Wallace, attracting the largest Democratic political crowd since the days of FDR, assailed the Truman Doctrine, was roundly cheered by local Democrats. When word of the Wallace triumph filtered back to Washington, Secretary Snyder rushed over to the White House, told Truman he was going to pull out of the Los Angeles Jefferson Day dinner, Snyder, long one of the closest men to Truman, also sold him on the idea of "disciplining" Los Angeles Democrats.

Accordingly Truman went to the extreme length of ordering executive director Gael Sullivan to withdraw from the party campaign dinner, leaving Mrs. Roosevelt sitting high-and-dry on the Los Angeles platform all by her self.

Informed of this simultaneously, Sullivan, an adroit hand at healing party breaches, warned the White House that in democracy, there must be room for people with all sorts of opinions. A purge, he warned, was bad business. Truman was readily convinced, but not Mr. Snyder. He wouldn't budge.

Note—In order to hush up the hot intra-party feud, the White House whipped up the lame excuse that an urgent Cabinet meeting would keep Secretary Snyder in Washington.

Merry-Go-Round

Democratic anti-Wallacites recently started rumors that Wallace was "anti-Catholic" because he opposed war with Russia. When these rumors got back to Henry, he replied, "I campaigned for Al Smith when Harry Truman was supposed to have been a member of the Ku Klux Klan." . . . Men's clothing is slated for another 5 per cent price jump in the fall because of higher textile prices. . . . Jouett Shouse, former Democratic National Committee Chairman, sometimes described as having "the finest 1923 mind in Washington," has now become one of President Truman's unofficial advisers. Shouse never could get near the White House in Roosevelt's day. . . . Harold Stassen has turned down more than 4,000 speaking invitations in the last two months. But he's filling a thousand—about twice as many as any other politico could handle. . . . Assistant Secretary of State Bill Benton has set at least one diplomatic record. He has only attended four diplomatic dinners and three cocktail parties during two years in Washington. . . . Steel industry officials say they've shipped more barbed wire to Brazil this year than they did to Europe during the war.

The Bilbos Of Michigan

Two Senators from Michigan are employing unusual tactics in blocking democratic procedure and the course of good government. They are Arthur Vandenberg and Homer Ferguson, both Republicans, who for five long months have been sitting on two important appointments, refusing to let the Senate take a vote on confirmation.

Senator Ferguson, Chairman of a Judiciary Subcommittee, has been blocking a vote on Phillip Perlman of Baltimore as Solicitor General of the United States. And Senator Vandenberg, Chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, has been blocking a vote on Francis Biddle as U. S. Delegate to the United Nations Social and Economic Committee.

Both Michiganders have been sitting on these appointments since January. January to June is a long time to hold up important appointments. It so happens that the Solicitor General's in the 2nd top legal post in the U. S. Government. His job is to argue all cases before the Supreme Court. However, despite an extremely busy Court calendar, Senator Ferguson did not even hold hearings on Perlman until May 14. In other words he waited from January until May without even giving the friends or enemies of Perlman a chance to be heard. No government can operate efficiently under such delay.

Senator Vandenberg was equally slow. Though Francis Biddle is a former member of the Cabinet, served as U. S. judge to try the Nazi war criminals at Nuremburg, and is a former judge on the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, Vandenberg simply sat on his nomination. Finally, in May, he held one brief hearing, but since then has not permitted either the full Senate Foreign Relations Committee or the Senate itself to vote on Bidde.

Some of Vandenberg's own GOP colleagues, including Senator Capper of Kansas, have complained about his sit-tight tactics, pointing out that the democratic system is supposed to give the Senate the privilege of voting yes or no. Likewise, leading Republicans in Maryland are irked at the way their fellow-Republican, Senator Ferguson, has been blocking a vote on Perlman.

But the two Michigan Senators continue to sit tight. Though both have good records in other Senatorial fields, both apparently have forgotten that the U. S. Congressional system is based on the right to vote, not the Bilbo system of withholding votes.

Note—In Democratic cloakrooms the two Michiganders (both voted against seating Senator Bilbo) are being called the "Bilbos of Michigan."

Under The Dome

Attendance in the Senate is getting so bad that during part of the housing-rent control debate this week scrappy Glen Taylor of Idaho was the only Democrat on the floor. . . Big difficulty in bringing Senators to the Senate floor is the feeling that votes are seldom won or lost by debate. Hardly a Senator will disagree that Florida's Claude Pepper is probably the Senate's most persuasive speaker on foreign affairs—but relatively few will vote with him. . . Likewise, most Republicans agree that when angered, Senator Bob Taft is apt to put his foot in his mouth. But even though Taft is bested in debate, they vote with him. . . Maine's 70-year-old Senator Wallace White, nominal GOP floor leader, might have decided against running for re-election anyhow. But GOP colleagues agree that rude treatment he has received from Taft hastened White's decision. White has rarely looked so forlorn as last Tuesday when he tried to recess the Senate at 4 p. m.—something almost invariably done at the suggestion of a majority leader when there is no pressing reason to stay in session. But White was outvoted by his own party. It was kindly Democratic leader Alben Barkley who tried to cover up for White by demanding a quorum call at once.

High Food Prices Laid To Direct Government Action

By MARK SULLIVAN

President Truman at his press conference this week did a surprising thing. The newsmen facing him were hoping for, though not seriously expecting, light on the major subject of Washington interest, whether Mr. Truman will veto or sign the tax bill and the labor bill. Instead, Mr. Truman began by reading, with emphasis and some feeling, a comprehensive statement dealing with prices and his campaign to reduce them.

One gathered that Mr. Truman had not seized this subject out of the air. The occasion for his statement was a previous statement that had been made by Republican Senator Taft. This Mr. Truman quoted, "Senator Taft is reported to have said that 'apparently the President and the Administration are abandoning talk of keeping prices down in favor of heavy spending abroad that will keep them up.'"

Quoting the Taft statement, Mr. Truman first stated, carefully and earnestly, the purpose of the spending abroad, such as the grant to Greece and Turkey. "This policy Mr. Truman defended earnestly: "To say that we should abandon our efforts directed toward enduring world peace and freedom beproblems is like saying that we cause these efforts create economic should have abandoned our war effort because it created economic problems." Admitting that the purchase of farm products and other goods to send them abroad has a tendency to keep prices up. Mr. Truman pointed out that this is only an incidental effect, and said it is an additional reason why we should maintain our effort to keep prices down.

From this Mr. Truman went into the whole subject of prices, our recent experience with them, the economic philosophy of them. Accusingly, and perhaps laying himself open to retort, Mr. Truman made a charge, "Senator Taft's economic philosophy follows the old idea of boom and bust." For himself, Mr. Truman said aggressively, or rather perhaps defensively, "My interest in voluntary price reductions is undiminished; they are as important now as before—if not more important."

If Mr. Truman seems sensitive and on the defensive about prices and his campaign to reduce them, there is a reason. In the whole field of prices, the ones that are highest, relative to other goods and to the past, are farm products, food. And these prices are kept up by direct actions and policies of the government—policies and steps having the avowed specific purpose of keeping prices up. So long as this practice is followed about prices of farm products, Mr. Truman's exhortations for lower prices of goods generally cannot escape seeming hollow. And so long as prices of food are kept up by government, it must be difficult or impossible to reduce prices of manufactured goods. For high prices of food create high cost of living, high cost of living leads to demands for higher wages, and higher wages cause goods to cost more to make than they otherwise would. Mr. Truman can hardly keep prices down when the government, by official actions, keeps prices of food up.

The awkwardness of Mr. Truman's position will be illustrated glaringly by an event scheduled for next Monday. There is to be held, at the Department of Agriculture in Washington, upon invitations issued by President Truman, a "National Conference on Farm Land inflation. The puprpose is to check rising prices of farm land, as distinguished from farm products. The 41 persons invited include bankers and insurance company directors (as well as heads of farm organizations.) Presumably these will hear appeals for restraint upon the lending of money on farm mortgages, warnings against purchase of farms at high prices, preachments about the danger of inflation inherent in the rising prices of farms.

All that will be worthy and useful. But if someone among the 41 invited to the conference is outspoken, he should be able to turn the conference into a discussion of cause. The price of farm land is determined mainly by the prices of produce raised on the land. The outspoken one could ask: "How can we or anyone, by voluntary action, keep the prices of farms from going up—when the government by official actions and policies keeps the prices of farm products up?"

That conference next week, could be enlightening and useful, if it should reveal to the public how the government keeps up the prices of farm products. Not merely the recently conspicuous case of potatoes, which the government keeps up by buying off the market millions of busheds, some of which last year were destroyed and that is being done again this year. By many processes used at various times, the government has mechanism for keeping up the prices of nearly all farm products.

Ineptitude Seen In Handling Foreign Affairs In Argentina

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The departure of Spruille Braden from the Department of State, where he held the post of assistant secretary in charge of Latin American relations, is a sad event. But so also was the departure of Nelson Rockefeller, his predecessor in the same job.

Both were conscientious officials who had definite ideas of how American policy could best be applied as between Argentina and the United States. But both were the victims also of an ineptitude in the handling of foreign policy which is costing America not only prestige but time and money in the stabilization of hemispheric affairs.

When Mr. Braden was ambassador to Argentina, he took the view that an American diplomatic representative could speak freely to the people of that country, and he did so at a time when they were having an election. The effect of his intervention was to intensify national pride, and Colonel Peron, the successful candidate, had no trouble in whipping up national enthusiasm as against foreign intervention in the internal affairs of his country.

Drifted Along

Despite this reversal, American foreign policy drifted along without recognition of the fundamental fact that whatever is done in Latin America must be done by collaboration of all the Inter-American countries.

In the face of the mistakes made by the United States in sanctioning the activities of Ambassador Braden in Argentina, the Truman Administration brought him to Washington and made him assistant secretary of state. This was a handicap, because it was soon discovered that the policy of the United States would have to be changed if any progress were to be made in cementing the relations between the United States and Argentina. Then, for several months, Mr. Braden was apparently put aside while Ambassador Messersmith, acting under a different set of instructions, went to Buenos Aires to bring the United States and Argentina closer together.

Ambassador Messersmith is a trained career diplomat and he is one of the most experienced and able representatives the United States Government has ever had in the foreign field. He set out to do a particular job—to bring Argentina and the United States together. He saw the practical and the realistic aspects of the situation and recommended action to the Department of State in Washington. In a short time, the department began to back him up wholeheartedly so that, while Mr. Braden by his continuance in office represented one type of policy in Washington, Mr. Messersmith represented quite another policy in Argentina.

It is assumed, of course, that somewhere in the top level of the Truman Administration a decision was made to work for a closer accord with Argentina and Mr. Messersmith was selected as the instrument of that policy.

But all this shifting back and forth would have been unnecessary and valuable time would have been saved if President Truman had realized just what was involved in the Latin-American problem at the time that he let Nelson Rockefeller, assistant secretary of state, resign.

Believed In Quiet Pressure

Mr. Rockefeller was as vehement as anybody else in the American Government against fascistic tendencies in Argentina but he believed that the way to progress was to bring about collaboration with other Latin-American countries and to exert quiet pressure upon the Argentine Government.

Mr. Rockefeller was appointed to his post by the late President Roosevelt, who had the utmost confidence in the ability of the assistant secretary to carry out a sound development of the "good neighbor" policy. Mr. Rockefeller, as head of the committee on Inter-American Development during the war, did a remarkable job in winning the friendship of the Latin-American countries to the war efforts of the Allies. All of the splendid work he did, however, was brushed aside when, shortly after President Truman took office, the Department of State listened to the "needling" arguments of left-wingers who insisted that the thing to do was to keep up a constant furore with Argentina and even to break off relations with that country. The effect of the left-wing tactics was to widen the breach with Argentina. The attack on Mr. Rockefeller's policies was made notwithstanding the knowledge that Mr. Roosevelt had originally approved and sanctioned the course which had been taken.

It was in San Francisco that Assistant Secretary Rockefeller made his fight for the admission of Argentina into the United Nations. He was supported there by the entire U. S. delegation, including Senator Vandenberg of Michigan. The left-wingers, who thought this was a recognition of "Fascism" or that in some way the United States was deviating from its policy, centered their attack on Mr. Rockefeller and tried to blame him for it. But the assistant secretary said nothing in public about it and just did his job in accordance with the outline given him by the late President Roosevelt. The theory of Mr. Roosevelt was that it was better to have Argentina as a member of the United Nations, with the hope that later on fascistic influences could be eradicated, than it was to make a permanent foe of the Argentine people, who would resent such a discrimination. This policy has now been vindicated.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Steadfastness of Purpose

We are all dissectors of the truth. Yet truth doesn't need it at all. It's the pure article. And so we are born into the world to discover for ourselves that which appears to be the truth, our task being to learn, modify our opinions, and to keep seeking for a higher and more honest interpretation, until we arrive at a satisfactory conclusion.

It took a long time before the world accepted such truths as that the world was a globe, or to accept the findings of such men as Harvey, Pasteur, and an endless number of others, whose vision and purpose finally put light into their findings that no man could dispute. Courage, patience, doggedness, yes—but most of all steadfastness of purpose, that wore out the sceptics, is what has always marked the way to the final demonstration of truth.

"New occasions teach new duties," wrote the poet, but every day proves how valuable are the interchange of ideas, openness of mind to better methods, and an acceptance of discoveries that open still further the paths to more understandable truths, whether in science, medicine, or human relations.

Each step that we take in life is either a step forward or backward. Only through steadfastness of purpose do men go forward, finally coming to a realization of their ideals and definite aims. Concentration and thoroughness, looking neither to the left nor to the right, but with an ever increasing purpose, is the pathway to success—and happiness as well.

There are no boundaries to a worthy ambition. Consider how many of our great men and women have come from small towns, from farms, and even from the dire poverty of early years. It was the steadfastness of purpose that gave to us Abraham Lincoln. And history illustrates for us an endless number of such examples that have given lustre to its pages.

When a man is hungry, and no other means are available to appease this condition, he will work that he may earn his bread, and thereby become bodily satisfied. From the Sermon on the Mount you will read this: "Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness." Only as we hunger in our mind and heart can we gain our objective, but steadfastness of purpose is the unfailing cue to guide us to that end.

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree divorcing the plaintiff A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the defendant.

The bill of complaint states that the plaintiff is a resident of Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, and that she and the defendant were married on the 8th day of July, 1945, and lived together as husband and wife until the 8th day of July, 1945, on which date the defendant deserted and abandoned the said plaintiff without just cause or reason, and has declared his intention to live with her no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for at least eighteen months and is deliberate and final and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation. The bill further states that one infant child was born of said marriage, viz: Gary David Adams, and prays that the court grant the custody and guardianship of said infant child to the plaintiff.

It is thereupon this 6th day of June, 1947, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, ordered that the plaintiff cause a copy of this order, with the object and substance of the bill of complaint, to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, once a week for four successive weeks before the 8th day of July, 1947, giving notice to the said non-resident defendant to appear in this court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 24th day of July, 1947, to show cause, if any there be, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

One of the disconcerting factors in the business picture is the spottiness that has been developing. Even six or eight months ago almost anything would find an immediate and profitable market. The backlog for manufactured articles of all kinds still seemed virtually inexhaustible. That is no longer true.

Small, private aircraft are an especially outstanding example of the change. Following the war, a long list of manufacturers rushed into production. Some optimists seemed to think that the personal plane would become nearly as abundant as the automobile. What actually happened was that the market became saturated in a remarkably short time. Where, less than a year ago, new small planes sold at premiums, overstocked dealers are now offering them at a discount. At least one maker has abandoned production of a once heavily advertised model. Used plane prices —due in large part to the sale of surplus government ships—have sagged. The usual reason given for the public's reluctance to buy planes is the high operating cost, which is far beyond the means of the average family.

Many other commodities are in the same boat. Small radios, for instance, are a glut on the market. Prices have been slashed. And where, in the recent past, it was next to impossible to find a standard-brand radio-phonograph combination, you can now take your pick of scores of models and styles in all price brackets. And many a buyer is showing an unanticipated reluctance to invest in expensive equipment.

This condition is not entirely restricted to luxury and semi-luxury lines. Dry goods have run into consumer resistance. Sheets and other linens, once among the scarcest of items, have tended to move slowly. Stores report that women in increasing numbers are turning thumbs down on the higher-priced dresses and coats. There has been a slackening in the "soft-goods" field. And that, in turn, means reduced employment and worker income. As retail and wholesale inventories build up, orders to manufacturers go down.

This is not universal by any means. The automobile makers, according to Business Week, "haven't even made a dent in their market as yet." Recently car output took a drop, due to a lack of flat steel. But it is being increased as rapidly as the producers can get the necessary materials. All car dealers seem to have sufficient orders on their books to last for the rest of this year, and perhaps well into next. Even so, the dealers—as well as the makers—are seriously concerned over what will happen when the backlog is used up and they have to really start selling once more. Thousands of people have reluctantly abandoned plans for buying new cars—because of the price tags.

Probably the greatest decline, so far as dollar-volume and jobs are concerned, has occurred in residential building. It has slowed everywhere, and in some sections has come to a virtual standstill. It is holding up best in rural areas, where cost of building is somewhat lower than in the metropolitan districts. It is at its worst in suburbs of cities, where extremely ambitious plans for home developments have not matured. The need for homes is as high and perhaps higher than ever—but prices, which buyers consider out of all reason, stop sales.

Industrial building has done much better. Many companies have had to expand to meet their commitments and to maintain their competitive positions, but a number of important businesses have announced that expansion plans have been curtailed, or have been postponed in the hope that costs will come down.

All in all, production is still at a high level. But the dark spots in the picture are becoming more numerous. The government economists are frankly worried. Unemployment has not reached a serious level yet, but it has been increasing. A drop in the amount of overtime work available has hit many working families hard. This is having its obvious effect on purchasing and on industrial production. Millions of people living on fixed or semi-fixed incomes find that the bare necessities of living absorb all they receive. No one has found the solution to such problems as these.

Putting Noise To Work

Science is truly wonderful. The Naval Research Laboratory in Washington has come up with a way to disperse fog over airports and, of all things, mow grass—with a whistle. The scheme is still in its infancy, and may not prove to be entirely practical, but it has worked in tests.

It consists of sending out powerful vibration waves through the air at a frequency at the edge of audible sound. In the case of fog, the waves agitate the vapor until it coagulates into raindrops and falls to the ground. In the case of grass, the waves agitate the stems so violently that they break off. This is what is meant by a sharp noise.

The chief bugs in the idea are the tremendous cost of the device for projecting the air waves and the tremendous shriek they make when projected. Fog, tall grass and an assortment of nuisances might be preferable to being deafened by a machine to eradicate them.

There may be some doubt about a gadget to cut fog off at the roots, but many a man of the house would be much obliged for an invention which would let grass grow to a height of three inches and then break off of its own accord.

Moving To Town

It is no longer a mystery why city streets and sidewalks appear more crowded than they did before the war. The United States Census Bureau says people have been moving from the country to the city. Civilian population living in urban areas, 56.7 per cent of the total in April, 1940, increased to 60 per cent in July, 1946.

One interesting fact divulged is that between 1940 and 1945, migration to urban regions was sufficient to maintain the urban population at approximately the 1940 level in spite of the expansion of the armed forces. But it is noteworthy that since the war the majority of country real estate buyers are coming from large population centers in the East and Midwest.

Thus while the cities are growing rapidly at the expense of the rural-farm areas, there is always present a large number of urban dwellers who favor living on farms or at least prefer living in the country.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

SKIN DISTURBANCES DUE TO POOR CIRCULATION

THE CAPILLARIES are so numerous that when the flow of blood to a certain section of the skin is altered, the color changes. A typical example is blushing in which the passageways dilate, bringing more than the usual amount of vital fluid to the surface.

Sometimes these tiny vessels are changed in such a way that the shade of the epidermis is unattractive. In livido-reticularis, a bluish-red mottling appears on the legs and feet. Pain is rarely associated with the abnormality. It occurs in mild form in young ladies who go out in raw weather without adequate protection. On returning home the blotching which is observed disappears after becoming thoroughly warmed.

In others, the lesions are more persistent. They are accentuated by chilling and never quite fade even when the extremities are warm. This stage of the affliction is seldom uncomfortable and may be discovered accidently by an observing friend. In a few, the extremities feel congested, numb, tingling, or sore. Now and then ulcers form over areas where the discoloration is marked.

No one knows the cause. The capillaries are narrowed in some spots and dilated in others. The nervous system probably plays a role as many victims are jittery or have high blood pressure. Once in a while the glands are implicated. If the blemishes are unsightly they can be camouflaged with cosmetics. Occasionally the nerves leading to the structures must be severed, a procedure that is not entirely satisfactory. It does not cure but makes the condition less noticeable.

Acrocyanosis is another disorder of this type. The hands and feet are cold and exhibit a dark red hue. In addition, perspiration may be profuse. Here, too, inclement weather causes the symptoms to become more severe, inducing puffiness, tenderness, and numbness. During the summer time, the frigid sensation vanishes but the color persists.

The excess perspiration may prove to be a handicap in business, especially in shaking hands. The paper on which the individual is writing becomes wet as well as the silverware while eating. In some instances the secretion is so abundant that it drips from the hands constantly. Women are the usual sufferers and a glandular imbalance is generally responsible. The nervous system is likewise involved and as in livido-recticularis, the victim is likely to be high-strung and tense.

There are many other disturbances along this line which are of little consequence and in no way impair health. The quantity of blood going through the parts is the determining factor; thus the palms of the hands of one person may be slightly warmer or colder than another. The color also varies. Since the caliber of the capillaries is dependent upon the nervous and glandular systems, their size may similarly serve as an index of the efficiency of these structures.

REPLY

Not exactly, as rheumatic fever is one form of the rheumatic state. "Rheumatism" is a general term used by the public to denote various muscular and joint pains.

A CALLOUSED SOLE

REPLY

In many instances this occurs when the arch in this area (transverse) gives way as a result of faulty posture, poor walking habits, or improper shoes. The arch may also become weakened after illness which has confined the patient to bed for some time. Exercises and padding the shoes often alleviate the condition.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

In a recent Supreme Court ruling, a Hawaiian couple were awarded an island they bought 25 years ago, but which was taken over by the navy during the war. The island now contains a million dollar air base. I can visualize the wife telling her husband to go claim their little island: "After all, dear, we're human. It's about time we heard the patter of little motors. And we've always wanted our own little hangar."

Every morning the wife will go downstairs, pick up the milk, and sweep off the runway. And just picture that wonderful family scene with everyone gathered around the breakfast table adjusting their safety belts. And when hubby leaves for work, she'll probably spend all day leaning over the back fence gossiping with the pilots. Or else she'll always be running up to the neighbors trying to borrow a cup of gasoline.

The woman on the next island will probably always be complaining. "Oh, I wish she'd leave me alone—always using my jet plane so she can get to the market. Why doesn't her husband leave the C-54 with her once in a while?" Of course at 3 in the afternoon if you look up in the sky, you'll see three little parachutes. They'll be the kids dropping home from school.

And at night, the husband will turn to his wife and say: "How'd you like to go to the movies tonight? There's a great double feature at the Bijou in Newfoundland."

Owning an air base might be fun for that couple, but it doesn't appeal to me. It would be awful waking up every morning hearing a terrific roar and then finding out it's not applause.

TWIXT THE DEVIL AND THE DEEP BLUE SEA

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Various Democrats have accused Harry Truman of deserting Franklin Roosevelt, but the nearest real break came two days ago when the entire Truman Administration almost walked out on the grand old lady of the Democratic party, Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt.

Despite the fact that Mrs. Roosevelt was the honored speaker at the Jefferson Day dinner in Los Angeles, and despite the fact that the dinner was being arranged by James Roosevelt, eldest son of the late President, the White House for a time ordered a complete boycott.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, scheduled to speak alongside Mrs. Roosevelt, canceled. And Democratic Executive Director Gael Sullivan was ordered to cancel. In the end, Sullivan persuaded President Truman to reverse the boycott at least to the extent of letting him speak alongside Mrs. Roosevelt. Ungallant Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, however, never did get off his high horse. He remained in a huff in Washington counting his tax-money.

Basic reason for the hushed-up dinner-party fracas was Henry Wallace and the Truman Doctrine.

When Wallace spoke in Los Angeles recently, the local Democratic committee, under pressure from ex-Attorney General Bob Kenny, county chairman Rollin McNitt, and Jimmy Roosevelt, finally voted to welcome Wallace.

Wallace, attracting the largest Democratic political crowd since the days of FDR, assailed the Truman Doctrine, was roundly cheered by local Democrats. When word of the Wallace triumph filtered back to Washington, Secretary Snyder rushed over to the White House, told Truman he was going to pull out of the Los Angeles Jefferson Day dinner, Snyder, long one of the closest men to Truman, also sold him on the idea of "disciplining" Los Angeles Democrats.

Accordingly Truman went to the extreme length of ordering executive director Gael Sullivan to withdraw from the party campaign dinner, leaving Mrs. Roosevelt sitting high-and-dry on the Los Angeles platform all by her self.

Informed of this simultaneously, Sullivan, an adroit hand at healing party breaches, warned the White House that in democracy, there must be room for people with all sorts of opinions. A purge, he warned, was bad business. Truman was readily convinced, but not Mr. Snyder. He wouldn't budge.

Note—In order to hush up the hot intra-party feud, the White House whipped up the lame excuse that an urgent Cabinet meeting would keep Secretary Snyder in Washington.

Merry-Go-Round

Democratic anti-Wallacites recently started rumors that Wallace was "anti-Catholic" because he opposed war with Russia. When these rumors got back to Henry, he replied, "I campaigned for Al Smith when Harry Truman was supposed to have been a member of the Ku Klux Klan." . . . Men's clothing is slated for another 5 per cent price jump in the fall because of higher textile prices. . . . Jouett Shouse, former Democratic National Committee Chairman, sometimes described as having "the finest 1923 mind in Washington," has now become one of President Truman's unofficial advisers. Shouse never could get near the White House in Roosevelt's day. . . . Harold Stassen has turned down more than 4,000 speaking invitations in the last two months. But he's filling a thousand—about twice as many as any other politico could handle. . . . Assistant Secretary of State Bill Benton has set at least one diplomatic record. He has only attended four diplomatic dinners and three cocktail parties during two years in Washington. . . . Steel industry officials say they've shipped more barbed wire to Brazil this year than they did to Europe during the war.

The Bilbos Of Michigan

Two Senators from Michigan are employing unusual tactics in blocking democratic procedure and the course of good government. They are Arthur Vandenberg and Homer Ferguson, both Republicans, who for five long months have been sitting on two important appointments, refusing to let the Senate take a vote on confirmation.

Senator Ferguson, Chairman of a Judiciary Subcommittee, has been blocking a vote on Phillip Perlman of Baltimore as Solicitor General of the United States. And Senator Vandenberg, Chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, has been blocking a vote on Francis Biddle as U. S. Delegate to the United Nations Social and Economic Committee.

Both Michiganders have been sitting on these appointments since January. January to June is a long time to hold up important appointments. It so happens that the Solicitor General's in the 2nd top legal post in the U. S. Government. His job is to argue all cases before the Supreme Court. However, despite an extremely busy Court calendar, Senator Ferguson did not even hold hearings on Perlman until May 14. In other words he waited from January until May without even giving the friends or enemies of Perlman a chance to be heard. No government can operate efficiently under such delay.

Senator Vandenberg was equally slow. Though Francis Biddle is a former member of the Cabinet, served as U. S. judge to try the Nazi war criminals at Nuremburg, and is a former judge on the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, Vandenberg simply sat on his nomination. Finally, in May, he held one brief hearing, but since then has not permitted either the full Senate Foreign Relations Committee or the Senate itself to vote on Bidde.

Some of Vandenberg's own GOP colleagues, including Senator Capper of Kansas, have complained about his sit-tight tactics, pointing out that the democratic system is supposed to give the Senate the privilege of voting yes or no. Likewise, leading Republicans in Maryland are irked at the way their fellow-Republican, Senator Ferguson, has been blocking a vote on Perlman.

But the two Michigan Senators continue to sit tight. Though both have good records in other Senatorial fields, both apparently have forgotten that the U. S. Congressional system is based on the right to vote, not the Bilbo system of withholding votes.

Note—In Democratic cloakrooms the two Michiganders (both voted against seating Senator Bilbo) are being called the "Bilbos of Michigan."

Under The Dome

Attendance in the Senate is getting so bad that during part of the housing-rent control debate this week scrappy Glen Taylor of Idaho was the only Democrat on the floor. . . Big difficulty in bringing Senators to the Senate floor is the feeling that votes are seldom won or lost by debate. Hardly a Senator will disagree that Florida's Claude Pepper is probably the Senate's most persuasive speaker on foreign affairs—but relatively few will vote with him. . . Likewise, most Republicans agree that when angered, Senator Bob Taft is apt to put his foot in his mouth. But even though Taft is bested in debate, they vote with him. . . Maine's 70-year-old Senator Wallace White, nominal GOP floor leader, might have decided against running for re-election anyhow. But GOP colleagues agree that rude treatment he has received from Taft hastened White's decision. White has rarely looked so forlorn as last Tuesday when he tried to recess the Senate at 4 p. m.—something almost invariably done at the suggestion of a majority leader when there is no pressing reason to stay in session. But White was outvoted by his own party. It was kindly Democratic leader Alben Barkley who tried to cover up for White by demanding a quorum call at once.

High Food Prices Laid To Direct Government Action

By MARK SULLIVAN

President Truman at his press conference this week did a surprising thing. The newsmen facing him were hoping for, though not seriously expecting, light on the major subject of Washington interest, whether Mr. Truman will veto or sign the tax bill and the labor bill. Instead, Mr. Truman began by reading, with emphasis and some feeling, a comprehensive statement dealing with prices and his campaign to reduce them.

One gathered that Mr. Truman had not seized this subject out of the air. The occasion for his statement was a previous statement that had been made by Republican Senator Taft. This Mr. Truman quoted, "Senator Taft is reported to have said that 'apparently the President and the Administration are abandoning talk of keeping prices down in favor of heavy spending abroad that will keep them up.'"

Quoting the Taft statement, Mr. Truman first stated, carefully and earnestly, the purpose of the spending abroad, such as the grant to Greece and Turkey. "This policy Mr. Truman defended earnestly: "To say that we should abandon our efforts directed toward enduring world peace and freedom because these efforts create economic problems is like saying that we should have abandoned our war effort because it created economic problems." Admitting that the purchase of farm products and other goods to send them abroad has a tendency to keep prices up, Mr. Truman pointed out that this is only an incidental effect, and said it is an additional reason why we should maintain our effort to keep prices down.

From this Mr. Truman went into the whole subject of prices, our recent experience with them, the economic philosophy of them. Accusingly, and perhaps laying himself open to retort, Mr. Truman made a charge, "Senator Taft's economic philosophy follows the old idea of boom and bust." For himself, Mr. Truman said aggressively, or rather perhaps defensively, "My interest in voluntary price reductions is undiminished; they are as important now as before—if not more important."

If Mr. Truman seems sensitive and on the defensive about prices and his campaign to reduce them, there is a reason. In the whole field of prices, the ones that are highest, relative to other goods and to the past, are farm products, food. And these prices are kept up by direct actions and policies of the government—policies and steps having the avowed specific purpose of keeping prices up. So long as this practice is followed about prices of farm products, Mr. Truman's exhortations for lower prices of goods generally cannot escape seeming hollow. And so long as prices of food are kept up by government, it must be difficult or impossible to reduce prices of manufactured goods. For high prices of food create high cost of living, high cost of living leads to demands for higher wages, and higher wages cause goods to cost more to make than they otherwise would. Mr. Truman can hardly keep prices down when the government, by official actions, keeps prices of food up.

The awkwardness of Mr. Truman's position will be illustrated glaringly by an event scheduled for next Monday. There is to be held, at the Department of Agriculture in Washington, upon invitations issued by President Truman, a "National Conference on Farm Land inflation. The puprpose is to check rising prices of farm land, as distinguished from farm products. The 41 persons invited include bankers and insurance company directors (as well as heads of farm organizations.) Presumably these will hear appeals for restraint upon the lending of money on farm mortgages, warnings against purchase of farms at high prices, preachments about the danger of inflation inherent in the rising prices of farms.

All that will be worthy and useful. But if someone among the 41 invited to the conference is outspoken, he should be able to turn the conference into a discussion of cause. The price of farm land is determined mainly by the prices of produce raised on the land. The outspoken one could ask: "How can we or anyone, by voluntary action, keep the prices of farms from going up—when the government by official actions and policies keeps the prices of farm products up?"

That conference next week, could be enlightening and useful, if it should reveal to the public how the government keeps up the prices of farm products. Not merely the recently conspicuous case of potatoes, which the government keeps up by buying off the market millions of busheds, some of which last year were destroyed and that is being done again this year. By many processes used at various times, the government has mechanism for keeping up the prices of nearly all farm products.

Ineptitude Seen In Handling Foreign Affairs In Argentina

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The departure of Spruille Braden from the Department of State, where he held the post of assistant secretary in charge of Latin American relations, is a sad event. But so also was the departure of Nelson Rockefeller, his predecessor in the same job.

Both were conscientious officials who had definite ideas of how American policy could best be applied as between Argentina and the United States. But both were the victims also of an ineptitude in the handling of foreign policy which is costing America not only prestige but time and money in the stabilization of hemispheric affairs.

When Mr. Braden was ambassador to Argentina, he took the view that an American diplomatic representative could speak freely to the people of that country, and he did so at a time when they were having an election. The effect of his intervention was to intensify national pride, and Colonel Peron, the successful candidate, had no trouble in whipping up national enthusiasm as against foreign intervention in the internal affairs of his country.

Drifted Along

Despite this reversal, American foreign policy drifted along without recognition of the fundamental fact that whatever is done in Latin America must be done by collaboration of all the Inter-American countries.

In the face of the mistakes made by the United States in sanctioning the activities of Ambassador Braden in Argentina, the Truman Administration brought him to Washington and made him assistant secretary of state. This was a handicap, because it was soon discovered that the policy of the United States would have to be changed if any progress were to be made in cementing the relations between the United States and Argentina. Then, for several months, Mr. Braden was apparently put aside while Ambassador Messersmith, acting under a different set of instructions, went to Buenos Aires to bring the United States and Argentina closer together.

Ambassador Messersmith is a trained career diplomat and he is one of the most experienced and able representatives the United States Government has ever had in the foreign field. He set out to do a particular job—to bring Argentina and the United States together. He saw the practical and the realistic aspects of the situation and recommended action to the Department of State in Washington. In a short time, the department began to back him up wholeheartedly so that, while Mr. Braden by his continuance in office represented one type of policy in Washington, Mr. Messersmith represented quite another policy in Argentina.

It is assumed, of course, that somewhere in the top level of the Truman Administration a decision was made to work for a closer accord with Argentina and Mr. Messersmith was selected as the instrument of that policy.

But all this shifting back and forth would have been unnecessary and valuable time would have been saved if President Truman had realized just what was involved in the Latin-American problem at the time that he let Nelson Rockefeller, assistant secretary of state, resign.

Believed In Quiet Pressure

Mr. Rockefeller was as vehement as anybody else in the American Government against fascistic tendencies in Argentina but he believed that the way to progress was to bring about collaboration with other Latin-American countries and to exert quiet pressure upon the Argentine Government.

Mr. Rockefeller was appointed to his post by the late President Roosevelt, who had the utmost confidence in the ability of the assistant secretary to carry out a sound development of the "good neighbor" policy. Mr. Rockefeller, as head of the committee on Inter-American Development during the war, did a remarkable job in winning the friendship of the Latin-American countries to the war efforts of the Allies. All of the splendid work he did, however, was brushed aside when, shortly after President Truman took office, the Department of State listened to the "needling" arguments of left-wingers who insisted that the thing to do was to keep up a constant furore with Argentina and even to break off relations with that country. The effect of the left-wing tactics was to widen the breach with Argentina. The attack on Mr. Rockefeller's policies was made notwithstanding the knowledge that Mr. Roosevelt had originally approved and sanctioned the course which had been taken.

It was in San Francisco that Assistant Secretary Rockefeller made his fight for the admission of Argentina into the United Nations. He was supported there by the entire U. S. delegation, including Senator Vandenberg of Michigan. The left-wingers, who thought this was a recognition of "Fascism" or that in some way the United States was deviating from its policy, centered their attack on Mr. Rockefeller and tried to blame him for it. But the assistant secretary said nothing in public about it and just did his job in accordance with the outline given him by the late President Roosevelt. The theory of Mr. Roosevelt was that it was better to have Argentina as a member of the United Nations, with the hope that later on fascistic influences could be eradicated, than it was to make a permanent foe of the Argentine people, who would resent such a discrimination. This policy has now been vindicated.

Today's Talk

Steadfastness of Purpose

We are all dissectors of the truth. Yet truth doesn't need it at all. It's the pure article. And so we are born into the world to discover for ourselves that which appears to be the truth, our task being to learn, modify our opinions, and to keep seeking for a higher and more honest interpretation, until we arrive at a satisfactory conclusion.

It took a long time before the world accepted such truths as that the world was a globe, or to accept the findings of such men as Harvey, Pasteur, and an endless number of others, whose vision and purpose finally put light into their findings that no man could dispute. Courage, patience, doggedness, yes—but most of all steadfastness of purpose, that wore out the sceptics, is what has always marked the way to the final demonstration of truth.

"New occasions teach new duties," wrote the poet, but every day proves how valuable are the interchange of ideas, openness of mind to better methods, and an acceptance of discoveries that open still further the paths to more understandable truths, whether in science, medicine, or human relations.

Each step that we take in life is either a step forward or backward. Only through steadfastness of purpose do men go forward, finally coming to a realization of their ideals and definite aims. Concentration and thoroughness, looking neither to the left nor to the right, but with an ever increasing purpose, is the pathway to success—and happiness as well.

There are no boundaries to a worthy ambition. Consider how many of our great men and women have come from small towns, from farms, and even from the dire poverty of early years. It was the steadfastness of purpose that gave to us Abraham Lincoln. And history illustrates for us an endless number of such examples that have given lustre to its pages.

When a man is hungry, and no other means are available to appease this condition, he will work that he may earn his bread, and thereby become bodily satisfied. From the Sermon on the Mount you will read this: "Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness." Only as we hunger in our mind and heart can we gain our objective, but steadfastness of purpose is the unfailing cue to guide us to that end.

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree divorcing the plaintiff A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the defendant.

The bill of complaint states that the plaintiff is a resident of Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, and that she and the defendant were married on the 8th day of July, 1945, and lived together as husband and wife until the 8th day of July, 1945, on which date the defendant deserted and abandoned the said plaintiff without just cause or reason, and has declared his intention to live with her no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for at least eighteen months and is deliberate and final and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation. The bill further states that one infant child was born of said marriage, viz: Gary David Adams, and prays that the court grant the custody and guardianship of said infant child to the plaintiff.

It is thereupon this 6th day of June, 1947, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, ordered that the plaintiff cause a copy of this order, with the object and substance of the bill of complaint, to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, once a week for four successive weeks before the 8th day of July, 1947, giving notice to the said non-resident defendant to appear in this court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 24th day of July, 1947, to show cause, if any there be, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Thornhill Not Guilty Of Altering Ballots

LOGAN, W. Va., June 6 W. A. (Red) Thornhill, former Raleigh County prosecuting attorney, was acquitted by a Logan Circuit Court jury tonight on a charge of violating the election laws by altering ballots.

The jury deliberated five hours. Fifty minutes before reaching a decision the jurors returned to the courtroom to ask instructions relative to the indictment, one of four in which Thornhill is charged in connection with the theft of ballots from the Raleigh courthouse last November 16.

The point raised by the jury pertained to a clause which charged Thornhill had "aided and abetted" in the alteration of ballots. Technical use of the word "and" was questioned.

Judge C. C. Chambers, who presided in a change of venue from Raleigh County, ordered Henry Lilly, one of two men indicted with Thornhill, to return June 25 for trial.

Two Cars, Truck Involved In Crash

A property-damage accident involving two cars and a truck yesterday at 4:10 p. m. on Route 40, five miles east of the city limits, resulted in one man being charged with "following another vehicle too closely," Maryland State Police said.

Ralph Clark, Everett, Pa., posted $11.45 bond, according to Troopers Harry Bosley and Robert Henline, after his truck crashed against a machine they said was operated by Edith P. Kirk, Baltimore, and shoved it against the rear of John E. Brayman's car as he headed toward his home in Baltimore.

Trooper Bosley said Braymen stopped his car in the rear of a school bus which was discharging passengers and Edith Kirk also stopped, but Clark failed to stop in time and crashed against the latter's machine.

The Kirk car was badly damaged, according to police, and had to be pulled away. The other vehicles were damaged only slightly, police said.

Thornhill Not Guilty Of Altering Ballots

LOGAN, W. Va., June 6 W. A. (Red) Thornhill, former Raleigh County prosecuting attorney, was acquitted by a Logan Circuit Court jury tonight on a charge of violating the election laws by altering ballots.

The jury deliberated five hours.

Fifty minutes before reaching a decision the jurors returned to the courtroom to ask instructions relative to the indictment, one of four in which Thornhill is charged in connection with the theft of ballots from the Raleigh courthouse last November 16.

The point raised by the jury pertained to a clause which charged Thornhill had "aided and abetted" in the alteration of ballots. Technical use of the word "and" was questioned.

Judge C. C. Chambers, who presided in a change of venue from Raleigh County, ordered Henry Lilly, one of two men indicted with Thornhill, to return June 25 for trial.

Officials here are hopeful that American canning interests will set up in East Indonesia and develop a booming export trade.

A property-damage accident involving two cars and a truck yesterday at 4:10 p. m. on Route 40, five miles east of the city limits, resulted in one man being charged with "following another vehicle too closely," Maryland State Police said.

Local Firms Affected By Pittsburgh Strike

Two local trucking firms have suspended operations between here and Pittsburgh, Pa., due to a strike of the Teamsters and Chauffeurs Union in Pittsburgh.

The Teamsters union there struck Monday for a wage increase of 35 cents hourly after rejecting a 15 cents an hour offer. Fourteen employes of the Maryland Motor Lines and the Cumberland Motor Express are affected by the strike.

Council To Consider Bus Terminal Site

A plan suggested by Chief of Police Oscar A. Eyerman for establishing a union bus terminal at the Southern Hotel and opening connecting streets between Bedford and Market Streets and between Mechanic and North Centre Streets will be presented to the Mayor and City Council on Monday, according to Mayor Thomas S. Post.

The suggestion has been turned down twice by the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission because it would involve considerable expense in establishing new streets and because members felt that traffic conditions would not be improved as vehicles would still face the problem of getting back on either center or Mechanic Streets after reaching Market by way of the new street.

H. W. Smith, commission secretary, said the various bus companies want to establish permanent facilities and eliminate the present terminal on Frederick Street. He added that the proposed Bedford-Centre site is still under consideration and that bus companies are seeking some means of financing a terminal at that spot.

Hutcheson Named Class President

Thomas Hutcheson has been elected president of the 1948 senior class at Allegany High School, defeating Donald Ort, and William Fuller. He is a member of the choir, the octet, Spanish Club, band and orchestra, was on football and track teams, and served as president of his junior class.

Other officers chosen are Charles Piper, vice president; Vivian Smith, secretary, and Donald Burkett, treasurer. Home room representatives will be Sheila Doyle, Emmett Jones, Beverly Wilt, Elva Mae Nesbitt, Barbara Bright, Thomas Hutcheson and Vivian Smith.

Local Man Fined For Reckless Driving

After pleading not guilty to a reckless driving charge, Joseph M. Monnett, 82 Henderson Avenue, was found guilty in Trial Magistrates Court yesterday and fined $11.45.

Monnett was named by police as the driver of a jeep which crashed against the rear of an automobile driven by Floyd J. Curtis, Washington, in the 800 block of Greene Street, Wednesday.

Monnett said that Curtis' car was six feet from the curb when the accident occurred, after the Washington driver stopped to ask directions.

Beacon Is In Use

The clear beacon marking the location of the Cumberland Municipal Airport is burning nightly and will continue in use, according to John A. Chapman, airport manager. The light has been operating on an experimental basis for several weeks.

Celebrity Contest Winners Named

In the annual celebrity contest held by the Alcohi Mirror, Allegany High School bi-weekly, eight seniors received honorary titles conferred on them by the popular vote of the student body.

Miss Doris Davis was voted "Most Talented Girl" and Noyes "Tommy" Powers captured the "Most Talented Boy" laurels. Chosen as the "Most Co-operative Boy and Girl" were Howard Peterson and Patty Bowie. Miss Elaine Diamond and Richard Taylor were titlists in the "Most Pleasing Personality" division and the "Most Handsome Couple" honors were taken by Shirley Wilkinson and James Taylor.

PE Wages Hit New High, Smith Says

Wage and salary increases that the 2,000 employes of the Potomac Edison Company have or shortly will receive, bring the system's pay level to the highest point in history, according to R. Paul Smith, president.

The adjustments, according to Smith, are being made to give recognition to increases in the cost of living and are designed to generally raise the company's wage and salary standards in all classifications.

The high point in company pay, Smith said, comes one year after an announcement that upward wage and salary adjustments were being Xmade, coincidental with a reduction in electric rates ordered by the Public Service Commission.

Smith explained that the salary increases will demand the highest possible efficiency in the operation of the company.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Joining Some Club To Make New Friends Is Good Idea, Widower Is Told

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a man 42 years of age and would like to know how I could get acquainted with some woman of my own age. I lost my wife and I am very lonesome. Do you know of any club or other group where I might make women friends?

"LONESOME"

Dear "Lonesome":

You are going about things the right way when you think of joining some club to make new friends, for that is one of the best ways I know to find both new friends and new interests.

There are various types of group organizations, and, if I were you, I would join two or three in order to enlarge my circle of acquaintances as much as possible. If you attend a particular church regularly, there must be organizations connected with it which have both men and women members. If there is no other way of finding out about them, then ask the minister, or priest, or rabbi, what the organizations are that you might join. Incidentally, if you do not aready attend any church regularly, remember that it is a very good way to find friends and it is certainly not too late for you to start making a church connection.

How about community organizations in the town where you live? Is there a Y.M.C.A. in your town? If so, go there and talk to the man who is in charge. Tell him your problem and ask him what clubs or other groups there are at the "Y" that you might join. Even though all the members of the group might be men, there are always opportunities to meet women relatives of men friends as you become well acquainted with them.

There are also—but I feel that any one like yourself should try this only as a last resort—groups which have been organized for the specific purpose of introducing lonely men and women to each other. However, in joining any one of these, you should exercise great care to make sure that it is exactly what it purports to be, and not merely a "front" for something in which you would not like to become involved. If you wish to connect yourself with one of these "lonely hearts" groups, and will write me again, I will suggest one or two that I consider reliable.

Why Be Taken For A Sucker

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a 20-year-old girl in love with a man 28. He has dated me every week for six months, and although he has been fresh with me on every date we have had, I let it pass because I could always handle him.

One night he told me he loved me, and although I wanted very much to believe it, I pretended I didn't, and laughed. We had two dates after that, and he kept saying how much he loved me. After that, I didn't see him for several weeks. Then I bumped into him one day, and he asked me if I was mad because he hadn't been around, and I said no. He told me he was going with a woman with two children, and that she was treating him better than I had and he was through trying with me. I was very much hurt, but still I laughed.

Do you think he loves me, and will come back, or was I given the best run-around in the world?

"P. C."

Dear "P. C.":

What do you think yourself? Do you really believe that a man could be in love with a girl and treat her and talk to her the way this man has done to you?

And I can't possibly imagine why in the world you would want such a creature to come back anyhow. I should think you'd already had more than enough of his hypocritical love-making. He has certainly made it perfectly clear what he's after. Do you actually enjoy being taken for a sucker?

Escapes Drowning

An air pocket which prevented a boat from sinking on Deep Creek Lake, near Oakland, saved Pete Simpson, Oakdale, Pa., from possible drowning Sunday, when the 32-horsepower boat overturned.

Witnesses said Simpson, who cannot swim, caught hold of the boat after being thrown from it and held on until rescuers from McComas Beach, in the Marsh Hill Tract, reached him.

Tell him your problem and ask him what clubs or other groups there are at the "Y" that you might join. Even though all the members of the group might be men, there are always opportunities to meet women relatives of men friends as you become well acquainted with them.

There are also—but I feel that any one like yourself should try this only as a last resort—groups which have been organized for the specific purpose of introducing lonely men and women to each other. However, in joining any one of these, you should exercise great care to make sure that it is exactly what it purports to be, and not merely a "front" for something in which you would not like to become involved. If you wish to connect yourself with one of these "lonely hearts" groups, and will write me again, I will suggest one or two that I consider reliable.

Why Be Taken For A Sucker

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a 20-year-old girl in love with a man 28. He has dated me every week for six months, and although he has been fresh with me on every date we have had, I let it pass because I could always handle him.

One night he told me he loved me, and although I wanted very much to believe it, I pretended I didn't, and laughed. We had two dates after that, and he kept saying how much he loved me. After that, I didn't see him for several weeks. Then I bumped into him one day, and he asked me if I was mad because he hadn't been around, and I said no. He told me he was going with a woman with two children, and that she was treating him better than I had and he was through trying with me. I was very much hurt, but still I laughed.

Do you think he loves me, and will come back, or was I given the best run-around in the world?

"P. C."

Dear "P. C.":

What do you think yourself? Do you really believe that a man could be in love with a girl and treat her and talk to her the way this man has done to you?

And I can't possibly imagine why in the world you would want such a creature to come back anyhow. I should think you'd already had more than enough of his hypocritical love-making. He has certainly made it perfectly clear what he's after. Do you actually enjoy being taken for a sucker?

Escapes Drowning

An air pocket which prevented a boat from sinking on Deep Creek Lake, near Oakland, saved Pete Simpson, Oakdale, Pa., from possible drowning Sunday, when the 32-horsepower boat overturned.

Witnesses said Simpson, who cannot swim, caught hold of the boat after being thrown from it and held on until rescuers from McComas Beach, in the Marsh Hill Tract, reached him.

$7,000 Sought In Car-Truck Crash Monday

Three damage suits totalling $7,000 were filed in Circuit Court yesterday by E. J. Ryan, attorney, as the result of a truck-car collision Monday at about 6.30 p. m. in front of the Methodist Church, Vale Summit, in which several persons were injured.

Frederick Ayers, Moscow, owner of a car involved, asks $2,500 damages for alleged severe injuries to his left elbow and damages to the car. Miss Audra Ashby, 24, RFD 1, Westernport, who was driving the car, seeks $2,000 damages for back injuries, and Lillian Wilt, Westernport, a passenger in the car, asks $2,500 for injuries to her shoulder, left arm and collarbone.

The suits charge that the defendant, William Reckley Linn, 704 Shade's Lane, was operating his truck at a high rate of speed and in a negligent manner when it collided with the car operated by Miss Ashby, who was driving at a reasonable speed and on the right side of the highway.

Trooper William F. Baker, investigated the accident and said that the car, which turned over on its right side in the crash, was almost demolished and the truck was only slightly damaged.

Linn was fined $21.45 Thursday in Trial Magistrates' Court on a charge of reckless driving as a result of the crash but took an appeal to Circuit Court.

A suit by titling was filed yesterday by Robert O. and Myrtle Miller in connection with the lease of a strip mining operation near Westernport. The Campbell Coal Company is the defendant in the action. Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson, Jr., are attorneys for the Millers.

James R. Smith filed suit by titling against William E. Lewis through his attorneys, William A. Gunter and William H. Geppert.

County Board Grants Coal Stripper Right To Cut Through Road

An agreement was entered into yesterday between the Allegany County Board of Commissioners and the Consolidated Fuel Company by which the firm will cut across a county side road at Vale Summit for the purpose of strip mining coal under the road and on the other side of the present operation.

William S. Jenkins, attorney for the company, presented a check for $2,500 to the board as bond for carrying out provisions of the agreement. Included in the agreement are several recommendations of Albert S. Paye, county engineer, for the county's protection.

The coal company will erect barriers at either end of the approximately 250 feet of the road which will be cut, replace the roadway, refill and smooth over an area which has already been strip mined over according to contours of the land, and pay all costs of the county in resurfacing the roadway under specifications which will meet State Roads Commission specifications.

BEDFORD, Pa., June 6 — Paul Raymond Holler, 25, New Beuna Vista, was found dead yesterday afternoon in the cab of his trailer truck. Bedford County Coroner Vernon Geisel said death was due to suffocation by carbon monoxide poisoning while the man was asleep.

John Fay, a member of a telegraph crew, discovered the body of the truck driver in the cab of the truck along the road leading from New Buena Vista to the Lincoln Highway. Fay saw the parked truck while he was working in the vicinity, and he decided to investigate when the vehicle was not moved during the day.

Teachers College Graduates Class Of Seven Seniors

Future Of School Is Termed Bright

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, June 6 — In her address to the senior class at the commencement exercises of Frostburg State Teachers' College today, President Lillian C. Compton said the students who received their B. S. degrees in elementary education at the first June Commencement since 1942, would enter the teaching profession in September at a time when the salaries for first year teachers will be the highest in the history of state education.

President Compton also commended the future teachers for entering the college at a time when industry was making heavy demands on high school graduates. She announced that the accelerated program which permitted students to complete four years of work in three years and three summers of 10 weeks had been cancelled and all teachers' colleges in the state are now on the regular four year program.

College To Get New Building

Miss Compton said that the future of the college at Frostburg has brightened considerably. She reported that four additional instructors and five replacements will be employed next year and announced that a temporary building has been promised by the Federal Works Agency, which will be used for science laboratories with the present science building reconditioned for class rooms.

She also said that the State Board of Education is opposed to moving the college from Frostburg and that improvements to the facilities of the institution will be made to take care of an enrollment next year which may reach the 300 mark, half of which will be enrolled in the junior college and half in the teacher education program. She stated that graduates who received their degrees today have all been assured of positions. They are Janeva Elizabeth Henline, Hancock; Charles Edward Lizer, Williamsport; Ann Elizabeth Llewellyn, Vale Summit; Shirley Mae Matthews, Corriganville; Geraldine Hamilton Ort, Frostburg; Martha Frances Shaner, Cumberland, and Sarah Lee Stottler, Cumberland. Miss Shaner was unable to be present due to illness.

Hager Delivers Address

Dr. Walter E. Hager, president of James Ormond Wilson Teachers' College, Washington, D. C., delivered the commencement address to the graduates, his subject being "Can We Educate for Peace?" Degrees were conferred by Miss Compton.

A luncheon was held in the residence dining hall following the commencement exercises for parents of the graduates and officials of the State Department of Education.

Teachers College Graduates Class Of Seven Seniors

Future Of School Is Termed Bright

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, June 6 — In her address to the senior class at the commencement exercises of Frostburg State Teachers' College today, President Lillian C. Compton said the students who received their B. S. degrees in elementary education at the first June Commencement since 1942, would enter the teaching profession in September at a time when the salaries for first year teachers will be the highest in the history of state education.

President Compton also commended the future teachers for entering the college at a time when industry was making heavy demands on high school graduates. She announced that the accelerated program which permitted students to complete four years of work in three years and three summers of 10 weeks had been cancelled and all teachers' colleges in the state are now on the regular four year program.

College To Get New Building

Miss Compton said that the future of the college at Frostburg has brightened considerably. She reported that four additional instructors and five replacements will be employed next year and announced that a temporary building has been promised by the Federal Works Agency, which will be used for science laboratories with the present science building reconditioned for class rooms.

She also said that the State Board of Education is opposed to moving the college from Frostburg and that improvements to the facilities of the institution will be made to take care of an enrollment next year which may reach the 300 mark, half of which will be enrolled in the junior college and half in the teacher education program. She stated that graduates who received their degrees today have all been assured of positions. They are Janeva Elizabeth Henline, Hancock; Charles Edward Lizer, Williamsport; Ann Elizabeth Llewellyn, Vale Summit; Shirley Mae Matthews, Corriganville; Geraldine Hamilton Ort, Frostburg; Martha Frances Shaner, Cumberland, and Sarah Lee Stottler, Cumberland. Miss Shaner was unable to be present due to illness.

Spring Blossom

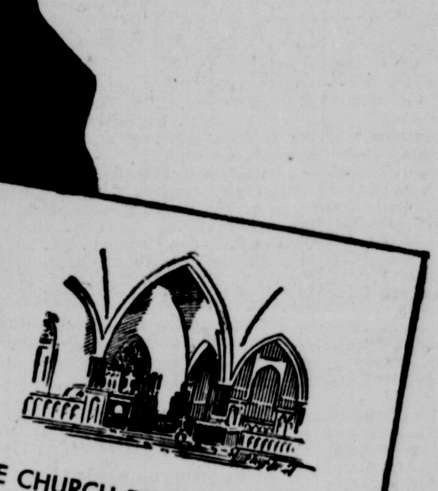
Sweet as the blossoms of springtime, this beautiful graduate clasps the diploma which symbolizes years of study and achievement. The light of fresh knowledge is in her eyes and the glow of happiness on her cheeks as she sees the distant vistas of life spread out before her.

Whither her course will lead her now — to further academic pursuits, to the marriage altar, or to new achievements in other fields — is a question the picture does not answer.

But whatever her future course may be, she is certain to find pitfalls, dangers and difficulties along the road of life. She will need character, courage and faith to carry her safely through and bring her life to its highest and richest attainment.

Religion and a suitable church connection is something she cannot afford to neglect. The beauty of her sweet young face must be enhanced by the beauty of mind and soul attainable through faith.

Let her but reach up and put her hand in the hand of God, and He will lead her safely into the fullness of life.



THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to Church on Sunday and read your Bible daily.

Spring Blossom

Sweet as the blossoms of springtime, this beautiful graduate clasps the diploma which symbolizes years of study and achievement. The light of fresh knowledge is in her eyes and the glow of happiness on her cheeks as she sees the distant vistas of life spread out before her.

Whither her course will lead her now — to further academic pursuits, to the marriage altar, or to new achievements in other fields — is a question the picture does not answer.

But whatever her future course may be, she is certain to find pitfalls, dangers and difficulties along the road of life. She will need character, courage and faith to carry her safely through and bring her life to its highest and richest attainment.

Religion and a suitable church connection is something she cannot afford to neglect. The beauty of her sweet young face must be enhanced by the beauty of mind and soul attainable through faith.

Let her but reach up and put her hand in the hand of God, and He will lead her safely into the fullness of life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to Church on Sunday and read your Bible daily

LaMotta Trounces Janiro In Garden Fight

Tony Collapses In Final Round, Bell Saves Him

New Yorker Explodes "Fixed" Bout Rumors

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, June 6. (AP)—Jake LaMotta, the boxing bull from the Bronx, went on a slugging spree after a slow start tonight to whip Tony Janiro in ten rounds and explode the rumors of a fixed fight at one and the same time at Madison Square Garden. Lamotta scaled 154¼; Janiro 149¼.

Outgunned and outweighed by the rugged rough slugger they call the Bronx fire hywrant, Janiro never had a chance after the first two rounds and was on the verge of a knockout from the sixth round on. But in one of the gamer exhibitions this big battle pit has seen in years, the youngster from Youngstown held on until four seconds from the finish, then collapsed, and was flat on his back at the finish—saved by the bell.

Gives Jake Eight Rounds

The count reached four—then the bell sounded ending the fight, with LaMotta an easy and one-sided winner of the unanimous decision. None of the three officials gave Janiro more than three rounds. The Associated Press score gave LaMotta eight rounds, one to Janiro and called one even.

But from the start to finish it was a free-for-all slugging match that completely laughed off the rumors, that there was something "wrong" with the match—rumors, incidentally, which the bookmakers completely disregarded by installing Jake as a lop-sided 5 to 17 betting favorite.

It was reported the district attorney's office was "interested" in the fight for some reason or other, and it was learned that Frankie Jacob's, Janiro's manager, was questioned by the prosecutor yesterday. This questioning, however, was said to have centered around whether Jacobs was threatened concerning his intention of claiming the $15,000 forfeit LaMotta would have had to pay if he failed to make the agreed-on 155 pounds.

LaMotta Makes Weight

The manager insisted he had not been threatened and that he would demand the forfeit. However, LaMotta made the weight by three quarters of a pound today and the question simply evaporated like his weight.

Tudor Minstrel Favored To Win

English Derby Is Set Today At 8 A. M., EST

By BILL MACKLIN

EPSOM DOWNS, England, June 6 (AP) — Jockey Gordon Richards, the world champion of race riders, will change his boots tomorrow and try to change his luck in the 168th running of the English Derby—and he'll be trying it, too, with the colt many Britishers are calling "the horse of the century."

This one is Tudor Minstrel, the long-barreled husky who is not only unbeaten, up to now, but has been so far out in front in his six starts this year and last that he actually is even unthreatened and unchallenged. He won the first leg of Britain's triple crown — the 2,000 guineas — a few weeks ago by seven lengths, with Richards patting him on the neck and easing him up yards before the finish.

The flying son of the 1941 Derby winner, Owen Tudor, heads a field of 14 certain and three doubtful starters who will parade to the post at 3 p. m. (GMT)—8 a. m., Eastern Standard Time—tomorrow in this renewal of the ancient British mile-and-a-half, attended by all the color and the tradition of the Derby down through the years. The royal family will lead the hundreds of thousands in the annual trek to the downs, although this time King George's colors will be missing, since Blue Train was scratched early this week.

At tonight's final pre-race call-over of odds, the minstrel man was a prohibitive 5 to 4 betting choice, and if he wins, he would be the shortest-priced dandy since the mighty Bahram came home at the same odds a dozen years ago.

For Richards, Tudor Minstrel stands out as the final topper to a career that has had everything except a Derby climax. The 43-year-old booter has piled up close to 3,300 wins since he quit as an office boy at 14 to try race-riding. No other jockey in any country ever hit that mark. Yet, he never has won the Derby.

Chanteur II Scores; Bought For $280,000

EPSOM DOWNS, England, June 6 (AP)—Chanteur II won the Coronation Cup today by five lengths a few hours after London bookmaker William Hill paid a reported 70,000 pounds ($280,000) for the five-year-old French horse.

It was Chanteur's sixth victory this season, half of them in England including the Winston Churchill Stakes May 24 and the White Rose Stakes two days later—a feat that earned him a reputation for stamina and versatility.

Dixie Merchants Win Over Western Maryland

Staging a three run rally in the last of the seventh and final inning, the Dixie Merchants came from behind to edge Western Maryland in a Frankfort District Softball League game yesterday at Ridgeley by the score of 8 to 7. The score:

WESTERN MARYLAND	010 510 0—7	6	3
DIXIE MERCHANTS	001 040 3—8	5	7

Blank and Armbruster, J. Watson, J. Beck and B. Houdershelt, Bubic.

RATTERMAN, FORMER NOTRE DAME PLAYER, SIGNS WITH BISONS

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 6 (AP)—George Ratterman, 20-year-old ex-Notre Dame quarterback, today signed a two-year contract with the Buffalo Bisons of the All-America Football Conference.

The 180-pound Cincinnatian who saw action in eight of Notre Dame's nine games last season, had disclosed Wednesday that he was giving up his fourth year in college to play with the Bisons for $1,000 a year. He added he would return to school next spring to "make up enough studies to graduate."

General Manager Carl (Bus) Owen said Conference Commissioner Jonas B. Ingram had sanctioned the contract, ruling that Ratterman was eligible as soon as his college class had graduated.

Sports Editor Will Fight Here Monday

Klosterman Gets Post On Alcohi Mirror

Local boxing fans will see a Cumberland sports editor show his wares within the ring when the American Legion stages its amateur boxing show Monday night at the state armory.

The "hunt and peck' artist is none other than Jackie Klosterman, scrappy junior welterweight, who is slated to fight Clarence Jenkins, of St. Mary's Boys' Club, in one of the three-round matches topped by the tournament open class welterweight championship battle between Jack's brother, Jim, and Randall "Skeets" Starkey, Ridgeley High School student, who has won 10 consecutive matches.

Jack Klosterman now rates the title "sports editor" because he was elected to that post on the Alcohi Mirror, student publication of Allegany High School. He succeeds Noyes "Tommy" Powers and Tommy Jamison.

Another outstanding match on the card will be that between Earl Smith, Legion scrapper, and Bobby Goss, of the Royale A. C., for the open flyweight title in the Legion's tri-state tourney which ends on Monday night.

Melvin Washington will fight Carlton Shore for the right to meet Dick Kemp, of Frostburg, for the 135-pound novice title.

A return bout between Jake Koelker and Pat Murphy will likely be arranged and Bill Henry, of the Diamond A. C. will probably face Frankie Lisanti in the curtain raiser.

Matchmaker Robert V. "Sparky" Chisholm announces the show will get under way at 8:15.

Frostburg Elks Win On Middleton's Hit

FROSTBURG, June 6 — Manager Ray Middleton delivered a single in the final inning to drive home the run that gave the Frostburg B. P. O. Elks a 5 to 4 decision over the Boo Hoo Club of Lonaconing today at State Teachers' College Field.

The Elks jumped away to a 4-0 lead, three of the runs coming in when Johnny Crowe blasted a triple with the bases loaded. Coney scored three in the second and one in the fourth to knot the count at 4-all.

Render and Middleton had two hits each for the victors while Smith paced the visitors with two bingles. Score:

BOO HOO CLUB	030 100 0—4	3	0
FROSTBURG ELKS	400 000 1—5	9	0

Ritchie, Steele (4) and Timney, Crowe, Wilhelm (4) and Render.

Henry Cotton Wins

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, June 6 (AP)—Henry Cotton, kingpin of the British professionals, broke into the win column for the first time this season today by capturing the $5,000 Spalding tournament with a four under par 288.

His four rounds over the par 73 old course at St. Andrews were 74, 69, 71 and 74.

"After trying for 20 years I have at last won at St. Andrews," the 40-year old Cotton said when getting his first prize check of $1,200.

Gene Burton Wins

CHICAGO, Ill., June 6. (AP)—Gene Burton, stand-up walloper from New York, knocked another dent in the championship aspirations of Chicago's Johnny Bratton tonight by decisively defeating him in a ten round battle in the Chicago Stadium.

The verdict of the two judges and Referee Davey Miller was unanimous.

The bout was witnessed by a shirt-sleeved crowd of 14,000 spectators who contributed a $62,649 gate.

Marshall Belts Three-Run Homer, Giants Win, 7-4

Circuit Clout Sinks Boston In Eleventh

NEW YORK, June 6 (AP)—Home runs by Johnny Mize and Willard Marshall accounted for all of New York's runs today as the Giants downed the St. Louis Cardinals, 7-4 in 11 innings to gain their sixth straight victory over the hapless champions.

Marshall broke up the game with a three-run circuit blast in the second extra inning off Ken Burkart, third St. Louis pitcher.

Burkhart, who was charged with the Card's last setback in New York, May 1 when Mize homered one on in the seventh, relieved Jim Hearn after the rookie righthander walked Mize and Walker Cooper with one down in the 11th.

Earlier, Mize ruined a fine hurling performance by starter Howie Pollet by clouting his 15th round-tripper of the season with the bases loaded in the sixth inning. Box:

JOE LOUIS BECOMES FATHER OF A SON

SAN DIEGO, Calif., June 6 (AP)—Joe Louis announced today that he is the father of a son he hopes someday will succeed him on the heavyweight boxing throne.

The heavyweight champ, playing golf here today, confirmed reports from Mexico City that Mrs. Marva Trotter Louis, had given birth to a son last May 28 to whom she had given the name Joe Louis, Jr.

"Yes, it's so," Louis said as he teed off the sixth hole.

He also disclosed that he and Marva had remarried a year ago. They were divorced in 1945 and have another child, Jacqueline, aged four.

Asked if he expected his son to become a champion, he replied.

"I hope so. If he's as lucky as I am, he will be."

What was heralded as a game between two evenly matched teams turned out to be a rout yesterday when Lacy's Delicatets ran roughshod over the Amvets to the tune of 16 to 4 at Taylor Field and increased their lead to one and one-half games in the City Softball League race.

The team sponsored by Lacy Cifala got the jump in the game by ringing up four runs in the first inning and was never headed. Home runs were responsible for nine of the winners' tallies, Junior Hardy hit for the circuit with two aboard in the first frame, "Babe" Crabtree followed suit in the fifth and Vernon Penner duplicated in the seventh.

In gaining revenge for a 3-1 setback of May 16, Lacy's belted Allen Sheetz for 13 hits, Ted Durbin, "Ship" Hawse, Vernor Penner and Walter "Pooch" Orndorff banging out two blows each.

One of the largest crowds of the current softball season was on hand when the game started but many of the spectators "took a walk" in the 5th after the Delicatets had piled up an 11-4 lead.

Tommy Geatz homered in the 4th and Lou Bell hit for the circuit with two aboard in the seventh. George obtained two of the seven hits credited to the Amvets.

Gene Scaletta went the route for the victors to notch his fourth straight victory.

Skidmore's Homer Wins

A home run to left-center by Raymond "Dinks" Skidmore in the eighth inning enabled the North End Social and Athletic Club to win an over time thriller from the Veterans of Foreign Wars at East Side Field. The score was 2-1.

Don Bennett, formerly of Canton, Ohio, let the Vets down with three hits—singles by Abe, Duncan and Fisher, while his mates nicked Wright for eight, four of which were shared by Skidmore and Mike Mulvey.

Astor Cab regained third place in the league by hanging a 4-2 defeat on the Maccabees on the Rolling Mill field. Underdonk was the winning pitcher and Swick the loser.

Reed's Beat Merchants

Reed's Electricians took the measure of the Virginia Avenue Merchantson Penn Avenue field by the score of 9 to 5. Porter featured afield by turning in a shoestring catch on Morgan's hit to left-center while Barnes topped the Electricians' attack with two hits in three trips to the plate. Mullen and Morgan got two hits for the losers.

The American Legion defeated Concord Clothiers at Community Park by the score of 5 to 3.

It was announced last night that the postponed game between Reed's and Concord Clothiers will be played Sunday at 6 p. m. at East Side field. The scores:

TOMMY YAROSZ WINS OVER JIMMY EDGAR

DETROIT, June 6. (AP)—Stout-hearted Tommy Yarosz, Monaca, Pa., middleweight, repeated a previous victory over Detroit's Jimmy Edgar in a furious ten-round battle at Olympia tonight.

Attempting to avenge last months split-decision loss to the clever easterner, Edgar looked for a time like he'd do it by giving Yarosz a pasting in the sixth round but Tommy got back into stride.

Tommy came back in the seventh, which was even, and then threw everything in the book at Edgar over the last three heats to win a unanimous decision and his 27th consecutive triumph. Both judges and the referee voted for Tommy.

A right to the jaw dropped Edgar in the tenth, but he got up without a count.

A crowd of 6,600 saw the fight. Yarosz weighed 162, Edgar 160.

Furgol Posts 63, Nine-Under-Par, In Capital Open

Sam Snead Gets 65 To Lead With 131

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP) — Ed Furgol, the Pontiac, Mich., golfer whose arms don't match, sank a 20-foot putt on the 18th hole today to score an astonishing nine-under par 63 and set a new course record in the $10,000 National Capital Open Golf Tournament.

It was the second time today the Prince Georges Country Club course record had been shattered.

Snead Holds Lead

Slammin' Sammy Snead earlier had shot a seven-under par 65 to snap the course record, his two-day score of 131 giving him a three-stroke lead at the tournament half-way mark. Furgol had a 75 yesterday, making his two-day score 138, seven strokes behind Snead.

But hardly had the cheering for Snead, the Hot Springs, Va., hotshot died away, than Furgol sank his long putt, to achieve his unusual score, despite his physical difficulties.

His left arm was broken when he was 12 years old. It wasn't set properly, and the arm never grew. Furgol gets only about a two-thirds swing, but apparently that's all he needs.

Bobby Locke of Johannesburg, South Africa, played with Furgol today. Said Locke:

"I never saw as pretty a round of golf. With a bit of luck on his putts, he might have had a 60, you know."

Unfortunately for Furgol, he had a 75 yesterday. His 138 two-day total left him seven strokes behind the fast-travelling Snead.

There was a two-way tie for second place, at 134, between George Payton of Hampton, Va., and Tom Wright of Knoxville, Tenn.

Locke, winner of four of the six U. S. tournaments in which he has played, was having a mite of trouble with his second shot. He added a 68—"and I was lucky to get it"—to his 67 for a 135.

With him were Jimmy Thomson of Chicopee Falls, Mass., Ellsworth Vines of Los Angeles and a local amateur and Georgetown University student, Billy Griffin.

29 Shoot Under 144

Par took an unmerciful beating again, and 29 golfers still are under the regulation 144.

The previous Prince Georges course record of 66 was set last summer by Lew Worsham, a local boy who plays out of Oakmont, Pa. It was tied three times yesterday by Snead, Thomson and E. J. Harrison of York, Pa.

Harrison was one exception to the par-breaking habit today, he had a 72—even par—and his 138 dropped him to a four way tie for 13th place.

Emerick Annexes Conference Swat Title With .455

Scott And Esposito Retain 1946 Berths

Richard Emerick, third baseman of Hyndman High School, won the batting championship of the Tri-State Interscholastic Baseball Conference this year with an average of 4.55.

He figured in the ten games played by the Pennsylvania team and connected for 15 hits in 33 trips to the plate.

Scott Is Repeater

Runner-up honors went to Harold Scott, of Beall, who larruped the ball at a .433 clip. Scott, incidentally, finished in the same position in 1946 when his average was .467.

Elmer Freeland, Fort Hill first sacker, who topped the hitters of the circuit a year ago with an average of .469 wound up this year with a puny .133.

Jim Murray, of Beall, was third with .429 and had hit in the first nine games before being stopped by Tom Jamison of A. H. S. in the final game of the season.

John Esposito, LaSalle shortstop, who was fourth in 1946, retained that berth by hitting the pellet for an even .400 while Jimmie Manges, of Fort Hill was fifth with .345.

Only 10 players who participated in all of the games hit above .300 mark for the season.

Hits In 10 Straight

Bob Fennell, Allegany outfielder, was the only player in the circuit to hit safely in ten consecutive games. The single which drove home the winning run against Beall on Thursday gave Fennell the record in that department. His batting average was .333.

Jim Delaney, of LaSalle, who turned back Beall twice, went through the season with a record of five wins and no losses. Max Stowell pitched in eight of the 10 games played by Beall, winning five and losing three. Delaney won non and lost two in 1946.

Johnny Waltman, the Hyndman Flash of 1946 with five wins and two defeats, found the going rough this year and bagged only one victory against five setbacks. He dropped 2-1 and 5-4 games to AHS and a 1-0 classic to Beall. His lone win was over Fort Hill, 1-0.

LaMotta Trounces Janiro In Garden Fight

Tony Collapses In Final Round, Bell Saves Him

New Yorker Explodes "Fixed" Bout Rumors

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, June 6. (AP) — Jake LaMotta, the boxing bull from the Bronx, went on a slugging spree after a slow start tonight to whip Tony Janiro in ten rounds and explode the rumors of a fixed fight at one and the same time at Madison Square Garden. Lamotta scaled 154¼; Janiro 149¼.

Outgunned and outweighed by the rugged rough slugger they call the Bronx fire hywrant, Janiro never had a chance after the first two rounds and was on the verge of a knockout from the sixth round on. But in one of the gamer exhibitions this big battle pit has seen in years, the youngster from Youngstown held on until four seconds from the finish, then collapsed, and was flat on his back at the finish—saved by the bell.

Gives Jake Eight Rounds

The count reached four—then the bell sounded ending the fight, with LaMotta an easy and one-sided winner of the unanimous decision. None of the three officials gave Janiro more than three rounds. The Associated Press score gave LaMotta eight rounds, one to Janiro and called one even.

But from the start to finish it was a free-for-all slugging match that completely laughed off the rumors, that there was something "wrong" with the match—rumors, incidentally, which the bookmakers completely disregarded by installing Jake as a lop-sided 5 to 17 betting favorite.

It was reported the district attorney's office was "interested" in the fight for some reason or other, and it was learned that Frankie Jacob's, Janiro's manager, was questioned by the prosecutor yesterday. This questioning, however, was said to have centered around whether Jacobs was threatened concerning his intention of claiming the $15,000 forfeit LaMotta would have had to pay if he failed to make the agreed-on 155 pounds.

LaMotta Makes Weight

The manager insisted he had not been threatened and that he would demand the forfeit. However, LaMotta made the weight by three quarters of a pound today and the question simply evaporated like his weight.

Tudor Minstrel Favored To Win

By BILL MACKLIN

EPSOM DOWNS, England, June 6 (AP) — Jockey Gordon Richards, the world champion of race riders, will change his boots tomorrow and try to change his luck in the 168th running of the English Derby—and he'll be trying it, too, with the colt many Britishers are calling "the horse of the century."

This one is Tudor Minstrel, the long-barreled husky who is not only unbeaten, up to now, but has been so far out in front in his six starts this year and last that he actually is even unthreatened and unchallenged. He won the first leg of Britain's triple crown — the 2,000 guineas — a few weeks ago by seven lengths, with Richards patting him on the neck and easing him up yards before the finish.

The flying son of the 1941 Derby winner, Owen Tudor, heads a field of 14 certain and three doubtful starters who will parade to the post at 3 p. m. (GMT)—8 a. m., Eastern Standard Time—tomorrow in this renewal of the ancient British mile-and-a-half, attended by all the color and the tradition of the Derby down through the years. The royal family will lead the hundreds of thousands in the annual trek to the downs, although this time King George's colors will be missing, since Blue Train was scratched early this week.

At tonight's final pre-race call-over of odds, the minstrel man was a prohibitive 5 to 4 betting choice, and if he wins, he would be the shortest-priced dandy since the mighty Bahram came home at the same odds a dozen years ago.

For Richards, Tudor Minstrel stands out as the final topper to a career that has had everything except a Derby climax. The 43-year-old booter has piled up close to 3,300 wins since he quit as an office boy at 14 to try race-riding. No other jockey in any country ever hit that mark. Yet, he never has won the Derby.

Chanteur II Scores; Bought For $280,000

EPSOM DOWNS, England, June 6 (AP)—Chanteur II won the Coronation Cup today by five lengths a few hours after London bookmaker William Hill paid a reported 70,000 pounds ($280,000) for the five-year-old French horse.

It was Chanteur's sixth victory this season, half of them in England including the Winston Churchill Stakes May 24 and the White Rose Stakes two days later—a feat that earned him a reputation for stamina and versatility.

Dixie Merchants Win Over Western Maryland

Staging a three run rally in the last of the seventh and final inning, the Dixie Merchants came from behind to edge Western Maryland in a Frankfort District Softball League game yesterday at Ridgeley by the score of 8 to 7. The score:

RATTERMAN, FORMER NOTRE DAME PLAYER, SIGNS WITH BISONS

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 6 (AP)—George Ratterman, 20-year-old ex-Notre Dame quarterback, today signed a two-year contract with the Buffalo Bisons of the All-America Football Conference.

The 180-pound Cincinnatian who saw action in eight of Notre Dame's nine games last season, had disclosed Wednesday that he was giving up his fourth year in college to play with the Bisons for $1,000 a year. He added he would return to school next spring to "make up enough studies to graduate."

General Manager Carl (Bus) Owen said Conference Commissioner Jonas B. Ingram had sanctioned the contract, ruling that Ratterman was eligible as soon as his college class had graduated.

Sports Editor Will Fight Here Monday

Klosterman Gets Post On Alcohi Mirror

Local boxing fans will see a Cumberland sports editor show his wares within the ring when the American Legion stages its amateur boxing show Monday night at the state armory.

The "hunt and peck' artist is none other than Jackie Klosterman, scrappy junior welterweight, who is slated to fight Clarence Jenkins, of St. Mary's Boys' Club, in one of the three-round matches topped by the tournament open class welterweight championship battle between Jack's brother, Jim, and Randall "Skeets" Starkey, Ridgeley High School student, who has won 10 consecutive matches.

Jack Klosterman now rates the title "sports editor" because he was elected to that post on the Alcohi Mirror, student publication of Allegany High School. He succeeds Noyes "Tommy" Powers and Tommy Jamison.

Another outstanding match on the card will be that between Earl Smith, Legion scrapper, and Bobby Goss, of the Royale A. C., for the open flyweight title in the Legion's tri-state tourney which ends on Monday night.

Melvin Washington will fight Carlton Shore for the right to meet Dick Kemp, of Frostburg, for the 135-pound novice title.

A return bout between Jake Koelker and Pat Murphy will likely be arranged and Bill Henry, of the Diamond A. C. will probably face Frankie Lisanti in the curtain raiser.

Matchmaker Robert V. "Sparky" Chisholm announces the show will get under way at 8:15.

Frostburg Elks Win On Middleton's Hit

FROSTBURG, June 6 — Manager Ray Middleton delivered a single in the final inning to drive home the run that gave the Frostburg B. P. O. Elks a 5 to 4 decision over the Boo Hoo Club of Lonaconing today at State Teachers' College Field.

The Elks jumped away to a 4-0 lead, three of the runs coming in when Johnny Crowe blasted a triple with the bases loaded. 'Coney scored three in the second and one in the fourth to knot the count at 4-all.

Render and Middleton had two hits each for the victors while Smith paced the visitors with two bingles. Score:

BOO HOO CLUB	030	100	0—4	3	0
FROSTBURG ELKS	400	000	1—5	9	0

Henry Cotton Wins

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, June 6 (AP)—Henry Cotton, kingpin of the British professionals, broke into the win column for the first time this season today by capturing the $5,000 Spalding tournament with a four under par 288.

His four rounds over the par 73 old course at St. Andrews were 74, 69, 71 and 74.

"After trying for 20 years I have at last won at St. Andrews," the 40-year old Cotton said when getting his first prize check of $1,200.

Gene Burton Wins

CHICAGO, Ill., June 6. (AP)—Gene Burton, stand-up walloper from New York, knocked another dent in the championship aspirations of Chicago's Johnny Bratton tonight by decisively defeating him in a ten round battle in the Chicago Stadium.

The verdict of the two judges and Referee Davey Miller was unanimous.

The bout was witnessed by a shirt-sleeved crowd of 14,000 spectators who contributed a $62,649 gate.

Marshall Belts Three-Run Homer, Giants Win, 7-4

Circuit Clout Sinks Boston In Eleventh

NEW YORK, June 6 (AP)—Home runs by Johnny Mize and Willard Marshall accounted for all of New York's runs today as the Giants downed the St. Louis Cardinals, 7-4 in 11 innings to gain their sixth straight victory over the hapless champions.

Marshall broke up the game with a three-run circuit blast in the second extra inning off Ken Burkart, third St. Louis pitcher.

Burkhart, who was charged with the Card's last setback in New York, May 1 when Mize homered one on in the seventh, relieved Jim Hearn after the rookie righthander walked Mize and Walker Cooper with one down in the 11th.

Earlier, Mize ruined a fine hurling performance by starter Howie Pollet by clouting his 15th round-tripper of the season with the bases loaded in the sixth inning. Box:

SAN DIEGO, Calif., June 6 (AP)—Joe Louis announced today that he is the father of a son he hopes someday will succeed him on the heavyweight boxing throne.

The heavyweight champ, playing golf here today, confirmed reports from Mexico City that Mrs. Marva Trotter Louis, had given birth to a son last May 28 to whom she had given the name Joe Louis, Jr.

"Yes, it's so," Louis said as he teed off the sixth hole.

He also disclosed that he and Marva had remarried a year ago. They were divorced in 1945 and have another child, Jacqueline, aged four.

Asked if he expected his son to become a champion, he replied.

"I hope so. If he's as lucky as I am, he will be."

What was heralded as a game between two evenly matched teams turned out to be a rout yesterday when Lacy's Delicatets ran roughshod over the Amvets to the tune of 16 to 4 at Taylor Field and increased their lead to one and one-half games in the City Softball League race.

The team sponsored by Lacy Cifala got the jump in the game by ringing up four runs in the first inning and was never headed. Home runs were responsible for nine of the winners' tallies, Junior Hardy hit for the circuit with two aboard in the first frame, "Babe" Crabtree followed suit in the fifth and Vernon Penner duplicated in the seventh.

In gaining revenge for a 3-1 setback of May 16, Lacy's belted Allen Sheetz for 13 hits, Ted Durbin, "Ship" Hawse, Vernor Penner and Walter "Pooch" Orndorff banging out two blows each.

One of the largest crowds of the current softball season was on hand when the game started but many of the spectators "took a walk" in the 5th after the Delicatets had piled up an 11-4 lead.

Tommy Geatz homered in the 4th and Lou Bell hit for the circuit with two aboard in the seventh. George obtained two of the seven hits credited to the Amvets.

Gene Scaletta went the route for the victors to notch his fourth straight victory.

Skidmore's Homer Wins

A home run to left-center by Raymond "Dinks" Skidmore in the eighth inning enabled the North End Social and Athletic Club to win an over time thriller from the Veterans of Foreign Wars at East Side Field. The score was 2-1.

Don Bennett, formerly of Canton, Ohio, let the Vets down with three hits—singles by Abe, Duncan and Fisher, while his mates nicked Wright for eight, four of which were shared by Skidmore and Mike Mulvey.

Astor Cab regained third place in the league by hanging a 4-2 defeat on the Maccabees on the Rolling Mill field. Underdonk was the winning pitcher and Swick the loser.

Reed's Beat Merchants

Reed's Electricians took the measure of the Virginia Avenue Merchantson Penn Avenue field by the score of 9 to 5. Porter featured afield by turning in a shoestring catch on Morgan's hit to left-center while Barnes topped the Electricians' attack with two hits in three trips to the plate. Mullen and Morgan got two hits for the losers.

The American Legion defeated Concord Clothiers at Community Park by the score of 5 to 3.

TOMMY YAROSZ WINS OVER JIMMY EDGAR

DETROIT, June 6. (AP)—Stout-hearted Tommy Yarosz, Monaca, Pa., middleweight, repeated a previous victory over Detroit's Jimmy Edgar in a furious ten-round battle at Olympia tonight.

Attempting to avenge last months split-decision loss to the clever easterner, Edgar looked for a time like he'd do it by giving Yarosz a pasting in the sixth round but Tommy got back into stride.

Tommy came back in the seventh, which was even, and then threw everything in the book at Edgar over the last three heats to win a unanimous decision and his 27th consecutive triumph. Both judges and the referee voted for Tommy.

A right to the jaw dropped Edgar in the tenth, but he got up without a count.

A crowd of 6,600 saw the fight. Yarosz weighed 162, Edgar 160.

Sam Snead Gets 65 To Lead With 131

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP) — Ed Furgol, the Pontiac, Mich., golfer whose arms don't match, sank a 20-foot putt on the 18th hole today to score an astonishing nine-under par 63 and set a new course record in the $10,000 National Capital Open Golf Tournament.

It was the second time today the Prince Georges Country Club course record had been shattered.

Snead Holds Lead

Slammin' Sammy Snead earlier had shot a seven-under par 65 to snap the course record, his two-day score of 131 giving him a three-stroke lead at the tournament half-way mark. Furgol had a 75 yesterday, making his two-day score 138, seven strokes behind Snead.

But hardly had the cheering for Snead, the Hot Springs, Va., hotshot died away, than Furgol sank his long putt, to achieve his unusual score, despite his physical difficulties.

His left arm was broken when he was 12 years old. It wasn't set properly, and the arm never grew. Furgol gets only about a two-thirds swing, but apparently that's all he needs.

Bobby Locke of Johannesburg, South Africa, played with Furgol today. Said Locke:

"I never saw as pretty a round of golf. With a bit of luck on his putts, he might have had a 60, you know."

Unfortunately for Furgol, he had a 75 yesterday. His 138 two-day total left him seven strokes behind the fast-travelling Snead.

There was a two-way tie for second place, at 134, between George Payton of Hampton, Va., and Tom Wright of Knoxville, Tenn.

Locke, winner of four of the six U. S. tournaments in which he has played, was having a mite of trouble with his second shot. He added a 68—"and I was lucky to get it"—to his 67 for a 135.

With him were Jimmy Thomson of Chicopee Falls, Mass., Ellsworth Vines of Los Angeles and a local amateur and Georgetown University student, Billy Griffin.

29 Shoot Under 144

Par took an unmerciful beating again, and 29 golfers still are under the regulation 144.

The previous Prince Georges course record of 66 was set last summer by Lew Worsham, a local boy who plays out of Oakmont, Pa. It was tied three times yesterday by Snead, Thomson and E. J. Harrison of York, Pa.

Harrison was one exception to the par-breaking habit today, he had a 72—even par—and his 138 dropped him to a four way tie for 13th place.

Emerick Annexes Conference Swat Title With .455

Scott And Esposito Retain 1946 Berths

Richard Emerick, third baseman of Hyndman High School, won the batting championship of the Tri-State Interscholastic Baseball Conference this year with an average of 4.55.

He figured in the ten games played by the Pennsylvania team and connected for 15 hits in 33 trips to the plate.

Scott Is Repeater

Runner-up honors went to Harold Scott, of Beall, who larruped the ball at a .433 clip. Scott, incidentally, finished in the same position in 1946 when his average was .467.

Elmer Freeland, Fort Hill first sacker, who topped the hitters of the circuit a year ago with an average of .469 wound up this year with a puny .133.

Jim Murray, of Beall, was third with .429 and had hit in the first nine games before being stopped by Tom Jamison of A. H. S. in the final game of the season.

John Esposito, LaSalle shortstop, who was fourth in 1946, retained that berth by hitting the pellet for an even .400 while Jimmie Manges, of Fort Hill was fifth with .345.

Only 10 players who participated in all of the games hit above .300 mark for the season.

Hits In 10 Straight

Bob Fennell, Allegany outfielder, was the only player in the circuit to hit safely in ten consecutive games. The single which drove home the winning run against Beall on Thursday gave Fennell the record in that department. His batting average was .333.

Jim Delaney, of LaSalle, who turned back Beall twice, went through the season with a record of five wins and no losses. Max Stowell pitched in eight of the 10 games played by Beall, winning five and losing three. Delaney won non and last two in 1946.

Johnny Waltman, the Hyndman Flash of 1946 with five wins and two defeats, found the going rough this year and bagged only one victory against five setbacks. He dropped 2-1 and 5-4 games to AHS and a 1-0 classic to Beall. His lone win was over Fort Hill, 1-0.

The averages of all players five or more times at bat:

NEVER LET ANYONE SELL YOU SHORT

Never let anyone sell you short.

Never let anyone destroy your essential faith in yourself . . . your stubborn belief in your own inner strength and decency.

FOR THAT DEEP ROOTED SELF CONFIDENCE IS THE GREATEST ASSET IN YOUR LIFE. IT IS THE FNAL SOURCE OF YOUR HAPPINESS AND SUCCESS AND THE LACK OF IT THE CAUSE OF YOUR DESPAIR AND FAILURE. YOU MUST PRESERVE IT AT ALL COSTS OR YOU ARE LOST.

Made mistakes? Of course you have. Who hasn't?

Wasted priceless opportunities? Who doesn't?

Made a fool of yourself over and over again . . . inflicted hurts you can never undo though you weep through all eternity. That is just another way of saying that you're human. So mark it down to credit and loss and go ahead with your chin up.

Never mind if the whole world points the finger of scorn at you. As long as you don't point the finger of scorn at yourself you're safe.

Never mind if others do not give you a square deal. If you give yourself a square deal you'll get along.

There is no one force in life which can so deeply make or mar you as your own opinion of yourself. I don't mean vanity or self deception. I mean that deeply rooted feeling which every normal man has in his own integrity. If you lose that you have lost your grip on life itself. If you keep that there is no hole so deep that you cannot rise from it, no sneers so sharp that they cannot be turned aside, no goal so high that you cannot achieve it.

The world is full of advisers today. We have whole encyclopedias on development issued by every press and under every pretext. But the truth by which you will stand or fall is your own inner attitude toward yourself.

Never mind about the blunders of the past nor the errors of the future. Stop tearing in grief or shame at your weak and mortal heart.

BELIEVE IN YOURSELF AND YOU WILL BELIEVE IN THE ONLY ELEMENT UPON WHICH YOU CAN TRULY RELY. FOR THAT INNER SELF IS MORE THAN FLESH AND BLOOD AND BONE. IT IS SPIRIT. IT DEFIES. ALL MEASUREMENT OR ANALYTICAL TABULATION.

Long ago the old Jews tried to explain it, telling the history of man's creation and how God molded His child from clay and into that clay breathed the spark of His eternal omnipotence.

No psychologist has ever given a truer picture of man's nature than that history which is contained in Genesis. We are all clay and we act like the creatures of clay—even the best of us. But deep inside us there is a spark burning full and undefiled, a spark which has come down from the beginning of history.

It doesn't matter greatly what others think about you or say about you. It matters infinitely what you say and think about yourself.

Think of yourself as you would think of a god for you are part god. Believe in yourself no matter how you have sullied your record. Consider your mistakes with decent humility and regret but do not linger over them. Go on, pick yourself out of that gutter of humiliation. Wipe off those lurking smears of regret and fear and stand god high, chin up, ready to be the thing you were meant to be—master of your soul.

My New York

By MEL HEIMER

Mel Heimer

NEW YORK—There was a time when the world was young and there was a Paul Whiteman record of "Avalon" in every parlor, that the New York resident who wanted to be the perfect host would have to produce three items for his visiting country cousins: (1) Jimmy Walker, (2) the woolworth building, (3) an Automat.

The years pass. There is no more Jimmy Walker; he sleeps the deep sleep and thus the carnation is gone from the city's buttonhole. There is still a Woolworth building, true, but its day in the sun is over. It stands morosely on lower Broadway; sightseers atop the Empire State building, to the north, occasionally glance politely its way.

The Automat, though—it goes on forever. One would think that in this day of television and similar mechanical monstrosities, the mere business of putting a couple of nickels in a slot and pulling out a sandwich would be only moderately titillating to sensation-bound visitors. But no; they still demand of us, after we have dutifully taken in such standard tourist cabins as the Diamond Horseshoe, Twenty-One and the like, that we march them into an Automat.

I had no uncle from Dubuque or nephew from Milwaukee in tow the other night but I dropped into one of the two-score Automats anyway to see if they still held their chief attraction for the native New Yorker—good food at low prices. They do.

Gothamites, of course, are the greatest bargain hunters in the world. They have patronized Automats since the beginning of time not because they are fascinated by the tricky way of getting the food (I can see old Automats patrons asking blandly, "Is there ANOTHER way?") but because (1) the meat and potatoes are excellent, (2) the coffee—coffee drinkers tell me—is out of this world, and (3) you don't have to tip.

New Yorkers tip lavishly, because that is the New York way, but let me tell you confidentially—they tip reductantly, deep down in what Noel Coward has called their deepest heart.

The place was just as I found it 15 years ago, when I was a high school student and it was just an adventure to "eat out." Automats have as much atmosphere, in their way, as Dinty Moore's on the west side, or White's, downtown.

Neither the tables nor the floors are spotless, but no smoking is allowed and the air is clean and cool and it is a lot quieter than some of the lifted-pinky salt licks to which our wealthier does and stags make their way nosily at feeding time.

The chairs are plainly upholstered in red and green leather, and you can still get your own tray and cutlery and glasses of water. Four complete strangers still dine with each other at one table, without glancing up from their newspapers, and there still are occasional men and women, weary and blank-looking, who sit and stare at one knows not what, their coffee cooling unnoticed on the tables before them.

I had chopped steak—we call it salisbury, when we are in our dinner jackets—beans, mashed potatoes, lettuce and potato salad, tea biscuits and peach pie for 80 cents.

By getting into the spirit of things and crowding ahead of two women having trouble making up their minds at the hot-dish counter, I drew a withering glare and one of those "We were here ahead of HIM" routines that put me in into my place.

A woman at the salad counter was complaining that in the 45th Street Automat they gave her celery stalks and why not here? One of the bus boys collecting dirty dishes looked meditatively around, set down his sad burden and went over and had a cup of hot coffee, which he sipped slowly and dreamily, his chores forgotten.

There was a warming burble and hum to the room, a peaceful rhythm as a part of New York slowed down its pace for the dinner hour, munching his meal serenely as it read detachedly and calmly of the latest murders, muggings and arsons.

I don't know when next I will be an Automat guest, but until that happy day, I will carry one fond memory with me. The tops of the mustard jars are clean. It is like finding that the women you love keeps the seams of her stockings straight.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD—Last Sunday, on my broadcast, Jane Wyman stated that she got her education at Warners. Well, today Jack Warner promised to continue her education by giving her a straight ten-year contract which starts the first of January. Not bad for a little girl who left her readin', writin' and 'rithmetic so young to become an actress.

And, by the way, our announcement that Jane and her legally wedded spouse, Ronald Reagan, were endowing Ronnie's alma mater, Eureka College, with a speech and arts building, brought forth a telegram of appreciation to me from Peoria, Ill., from Burrus Dickinson, president of Ronnie's college.

I told Ronnie I hoped Dixon wouldn't get mad and expect me to endow the Dixon College.

"Hardy possible," said Ronnie, "That's a shoe factory now."

And here I've been bragging that I went to Dixon College.

I've been told that Celia Johnson is one British actress who can't be lured to Hollywood, even though we nominated her for an Oscar in "Brief Encounter." The lady has preferred to remain at home with her husband, her children and her pick of English movies.

But hold on Peter Viertel has just sold Milton Sperling "The Children"—a potent yarn about the displaced children wandering Europe today, and on his way back from the contient he stopped off in London to see Miss Johnson.

She was so very impressed with the story that she wants to do it and what particularly intrigued her is that half of it will be made in Europe and half in Hollywood. She wouldn't mind a quick visit here to see what all the fanfare is about—and then back to home and husband.

Jules Munshin, who made a hit on the Broadway stage in "Call Me Mister," is due in Hollywood June 15—for the movies, of course. Although he's been a comedian for years, the script first sent him by MGM called for him to play a gangster.

Munshin is a smart boy. He said he would wait until he reaches here to talk to MGM, the studio that holds his contract. But I have more information for him. He's going to get a comedy role. That gangster script was somebody's mistake.

Another player from the "Call Me Mister" show, Betty Garrett (Mrs. Larry Parks), is also at MGM.

They used to keep it very secret when a famous singer "dubbed in" a voice for a screen star. But ever since Al Jolson's singing made a sensation of Larry Parks, things are different.

Now it's Betty Hutton (no mean warbler herself) who will do a Larry Parks to Nadine Conner's beautiful metropolitan voice when she opens and shuts her mouth for "One Fine Day" in "Dream Girl."

What's more, Betty doesn't care who knows it. "Yipes!" said my little blonde friend, "can you imagine what I would do to that aria from 'Madame Butterfly?' One hog call from me and the guy would run out twice on poor Butterfly."

P. S. Betty, of course, continues with her own singing. Miss Conner's voice is only in the sequence where Betty imagines she is an opera star.

On June 19, that grand young lady of the screen, Dame May Whitty, will be 82 years old—and she has already received a birthday present, a wonderful part in "If Winter Comes."

Perhaps I should say MGM received the birthday gift because Dame May will be wonderful as the heroic Widow Perch who losse her only son in the war. Dame May is in good company, too, with Walter Pidgeon as the husband, Deborah Kerr as the wife and Angela Lansbury as the girl friend who steals him.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at Random:

Joanie Benny is graduating with highest honors in her class, from the El Rodeo Public Grammar School in Beverly Hills. As a reward she is getting a carton of Hershey bars every week of her life from Jack Parr, who is replacing Jack Benny on his air show this summer. Parr, it seems, is a relative of the Hershey clan. He'd have to be, wouldn't he?

When Ellen Ross, the MGM actress, confessed that she married Bobby Anderson last Sunday, she was given a week's honeymoon by Arthur Freed.

The whole Bob Hope family leaves later this month for South America—that is, the two older children and Dolores.

Our vital statistics department reports that Elsie, the cow, is expecting. This is not the first time she's to become a mother.

The palaces of Roman nobility contained a throne—to be used when the pope visited them.

National forests of the U. S. include 73-million acres capable of growing commercial timber crops.

U. S. National forests contain about one-third of the national sawtimber stand.

NEW YORK, June 6—President Truman is to be heard on all networks Saturday night as he addresses the reunion dinner of the Twenty-Fifth Division. It is scheduled for 10 p. m. on NBC, CBS and MBS, with ABC reporting that it will carry on its full network at the same hour irrespective of local scheduling.

The Chicago Theater of the Air on MBS at 9 is to be a dramatic-musical "The Chronicle of a Century" in celebration of the cnetennial of the Chicago Tribune. The drama will highlight American history from 1847. Henry Weber directs the music.

Two specials are scheduled: On MBS at 7:30 a dramatic syncopation "The Devil Who Walks Like a Man," on behalf of World youth fund of YMCA; CBS 9:30 drama, "The Two Worlds of Dr. Frederick Banks" in observance of the centennial of the American Medical Association.

NBC is bringing back a couple of summer features. At noon is the Nature Sketch series, originating in the Rocky Mountain national park, Colorado; at 2 p. m. is Saturday Showcase as supplied by talent at affiliated stations, starting with WDAF, Kansas City.

Two different horse race events—Carter handicap at Aqueduct and Newcastle handicap at Delaware park—are to be available. NBC and CBS are carrying the first one ,as is MBS at 3:15. The second also is on MBS at 3:30 with ABC having listed both events at times that will fit into its complicated schedule.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD—Last Sunday, on my broadcast, Jane Wyman stated that she got her education at Warners. Well, today Jack Warner promised to continue her education by giving her a straight ten-year contract which starts the first of January. Not bad for a little girl who left her readin', writin' and 'rithmetic so young to become an actress.

And, by the way, our announcement that Jane and her legally wedded spouse, Ronald Reagan, were endowing Ronnie's alma mater, Eureke College, with a speech and arts building, brought forth a telegram of appreciation to me from Peoria, Ill., from Burrus Dickinson, president of Ronnie's college.

I told Ronnie I hoped Dixon wouldn't get mad and expect me to endow the Dixon College.

"Hardy possible," said Ronnie, "That's a shoe factory now."

And here I've been bragging that I went to Dixon College.

I've been told that Celia Johnson is one British actress who can't be lured to Hollywood, even though we nominated her for an Oscar in "Brief Encounter." The lady has preferred to remain at home with her husband, her children and her pick of English movies.

But hold on Peter Viertel has just sold Milton Sperling "The Children"—a potent yarn about the displaced children wandering Europe today, and on his way back from the contient he stopped off in London to see Miss Johnson.

She was so very impressed with the story that she wants to do it and what particularly intrigued her is that half of it will be made in Europe and half in Hollywood. She wouldn't mind a quick visit here to see what all the fanfare is about—and then back to home and husband.

Jules Munshin, who made a hit on the Broadway stage in "Call Me Mister," is due in Hollywood June 15—for the movies, of course. Although he's been a comedian for years, the script first sent him by MGM called for him to play a gangster.

Munshin is a smart boy. He said he would wait until he reaches here to talk to MGM, the studio that holds his contract. But I have more information for him. He's going to get a comedy role. That gangster script was somebody's mistake.

Another player from the "Call Me Mister" show, Betty Garrett (Mrs. Larry Parks), is also at MGM.

They used to keep it very secret when a famous singer "dubbed in" a voice for a screen star. But ever since Al Jolson's singing made a sensation of Larry Parks, things are different.

Now it's Betty Hutton (no mean warbler herself) who will do a Larry Parks to Nadine Conner's beautiful metropolitan voice when she opens and shuts her mouth for "One Fine Day" in "Dream Girl."

What's more, Betty doesn't care who knows it. "Yipes!" said my little blonde friend, "can you imagine what I would do to that aria from 'Madame Butterfly?' One hog call from me and the guy would run out twice on poor Butterfly."

P. S. Betty, of course, continues with her own singing. Miss Conner's voice is only in the sequence where Betty imagines she is an opera star.

On June 19, that grand young lady of the screen, Dame May Whitty, will be 82 years old—and she has already received a birthday present, a wonderful part in "If Winter Comes."

Perhaps I should say MGM received the birthday gift because Dame May will be wonderful as the heroic Widow Perch who losse her only son in the war. Dame May is in good company, too, with Walter Pidgeon as the husband, Deborah Kerr as the wife and Angela Lansbury as the girl friend who steals him.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at Random:

Joanie Benny is graduating with highest honors in her class, from the El Rodeo Public Grammar School in Beverly Hills. As a reward she is getting a carton of Hershey bars every week of her life from Jack Parr, who is replacing Jack Benny on his air show this summer. Parr, it seems, is a relative of the Hershey clan. He'd have to be, wouldn't he?

When Ellen Ross, the MGM actress, confessed that she married Bobby Anderson last Sunday, she was given a week's honeymoon by Arthur Freed.

The whole Bob Hope family leaves later this month for South America—that is, the two older children and Dolores.

Our vital statistics department reports that Elsie, the cow, is expecting. This is not the first time she's to become a mother.

The palaces of Roman nobility contained a throne—to be used when the pope visited them.

National forests of the U. S. include 73-million acres capable of growing commercial timber crops.

U. S. National forests contain about one-third of the national sawtimber stand.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our son and brother, Nicholas Slavko Krnaya, who passed away June 7th, 1941.

Idle are tears shed for the dead,
An empty house whose Tenant fled
To glorious life that's just begun
Calls through his faith: "My race is won!".
So comes the message from Our Son!
And so we dry our tears, who know
There is no Death! . . . Faith tells us so.

Sadly missed by
HIS MOTHER, FATHER, SISTER & BROTHER.

In loving memory of Pvt. Ralph W. Hershman, of Westernport, Md., who was killed in service June 6th, 1944.

We do not need a special day
To bring you to our minds,
The days we do not think of you
Are very hard to find.
If all the world were ours to give,
We would give it, yes, and more
To see the face of our dear one
Come smiling through the door.

Sadly missed by his FAMILY.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Mrs. Emma J. Clem, take this opportunity to express their grateful thanks to those who showed great kindness during the illness and death of their mother.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our son and brother, Nicholas Slavko Krnaya, who passed away June 7th, 1941.

Idle are tears shed for the dead,
An empty house whose Tenant fled
To glorious life that's just begun
Calls through his faith: "My race is won!".
So comes the message from Our Son!
And so we dry our tears, who know
There is no Death! . . . Faith tells us so.

Sadly missed by
HIS MOTHER, FATHER, SISTER & BROTHER.

In loving memory of Pvt. Ralph W. Hershman, of Westernport, Md., who was killed in service June 6th, 1944.

We do not need a special day
To bring you to our minds,
The days we do not think of you
Are very hard to find.
If all the world were ours to give,
We would give it, yes, and more
To see the face of our dear one
Come smiling through the door.

Sadly missed by his FAMILY.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Mrs. Emma J. Clem, take this opportunity to express their grateful thanks to those who showed great kindness during the illness and death of their mother.
ARTHUR, CECIL, MARTHA, MARY and VIRGINIA.

Higher in the Curb were Cities Service, Creole Petroleum and Childs preferred. Turnover of 160,000 shares here compared with 180,000 yesterday.

The bond market held close to previous levels with gains and losses generally limited to fractions.

Sales totaled $2,555,000 compared with $2,720,000 Thursday.

Medium and long-term United States governments ranged from 4-32 lower to 1-32 higher in over-the-counter dealings. The Victory Loan 2½s of December 1967-72 were off 3-32 at 103 1-32 bid, and the 2¼s of December 1959-62 were down 4-32 at 102 16-32 bid.

Motors, Steels And Merchandising Shares Lead Stock Market Upward

NEW YORK, June 6—(AP)—Motors, steels and merchandising shares led the stock market into slightly higher ground today in the final session of the week.

Moderate bidding lifted the list out of early irregularity and although some losers persisted to the finish, gains ranging to more than a point were numerous and some issues closed at the day's best. Total transactions of 660,000 shares compared with 520,000 Thursday.

Standard Oil (NJ) touched a new 1947 high before closing at 73¾, up three-fourths. Bethlehem was ahead 1½ at 80¼, Chrysler 1½ at 100½, General Motors 1¼ at 56, Barnsdall one at 26⅛, Montgomery Ward 1⅝ at 53⅜, and Woolworth one at 47¾. Other prominent gainers included Western Union "A," Great Northern preferred, Baltimore and Ohio, Eastern Air Lines, Atlas Corporation, Joy Manufacturing, Fajardo Sugar, Caterpillar Tractor, Douglas Aircraft, Republic Steel, Sears Roebuck and Westinghouse Electric.

After dipping 11 points to a new low for the year on its first sale after reduction of the quarterly dividend, Pacific Telephone common closed off 9¾ at 96¼. United States Rubber and Goodrich were laggards and others lower included Air Reduction, Johns-Manville and Phelps Dodge.

Higher in the Curb were Cities Service, Creole Petroleum and Childs preferred. Turnover of 160,000 shares here compared with 180,000 yesterday.

The bond market held close to previous levels with gains and losses generally limited to fractions.

Sales totaled $2,555,000 compared with $2,720,000 Thursday.

Medium and long-term United States governments ranged from 4-32 lower to 1-32 higher in over-the-counter dealings. The Victory Loan 2⅛s of December 1967-72 were off 3-32 at 103 1-32 bid, and the 2⅛s of December 1959-62 were down 4-32 at 102 16-32 bid.

Celanese Dispute Continues After 15-Hour Session

Negotiations End With "Nothing To Report"

Holden Says No Meetings Slated

A 15-hour negotiating session between Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, and the Celanese Corporation of America broke up this morning at 1:30 o'clock without making any significant change in the contract deadlock which led to a strike at the Celanese plant May 30.

The session began yesterday morning shortly after 10 o'clock and lasted until early this morning when the meeting broke up without an agreement on the issues.

James A. Holden, federal conciliator, who with Mrs. Margaret Kimble, acting commissioner of labor and industry for Maryland, called the meeting in an effort to break the deadlock, said there was really "nothing to report" from the lengthy session.

He added he thought there was "a bit of progress" made in the session yesterday. The next meeting between the parties, he said, will be called by him and Mrs. Kimble.

William Boyd Coleman, union president, said early this morning there was "nothing to report" as a result of the meeting. The conciliator, he added, will arrange the next meeting to be held.

When asked if it looked at any time during the negotiations as if there was a chance for a settlement, his only reply was, "Are you kidding?"

He added, "There is no progress and that covers everything."

The meeting ended early this morning without an agreement, Edward R. Allan, plant personnel manager, who has headed the company negotiating team, reported.

Any further meetings will be adjourned until arranged by the conciliator, he added. He said there was "not much progress" as a result of the lengthy session.

The session, called by federal and state labor officials in an attempt to break the deadlock which has existed since the union rejected what it termed the company's "final" offer on May 28 and called the strike effective May 30 at 11 p. m., was termed by James A. Holden, federal conciliator, as "exploratory."

Discussions, however, continued all morning and were resumed after brief time-outs for lunch and dinner and indicated that at least sufficient progress was being made to justify the continuance of negotiations.

The discussion directly between the disputing parties was the first since Monday and came as a result of a series of separate conferences conducted by James A. Holden, federal conciliator, and Mrs. Margaret W. Kimble, acting commissioner of labor and industry for Maryland.

6 Issues Listed

The issues appear to center around the following problems.

1. A union request for time and one-half pay for Saturday, double time for Sunday, a paid lunch period for day-shift workers, and pay for holidays not worked.
2. A company request for amending the cooperation clause.
3. A company request for a change in the wording of a transfer clause.
4. A union request for some wage reopening provision and the company's stand for stabilized conditions.
5. A union desire for a security clause such as the union shop.
6. A union desire to negotiate a pension plan.

On the cooperation issue the union has previously indicated its willingness to accept the company clause which concerns "a fair day's work" if the company agree to arbitrate disputes over workloads and compensation.

The current transfer clause gives the company the "right to transfer across divisional lines to avoid short time, furlough or overtime where it is reasonably anticipated that the conditions causing short time, furlough or overtime will continue two weeks or longer." Apparently the company wants the "two weeks" part eliminated and the union opposes this on the grounds that abuses may result.

Wage reopening, union shop and pension proposals are not believed to offer bars to a settlement.

The Celanese announced yesterday that pay checks for hourly rated employes for the week ending May 31 will be distributed at the State Armory Monday from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. and on Tuesday from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., and from Wednesday on at the office on the second floor of the Footer building from 9 a .m. to 4 p m.

The arrangement, a company official said, is the same as was used after the explosion of June, 1943.

The plant was reported on a standby basis yesterday and not more than 120 workers were expected to report today to the plant employing some 9,000 hourly rated employes.

Although union officials were not available at midnight for comment, it is presumed that a full report of the progress of negotiations will be presented at a meeting of the 368-member strike committee scheduled this morning at 10 o'clock at the union hall.

W. Va. Justices, Constables Get Increase In Fees

First Raise In 50 Years Is Granted

West Virginia justices of the peace and constables began Thursday to operate on a new system of fees, as provided in a law enacted by the State Legislature at its recent assembly, which, according to officials, will give them a "small" increase in income.

Justice of the Peace C. A. Jewell, Ridgeley, said last night the new fee system will represent a much more substantial increase to constables than it does to magistrates, but added it is the first increase of any kind the estate has provided for such officials in the past half century.

Deal With Summonses

The increases deal mostly with the issuance and service of summonses and making returns on them. One of the more radical changes in the bill requires justices to collect fees for themselves and for constables in advance.

Fees for justices will remain at $3 for criminal cases, but a defendant released for hearing will pay $2 for bond and the same amount if held for grand jury action.

In civil cases, justices are permitted to charge $3 for themselves and $1.50 for the constables. For swearing of witnesses, including the plaintiff and defendant, the justice will receive 15 cents each.

In criminal cases constables will get $1.50 for serving a felony warrant instead of the 75 cents formerly collected and $1 for a misdemeanor warrant instead of 50 cents.

Allowed Five Cents A Mile

Constables are allowed five cents a mile traveling expenses for going after a defendant in criminal cases and 10 cents a mile for bringing a defendant to jail. Formerly they were paid only if the defenant was brought in. No mileage is allowed in civil cases.

The constables will also receive $6.50 for attachments made on personal property where they formerly received $4.50. Justices will receive an additional 25 cents for each additional summons served in excess of two where he formerly received $3 regardless of the number.

For taking property under attachment a constable now receives $2.50 representing an increase of $1.

Under the new law, which was sponsored by the Minor Judiciary Association of West Virginia, a list of the new fees must be posted in the office of each justice, Magistrate Jewell said.

Meat Cutters Win 7 1-2 Cent Increase At Swift Plant

Local 322, Amalgamated Meat Cutters Union, AFL, completed negotiations yesterday on a new contract for members employed in the Swift and Company branch house in Cumberland, Mike Roth, international representative, reported.

Gains in the two-year contract equal an average increase of 11 cents per hour for the 40 employes of the plant, Roth said, and include:

A 7½ cent wage increase retroactive to May 15, when the former contract expired.

Seven paid holidays, with eight hours pay for each of the holidays not worked.

A seven cent night differential between the hours of 6 p. m. and 6 a. m.

A 36 hour weekly work guarantee for all hourly rated employes.

Roth said the increases will bring the plant minimums to 79½ cents for women and 96 cents for janitors with experienced help ranging from $1.03 to $1.23½ cents per hour.

The contract will be effective until May 15, 1949, but may be opened once each year to negotiate wages and minor changes in the agreement.

Assisting Roth in the negotiations were William Krapf, president; Wayne K. Dayton, secretary-treasurer; Lena Myers, recording secretary, and Alberta Twigg.

Coney Local To Hear Contract Report Sunday

A report on the progress of contract negotiations between Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, and the General Textile Mills will be presented at a meeting of the sub-local to be held in Lonaconing tomorrow at 2 p. m., John G. Thomas, union business manager, said.

Union officials were in New York Thursday to negotiate with company representatives on the contract. Representing the union were Solomon Barkin, TWUA research director; Thomas Shockey, president of the Lonaconing local; Mabel Wilson, Gladys Brown and Thomas.

The union asked a 15-cent increase for the 250 workers of the plant plus a union shop, insurance and pension plans. The contract expired May 8.

VA Hospital Plan Shown In Letter To Sen. Tydings

Present Prospects Here Appear Dim

Allegany County Commissioners received a copy of a letter from F. H. Dryden, assistant administrator for construction, supply and real estate, directed to U. S. Senator Millard E. Tydings, acknowledging local interest in the establishment of a Veterans Administration hospital here.

County Commissioners, as well as Cumberland's Mayor and Council, following requests of county veteran organizations recently, passed resolutions urging Maryland congressmen to make every effort to help establish such an institution in Western Maryland.

The letter indicates that additional hospital facilities for veterans are planned at Baltimore, Washington, D. C. and Clarksburg, W. Va., in addition to the already established Newton D. Baker Hospital at Martinsburg, W. Va. Dryden explains that these additional units will help local conditions as well as conditions in nearby Pennsylvania and West Virginia, where there has been a shortage of veteran hospitals.

It is also stated in the letter that future consideration may be given Cumberland and Allegany County for establishment of a veteran facility here, and the communication seems to indicate that Dryden is keeping the matter open, commissioners said, although no immediate action is anticipated.

Mayor Thomas S. Post said he was informed yesterday in a similar letter from Sen. Tydings that it is not probable that construction of any additional veterans' hospitals will be recommended until the current construction program is completed.

Petitions Acknowledged

Letters were received from John B. Funk, secretary of state, acknowledging 1,766 signatures on one petition and 1,773 on the other, for a referendum on two laws requiring the County Board to purchase voting machines. Funk stated that the board has until June 30 to obtain and send to his office the balance of the signatures. About 2,500 total are needed on each petition to require the referendum and block immediate purchase of the machines, it was stated.

A copy of Mayor Thomas S. Post's letter to the War Department urging immediate completion of the Savage River Dam was received and filed.

An unsigned letter, asking for $25 damage to fences done by snow plows last winter was received. The letter bore no signature, and was closed, "Yours Very Truly, P. O. Box 504, Mt. Savage, Md." The letter was filed.

A letter from Wilson T. Ballard, chief engineer of the State Roads Commission, objecting to plans for surfacing a road between Frostburg and Midlothian, was referred to Albert S. Faye, county engineer.

Ballard stated the program as prepared by the county is not satisfactory as it calls for surfacing over the present grade. He recommends that certain turns be eliminated and that a new grade be established as the federal government would not approve a plan for resurfacing.

The changes as proposed by the

Green Says Progress Made In Labor Unity

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in a letter to the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference, said the recent AFL-CIO statement calling for unity of the American Labor Movement represents progress in efforts being made to unify American labor.

The communication followed receipt of a resolution from the Allegany County labor group calling for unification of labor as one of the effective ways to combat anti-labor legislation.

The joint statement made in Washington May 2, called for the two groups to proceed to deal with the details of the establishment of a strong labor movement in future meetings of the organizations, according to Paul Burley, secretary of the Unity Conference.

Veteran Gets 2 Degrees 2 Years After Discharge

Two years to the day from the date he was mustered out of service in World War II, William Joseph Gunter, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Gunter, 201 Washington Street, will receive his bachelor of arts and bachelor of law degrees from the University of Maryland.

Gunter, who was mustered out of the Army June 7, 1945, after 28 months in New Guinea, entered college a week later and today, June 7, 1947, will receive his degrees. Since entering college he has had no vacation from his studies. His wife and child reside here.

Several Housing Controls Remain, Expediter States

Federal Permits Are Not Required

Although federal building permits are no longer required for those who want to build homes for themselves or for veterans, some controls are still in effect, according to Charles C. Yost, Sr., locality housing expediter.

Recalling that since June 1, federal building permits have not been required, Yost said that on that date the limit on the number of bathroom fixtures was lifted, and that the 1,500 square feet limitation on homes has been expanded to 2,000 square feet. Persons who have already obtained permits may adopt these more liberal provisions, he added.

Continued controls which still affect the housing program with regard to the building of new homes are as follows:

1. The construction limitation order (VHP-1) under which authorization must be obtained to construct new housing. Small job allowances are increased from $400 to $1,000 for dwellings and from $1,000 to $2,500 for commercial and small industrial structures.
2. Veterans' preference, under which a person building a house not intended for his own occupancy must give a veteran first choice in buying or renting the property.
3. The requirement that houses be built for year-round occupancy.
4. Rent ceilings on new construction.
5. Sales prices and rent ceilings for homes built under priority authorization granted prior to December 24, 1946.

Until further details are received, Yost said, persons interested in non-housing construction should file applications for such construction with the Construction Division, Office of the Housing Expediter, 1106 Charles Street, Baltimore.

Persons interested in the construction of a combination commercial-apartment structure are still required to file their applications with the Federal Housing Administration, Fidelity Trust Building, Baltimore.

Local Unions Vote Support To Strikers

At a meeting last night Local Federation No. 7 of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad voted full endorsement and support to Local 1874, T. W. U. A., during the strike now in progress with Celanese, according to W. J. Jones, secretary-treasurer of the federation.

The B. and O. organziation is comprised of over 2,500 workers from all crafts affiliated with the A. F. of L. Employes Department.

Jones, in statement, said: "We feel that this strike is justified after fully examining the issues. This strike comes at a time when the full force of reaction is being turned against the American workers. This reaction is best exemplified by the passage of the Labor Restricting Bill in the House of Representatives and prepared by the National Association of Manufacturers."

Another Cumberland union, the Meat Cutters Union, Local 322, A. F. of L., voted to donate 100 pounds of meat to be used for hamburgers on the picket lines at the Celanese plant, William Krapf, president, stated yesterday.

Public Schools' Summer Musical Course Planned

Classes To Be Taught June 24 To August 2

A summer school course in instrumental music for elementary and high school students of Allegany County Public Schools will be offered during the vacation months beginning June 24. Charles L. Kopp, school superintendent, announced yesterday.

Classes, which will be continued until August 2, will be divided into three departments with Wilton Sykes instructing string instrument students; Harry Malcolm teaching in the woodwind department and Lua Sykes in charge of brass instrument students.

Classes At West Side

Classes in brass and woodwind instruments will be conducted at West Side School, this city, Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 8 to 12 o'clock in the morning and at Central High School, Lonaconing, Thursday mornings at the same times.

Classes for students with string instruments will be conducted in Cumberland at West Side School from 1 to 5 p. m. on Tuesdays and Wednesdays, and in Lonaconing at Central from 1 to 5 p. m. on Thursdays. An additional class will be formed at Flintstone if enrollments justify, Kopp explained.

Pupils will be assigned according to their level of advancement, with no class to exceed 15 pupils, and many will be kept to less than 10 pupils, instructors stated.

Instructions will be given to all students who have been studying music under the Board of Education Music program during the school year with special classes being formed for violin, string bass, cello, clarinet, saxaphone, flute, trumpet, trombone, baritone horn and French horn.

Jack Platt Is Director

The courses will be offered under the direction af Jack E. Platt, director of music education, who arranged the summer program, Kopp explained.

A senior and junior band will be formed at West Side School with instructions to be given on Tuesdays from 10 to 12 a. m. Platt said instructions will be given in the study of marches, overtures, medleys, new instrumental program numbers, phrasing, intonation, sight reading and technique.

Application blanks have already been sent to the various schools in the county, Platt said, and enrollment, which will require a small tuition fee for the six weeks of training, is expected to be compiled before the end of school.

Students may register with school principals, music instructors, the Music Department or at the Board of Education office.

Enlistments Reported By Navy Recruiter

Louis Carl Garner, 523 North Mechanic Street, has enlisted in the V-6 inactive naval reserve as an apprentice seaman, according to Chief Torpedoman Edgar L. Schrader, local Navy recruiter.

In addition, two men have enlisted in the regular Navy and have been assigned to naval bases.

Richard David Cline, 126 James Street, Keyser, W. Va., enlisted for four years and was assigned to the training center at Great Lakes, Ill. He is a graduate of Piedmont High School.

Clarence Lewis Lyons, Baltimore Pike, a veteran of 39 months' naval service, enlisted for four years and was transferred to Washington, D. C., for assignment. He fought in both the European and Pacific theaters of war.

Liquor Board Grants Guardsmen Beer Permit

The Allegany County Liquor Control Board granted a beer license to Randolph Millholland for the National Guard units at the Maryland State Armory, South Centre Street. A transfer was also granted to James E. Kenny for Victory Post, American Legion, 114 Washington Street, Westernport, from 46-48 West Main Street.

115th Infantry Marks D-Day Anniversary With Ceremony

Retreat Parade Held At Court House Lawn

The clear bugle notes of retreat were sounded last night on the historic ground of Allegany County Court House, where General George Washington and Col. Braddock reviewed their troops at a time when this nation was being born.

While the ceremony last night recalled in retrospect the dark moments and the victories of the nation, it was held by local units of the 115th Infantry Regiment, Maryland National Guard, in observance of the third anniversary of the invasion of Europe, when so many Maryland soldiers fought heroically, and much Maryland blood was shed.

Led by Squadron No. 13, Sons of the American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps, mascots of the 29th Division, the local National Guardsmen, comprising Headquarters Company and Company C of the First Battalion, 115th Regiment, marched from the State Armory to the Court House at sundown, for the brief but impressive ceremony.

Accompanied by the drum and bugle corps of Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion of Frostburg, and the Junior Order Band of Mt. Savage, the military units halted in front of the War Memorial cannon on the Court House lawn, and rendered a salute by presenting arms.

The colors of the units were massed, and Maj. Howard H. Dickey, battalion commander, read the citation received by the regiment from President Franklin D. Roosevelt, for the gallant part played by local troops in the invasion of Fortress Europe D-Day, June 6, 1944.

Tribute To Comrades

Maj. Dickey said, "We believe it is fitting to pause today for this Retreat parade and ceremony, for two special reasons. First, this is the anniversary of the landing in Normandy, when our troops took Omaha Beach. Second, the governor of Maryland has proclaimed today Maryland National Guard Day.

"As a tribute to the men who took part in that invasion, and as a memorial to the men who did not return to be with us now, I read the presidential citation."

Then Maj. Dickey read the citation, in which the 115th Regiment is credited for securing their section of beach, and making further advancement possible. "The courage, the tenacity, aggressiveness, the extraordinary heroism of all personnel of the 115th Infantry Regiment, at a time when the success of this great military undertaking was in the balance, reflects the highest credit on the military forces of the United States," the citation concluded.

Veterans Lower Colors

Joseph M. Fradiska, veteran of World War 1 and local American Legionnaire, sounded Retreat on a bugle.

All units came to attention and "Presented Arms" as the Junior Order Band of Mt. Savage, under the direction of Thomas Lewis, played the National Anthem.

As the anthem was being played, Tech. Sgt. William Norwood, veteran of the 115th Infantry who was taken prisoner by the Germans shortly after the D-Day invasion, and Sgt. Raymond Humbertson, Marine Corps veteran of World War II, lowered the flag, removing it from the lanyard at the last note of music. The flag was then folded military fashion into a small bundle of blue and handed to a Court House attache for the night. Both Norwood and Humbertson are members of the local guard units.

With the conclusion of the ceremony, Farrady Post Drum Corps, with Lloyd McNeal as drum major, stepped off briskly to lead the parade back to the Armory. The troops moved off followed by the band with the Sons of the Legion, with Albert Valentine as drum major, closing the procession.

Colorful Spectacle

A large crowd of spectators came to the Court House to see the ceremony, which is seldom observed anywhere except on a military post. It was both colorful and impressive and the gay uniforms of the musical units provided a gala background for the khaki-clad veterans.

Maj. Dickey last night said he and members of his guard units are very grateful to the three musical units who participated in the ceremony. He praised especially the appearance of the Mt. Savage Band and the Frostburg drum corps who came to Cumberland at their own expense and on their own time to participate.

Since this is National Guard month in Maryland, as proclaimed by Governor William Preston Lane, guardsmen indicated last night that other public ceremonies are being planned as a part of a recruiting program for enrolling 300 men, in the two local units.

Court Grants Two Divorce Decrees

Two divorce decrees were signed in Circuit Court yesterday, and four new cases entered on the equity docket.

A suit for divorce filed by Christina Mae Evans, Westernport, was dismissed by Associate Judge George Henderson, but the Judge signed a decree granting her husband, Wilbur E. Evans, 123 North Mechanic Street, a divorce on his crossbill. Under the terms, Evans agreed that his wife should have custody of their two children and he will pay $10 per week for their support. The couple married April 4, 1941 and separated May 26, 1946.

Chief Judge William A. Huster signed a decree in the case of Helen A. Bottemer, Corriganville, against Lawrence P. Bottemer. She was given the right to resume her maiden name, Helen A. Combs. The couple married July 24, 1945, at St. Augustine, Fla., and separated in August, 1945.

New suits were docketed by Thomas F. Van Sant vs. Eula Frances Van Sant; Martha Corrigan vs Patrick Corrigan; Eva Schermer vs Henry Schermer; and Geneva S. Adams vs James Lee Adams.

Revival Services Planned

Yesterday afternoon's meeting featured a demonstration of a model daily vacation Bible school, presented by Rev. Sibley Burnette, Nashville, Tenn., a representative of the Sunday School Board of the Southern Baptist Conference; and Miss Caroline D. Henderson, Baltimore, state director of Sunday School work.

Dr. Joe W. Burton, Nashville Tenn., editor of "Home Life," will be the speaker during the first week of revival services to be held each evening at the Second Baptist church, Grand Avenue, beginning Sunday. The revival will last two weeks.

The speaker's magazine, a monthly centered on Christian home life, was begun in January of this year. He is to speak twice Sunday, and once each succeeding evening through Friday.

During the second week Dr. William Crowder, who preached at the Second Baptist more than a month last fall, will return as speaker. His assignment includes the June 15-22 period, and he will speak twice each Sunday.

Services will begin each evening at 8 o'clock with a song. A prayer meeting at 7:40 will precede each service in the ladies' parlor.

Area Young Men May Be Appointed To Naval Academy

High school juniors who will be 17 years of age on or before July 1 of this year have an opportunity to apply for appointment to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis next year, according to Lt. Comdr. Walter N. Hedrick, organizing officer of the Cumberland Organized Naval Reserve Division.

To be eligible, however, such young men must enlist in the Naval Reserve before July 1, Comdr. Hedrick said. He explained that during their senior year in high school they can take subjects which will aid them in passing entrance examinations for the Naval Academy.

Comdr. Hedrick said that 160 appointments are open to members of the Naval Reserve throughout the country who meet these qualifications, and that such appointments have no political connection.

Comdr. Hedrick also announced that Raymond Miller Kelley, storekeeper second class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Royal S. Valentine, 245 Humbird Street, has been assigned to temporary duty at the Naval Reserve office.

A veteran of two years' previous Navy service, Kelley was stationed at Okinawa air bases for one year. He was graduated from Fort Hill High School in 1943.

Local Motorist Held For Striking Taccino

Accused of striking another man in the mouth following a minor auto collision on the corner of Liberty and Baltimore Streets last night, a man identified as Earl E. Cooley, 506 Maryland Avenue, was charged with disorderly conduct and released on $10 bond.

Assistant Chief of Police John J. Trieber said Cooley was attempting to pull into a lane of traffic on Baltimore Street from North Liberty Street when Joseph Taccino, Mt. Savage, struck the rear fender of Cooley's car.

Trieber said Cooley got out of his machine and walked over to Taccino's car and struck the man in the mouth. Taccino was summoned as a witness. Cooley will be given a hearing this morning.

New Playground Is Recommended At Centre Street

Group Suggests Fund Allocations

In a letter to the Park Board, the Cumberland Playground Associations group has recommended that $2,550 of the current $9,700 playground appropriation be used for permanent improvements and development of new playgrounds, including one in the vicinity of the Centre Street School, Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday.

At a meeting earlier this week of the playground group, William H. Buchholtz, president, said that the recommendations in the letter were approved by vote of the entire group.

Under the "permanent improvements" item, the group recommended a wading pool for Gephart playground, a basketball court at West Side, and a small shelter for the playleader at Mt. Royal.

The largest single item in the proposal is the recommended allocation of $5,750 of the appropriation to pay weekly salaries of $25 each to 23 playleaders for 10 weeks. The group said that efforts should be made to secure three men as playleaders, to promote playground activities and inter-play group contests, and to act as substitutes where needed.

Another item in the letter is the suggested allocation of $1,000 to a maintenance fund. The group said that "immediate attention" should be given to the step approach from East Street leading to the East Side playground, and that steps from Marion Street on to the playground should be erected, to correct unsafe conditions.

The remaining $400 in the appropriation, it was stated, could be used to purchase games and small equipment from lists to be submitted by the various playleaders and associations. The letter recommended that the equipment be purchased in a lot by the City of Cumberland or the Park Board and distributed to each playground—$40 worth of small equipment to be allocated to each of the 10 playgrounds.

The communication was signed by Buchholtz, William E. McCullough, vice president, and Fern E. Kenney, acting secretary. Henry Gehauf is secretary-treasurer.

At a meeting prior to the establishment of this year's city budget by the Mayor and Council, the playground group had recommended a playground appropriation of $14,900, including a $5,000 increase for the establishment of new playgrounds.

Mayor Post, Commissioner Myers G. Light and Mrs. Marguerite E. Pindlay, the three members of the Park Board, attended that meeting and invited the officers of the playground group to "sit in" with them when playleaders are selected for the coming season. City playgrounds are scheduled to open June 23.

No date has been set for the conference as yet.

10 Persons Hurt In Series Of Minor Mishaps

A 69-year-old Flintstone man was admitted to Allegany Hospital late yesterday afternoon for treatment of undetermined injuries suffered when he fell from a ladder while at work on his home.

The elderly man, James Blizzard, was reported in a "fair" condition. Attaches said X-rays will be taken today.

Mrs. Louis Lehman, 52, 215 Reynolds Street, was treated in Allegany yesterday afternoon for a fractured right arm. She was injured at home.

Paul Winters, 38, Cresaptown truck driver, was treated in the same hospital last night after a drill ran over his right foot. X-rays were taken and the injury treated.

Mildred Nelson, 18, Carpenter Road, Ridgeley, W. Va., a McCrory worker, was treated in Allegany after she cut her left hand on a glass counter.

Edward Roberts, 30, 403 Avirett Avenue, was treated for a right ankle injury suffered while playing baseball.

Memorial Hospital attaches treated an Oldtown farmer for abrasions of the left leg after he had been kicked by a horse at 10 p. m. yesterday at his farm in Oldtown.

Also treated at the same hospital were Patricia Ann Turner, 7, daughter of Charles Turner, 214 Seymour Street, who suffered a laceration of the right knee when she fell while playing, and Joseph Steen, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Steen, 714 Oldtown Road, who ran a rusty nail through his right foot.

John Milleson, 34, Springfield, W. Va., was treated in Memorial Hospital yesterday morning after a piece of steel wire pierced his left hand. He was able to return home after the wire was removed.

Granville Nelson, 9, 214 Potomac Street, was treated in the same hospital yesterday afternoon for abrasions and possible strains suffered when he slipped and fell at school.

Frostburg Motorist Fined

Irvin Wolford, West Mechanic Street, Frostburg, was fined $30 and costs yesterday when he was found guilty by Magistrate James Kenney on charges of careless driving and disorderly conduct.

Officers Lloyd Truley and Jack Kerr made the arrest, and said Wolford was speeding on Main Street early yesterday morning. He was fined $20 on the careless driving charge and $10 on the disorderly conduct charge.

Celanese Dispute Continues After 15-Hour Session

Negotiations End With "Nothing To Report"

Holden Says No Meetings Slated

A 15-hour negotiating session between Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, and the Celanese Corporation of America broke up this morning at 1:30 o'clock without making any significant change in the contract deadlock which led to a strike at the Celanese plant May 30.

The session began yesterday morning shortly after 10 o'clock and lasted until early this morning when the meeting broke up without an agreement on the issues.

James A. Holden, federal conciliator, who with Mrs. Margaret Kimble, acting commissioner of labor and industry for Maryland, called the meeting in an effort to break the deadlock, said there was really "nothing to report" from the lengthy session.

He added he thought there was "a bit of progress" made in the session yesterday. The next meeting between the parties, he said, will be called by him and Mrs. Kimble.

William Boyd Coleman, union president, said early this morning there was "nothing to report" as a result of the meeting. The conciliator, he added, will arrange the next meeting to be held.

When asked if it looked at any time during the negotiations as if there was a chance for a settlement, his only reply was, "Are you kidding?"

He added, "There is no progress and that covers everything."

The meeting ended early this morning without an agreement. Edward R. Allan, plant personnel manager, who has headed the company negotiating team, reported.

Any further meetings will be adjourned until arranged by the conciliator, he added. He said there was "not much progress" as a result of the lengthy session.

The session, called by federal and state labor officials in an attempt to break the deadlock which has existed since the union rejected what it termed the company's "final" offer on May 28 and called the strike effective May 30 at 11 p. m., was termed by James A. Holden, federal conciliator, as "exploratory."

Discussions, however, continued all morning and were resumed after brief time-outs for lunch and dinner and indicated that at least sufficient progress was being made to justify the continuance of negotiations.

The discussion directly between the disputing parties was the first since Monday and came as a result of a series of separate conferences conducted by James A. Holden, federal conciliator, and Mrs. Margaret W. Kimble, acting commissioner of labor and industry for Maryland.

6 Issues Listed

The issues appear to center around the following problems.

1. A union request for time and one-half pay for Saturday, double time for Sunday, a paid lunch period for day-shift workers, and pay for holidays not worked.
2. A company request for amending the cooperation clause.
3. A company request for a a change in the wording of a transfer clause.
4. A union request for some wage reopening provision and the company's stand for stabilized conditions.
5. A union desire for a security clause such as the union shop.
6. A union desire to negotiate a pension plan.

On the cooperation issue the union has previously indicated its willingness to accept the company clause which concerns "a fair day's work" if the company agree to arbitrate disputes over workloads and compensation.

The current transfer clause gives the company the "right to transfer across divisional lines to avoid short time, furlough or overtime where it is reasonably anticipated that the conditions causing short time, furlough or overtime will continue two weeks or longer." Apparently the company wants the "two weeks" part eliminated and the union opposes this on the grounds that abuses may result.

Wage reopening, union shop and pension proposals are not believed to offer bars to a settlement.

The Celanese announced yesterday that pay checks for hourly rated employes for the week ending May 31 will be distributed at the State Armory Monday from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. and on Tuesday from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., and from Wednesday on at the office on the second floor of the Footer building from 9 a .m. to 4 p m.

The arrangement, a company official said, is the same as was used after the explosion of June, 1943.

The plant was reported on a standby basis yesterday and not more than 120 workers were expected to report today to the plant employing some 9,000 hourly rated employes.

Although union officials were not available at midnight for comment, it is presumed that a full report of the progress of negotiations will be presented at a meeting of the 368-member strike committee scheduled this morning at 10 o'clock at the union hall.

Diedrich, 773 Fayette Street, and Lois D. Piper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Piper, 105 Lutheran Avenue, will receive their diplomas.

The baccalaureate sermon will be delivered Sunday morning by Dr. Douglas Horton, secretary and minister of the General Council of Congregational Christian Churches.

W. Va. Justices, Constables Get Increase In Fees

First Raise In 50 Years Is Granted

West Virginia justices of the peace and constables began Thursday to operate on a new system of fees, as provided in a law enacted by the State Legislature at its recent assembly, which, according to officials, will give them a "small" increase in income.

Justice of the Peace C. A. Jewell, Ridgeley, said last night the new fee system will represent a much more substantial increase to constables than it does to magistrates, but added it is the first increase of any kind the estate has provided for such officials in the past half century.

Deal With Summonses

The increases deal mostly with the issuance and service of summonses and making returns on them. One of the more radical changes in the bill requires justices to collect fees for themselves and for constables in advance.

Fees for justices will remain at $3 for criminal cases, but a defendant released for hearing will pay $2 for bond and the same amount if held for grand jury action.

In civil cases, justices are permitted to charge $3 for themselves and $1.50 for the constables. For swearing of witnesses, including the plaintiff and defendant, the justice will receive 15 cents each.

In criminal cases constables will get $1.50 for serving a felony warrant instead of the 75 cents formerly collected and $1 for a misdemeanor warrant instead of 50 cents.

Allowed Five Cents A Mile

Constables are allowed five cents a mile traveling expenses for going after a defendant in criminal cases and 10 cents a mile for bringing a defendant to jail. Formerly they were paid only if the defenant was brought in. No mileage is allowed in civil cases.

The constables will also receive $6.50 for attachments made on personal property where they formerly received $4.50. Justices will receive an additional 25 cents for each additional summons served in excess of two where he formerly received $3 regardless of the number.

For taking property under attachment a constable now receives $2.50 representing an increase of $1.

Under the new law, which was sponsored by the Minor Judiciary Association of West Virginia, a list of the new fees must be posted in the office of each justice, Magistrate Jewell said.

Meat Cutters Win 7 1-2 Cent Increase At Swift Plant

Local 322, Amalgamated Meat Cutters Union, AFL, completed negotiations yesterday on a new contract for members employed in the Swift and Company branch house in Cumberland, Mike Roth, international representative, reported.

Gains in the two-year contract equal an average increase of 11 cents per hour for the 40 employes of the plant, Roth said, and include:

A 7½ cent wage increase retroactive to May 15, when the former contract expired.

Seven paid holidays, with eight hours pay for each of the holidays not worked.

A seven cent night differential between the hours of 6 p. m. and 6 a. m.

A 36 hour weekly work guarantee for all hourly rated employes.

Roth said the increases will bring the plant minimums to 79½ cents for women and 96 cents for janitors with experienced help ranging from $1.03 to $1.23½ cents per hour.

The contract will be effective until May 15, 1949, but may be opened once each year to negotiate wages and minor changes in the agreement.

Assisting Roth in the negotiations were William Krapf, president; Wayne K. Dayton, secretary-treasurer; Lena Myers, recording secretary, and Alberta Twigg.

Coney Local To Hear Contract Report Sunday

A report on the progress of contract negotiations between Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, and the General Textile Mills will be presented at a meeting of the sub-local to be held in Lonaconing tomorrow at 2 p. m., John G. Thomas, union business manager, said.

Union officials were in New York Thursday to negotiate with company representatives on the contract. Representing the union were Solomon Barkin, TWUA research director; Thomas Shockey, president of the Lonaconing local; Mabel Wilson, Gladys Brown and Thomas.

The union asked a 15-cent increase for the 250 workers of the plant plus a union shop, insurance and pension plans. The contract expired May 8.

Bible Class Has Social

The Duke Memorial Bible Class observed ladies night and at the same time honored members of the organization's orchestra last night with a dinner in the club room of Central YMCA.

Rev. F. D. Oberkircher, pastor of Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church, addressed the group on "Bee Culture."

Present Prospects Here Appear Dim

Allegany County Commissioners received a copy of a letter from F. H. Dryden, assistant administrator for construction, supply and real estate, directed to U. S. Senator Millard E. Tydings, acknowledging local interest in the establishment of a Veterans Administration hospital here.

County Commissioners, as well as Cumberland's Mayor and Council, following requests of county veteran organizations recently, passed resolutions urging Maryland congressmen to make every effort to help establish such an institution in Western Maryland.

The letter indicates that additional hospital facilities for veterans are planned at Baltimore, Washington, D. C. and Clarksburg, W. Va., in addition to the already established Newton D. Baker Hospital at Martinsburg, W. Va. Dryden explains that these additional units will help local conditions as well as conditions in nearby Pennsylvania and West Virginia, where there has been a shortage of veteran hospitals.

It is also stated in the letter that future consideration may be given Cumberland and Allegany County for establishment of a veteran facility here, and the communication seems to indicate that Dryden is keeping the matter open, commissioners said, although no immediate action is anticipated.

Mayor Thomas S. Post said he was informed yesterday in a similar letter from Sen. Tydings that it is not probable that construction of any additional veterans' hospitals will be recommended until the current construction program is completed.

Petitions Acknowledged

Letters were received from John B. Funk, secretary of state, acknowledging 1,766 signatures on one petition and 1,773 on the other, for a referendum on two laws requiring the County Board to purchase voting machines. Funk stated that the board has until June 30 to obtain and send to his office the balance of the signatures. About 2,500 total are needed on each petition to require the referendum and block immediate purchase of the machines, it was stated.

A copy of Mayor Thomas S. Post's letter to the War Department urging immediate completion of the Savage River Dam was received and filed.

An unsigned letter, asking for $25 damage to fences done by snow plows last winter was received. The letter bore no signature, and was closed, "Yours Very Truly, P. O. Box 504, Mt. Savage, Md." The letter was filed.

A letter from Wilson T. Ballard, chief engineer of the State Roads Commission, objecting to plans for surfacing a road between Frostburg and Midlothian, was referred to Albert S. Faye, county engineer.

Ballard stated the program as prepared by the county is not satisfactory as it calls for surfacing over the present grade. He recommends that certain turns be eliminated and that a new grade be established as the federal government would not approve a plan for resurfacing.

The changes as proposed by the

Green Says Progress Made In Labor Unity

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in a letter to the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference, said the recent AFL-CIO statement calling for unity of the American Labor Movement represents progress in efforts being made to unify American labor.

The communication followed receipt of a resolution from the Allegany County labor group calling for unification of labor as one of the effective ways to combat anti-labor legislation.

The joint statement made in Washington May 2, called for the two groups to proceed to deal with the details of the establishment of a strong labor movement in future meetings of the organizations, according to Paul Burley, secretary of the Unity Conference.

Gunter, who was mustered out of the Army June 7, 1945, after 28 months in New Guinea, entered college a week later and today, June 7, 1947, will receive his degrees. Since entering college he has had no vacation from his studies. His wife and child reside here.

Several Housing Controls Remain, Expediter States

Federal Permits Are Not Required

Although federal building permits are no longer required for those who want to build homes for themselves or for veterans, some controls are still in effect, according to Charles C. Yost, Sr., locality housing expediter.

Recalling that since June 1, federal building permits have not been required, Yost said that on that date the limit on the number of bathroom fixtures was lifted, and that the 1,500 square feet limitation on homes has been expanded to 2,000 square feet. Persons who have already obtained permits may adopt these more liberal provisions, he added.

Continued controls which still affect the housing program with regard to the building of new homes are as follows:

1. The construction limitation order (VHP-1) under which authorization must be obtained to construct new housing. Small job allowances are increased from $400 to $1,000 for dwellings and from $1,000 to $2,500 for commercial and small industrial structures.
2. Veterans' preference, under which a person building a house not intended for his own occupancy must give a veteran first choice in buying or renting the property.
3. The requirement that houses be built for year-round occupancy.
4. Rent ceilings on new construction.
5. Sales prices and rent ceilings for homes built under priority authorization granted prior to December 24, 1946.

Until further details are received, Yost said, persons interested in non-housing construction should file applications for such construction with the Construction Division, Office of the Housing Expediter, 1106 Charles Street, Baltimore.

Persons interested in the construction of a combination commercial-apartment structure are still required to file their applications with the Federal Housing Administration, Fidelity Trust Building, Baltimore.

Local Unions Vote Support To Strikers

At a meeting last night Local Federation No. 7 of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad voted full endorsement and support to Local 1874, T. W. U. A., during the strike now in progress with Celanese, according to W. J. Jones, secretary-treasurer of the federation.

The B. and O. organziation is comprised of over 2,500 workers from all crafts affiliated with the A. F. of L. Employes Department.

Jones, in statement, said: "We feel that this strike is justified after fully examining the issues. This strike comes at a time when the full force of reaction is being turned against the American workers. This reaction is best exemplified by the passage of the Labor Restricting Bill in the House of Representatives and prepared by the National Association of Manufacturers."

Another Cumberland union, the Meat Cutters Union, Local 322, A. F. of L., voted to donate 100 pounds of meat to be used for hamburgers on the picket lines at the Celanese plant, William Krapf, president, stated yesterday.

Public Schools' Summer Musical Course Planned

Classes To Be Taught June 24 To August 2

A summer school course in instrumental music for elementary and high school students of Allegany County Public Schools will be offered during the vacation months beginning June 24. Charles L. Kopp, school superintendent, announced yesterday.

Classes, which will be continued until August 2, will be divided into three departments with Wilton Sykes instructing string instrument students; Harry Malcolm teaching in the woodwind department and Lua Sykes in charge of brass instrument students.

Classes At West Side

Classes in brass and woodwind instruments will be conducted at West Side School, this city, Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 8 to 12 o'clock in the morning and at Central High School, Lonaconing, Thursday mornings at the same times.

Classes for students with string instruments will be conducted in Cumberland at West Side School from 1 to 5 p. m. on Tuesdays and Wednesdays, and in Lonaconing at Central from 1 to 5 p. m. on Thursdays. An additional class will be formed at Flintstone if enrollments justify, Kopp explained.

Pupils will be assigned according to their level of advancement, with no class to exceed 15 pupils, and many will be kept to less than 10 pupils, instructors stated.

Instructions will be given to all students who have been studying music under the Board of Education Music program during the school year with special classes being formed for violin, string bass, cello, clarinet, saxaphone, flute, trumpet, trombone, baritone horn and French horn.

Jack Platt Is Director

The courses will be offered under the direction af Jack E. Platt, director of music education, who arranged the summer program, Kopp explained.

A senior and junior band will be formed at West Side School with instructions to be given on Tuesdays from 10 to 12 a. m. Platt said instructions will be given in the study of marches, overtures, medleys, new instrumental program numbers, phrasing, intonation, sight reading and technique.

Application blanks have already been sent to the various schools in the county, Platt said, and enrollment, which will require a small tuition fee for the six weeks of training, is expected to be compiled before the end of school.

Students may register with school principals, music instructors, the Music Department or at the Board of Education office.

Enlistments Reported By Navy Recruiter

Louis Carl Garner, 523 North Mechanic Street, has enlisted in the V-6 inactive naval reserve as an apprentice seaman, according to Chief Torpedoman Edgar L. Schrader, local Navy recruiter.

In addition, two men have enlisted in the regular Navy and have been assigned to naval bases.

Richard David Cline, 126 James Street, Keyser, W. Va., enlisted for four years and was assigned to the training center at Great Lakes, Ill. He is a graduate of Piedmont High School.

Clarence Lewis Lyons, Baltimore Pike, a veteran of 39 months' naval service, enlisted for four years and was transferred to Washington, D. C., for assignment. He fought in both the European and Pacific theaters of war.

115th Infantry Marks D-Day Anniversary With Ceremony

Retreat Parade Held At Court House Lawn

The clear bugle notes of retreat were sounded last night on the historic ground of Allegany County Court House, where General George Washington and Col. Braddock reviewed their troops at a time when this nation was being born.

While the ceremony last night recalled in retrospect the dark moments and the victories of the nation, it was held by local units of the 115th Infantry Regiment, Maryland National Guard, in observance of the third anniversary of the invasion of Europe, when so many Maryland soldiers fought heroically, and much Maryland blood was shed.

Led by Squadron No. 13, Sons of the American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps, mascots of the 29th Division, the local National Guardsmen, comprising Headquarters Company and Company C of the First Battalion, 115th Regiment, marched from the State Armory to the Court House at sundown, for the brief but impressive ceremony.

Accompanied by the drum and bugle corps of Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion of Frostburg, and the Junior Order Band of Mt. Savage, the military units halted in front of the War Memorial cannon on the Court House lawn, and rendered a salute by presenting arms.

The colors of the units were massed, and Maj. Howard H. Dickey, battalion commander, read the citation received by the regiment from President Franklin D. Roosevelt, for the gallant part played by local troops in the invasion of Fortress Europe D-Day, June 6, 1944.

Tribute To Comrades

Maj. Dickey said, "We believe it is fitting to pause today for this Retreat parade and ceremony, for two special reasons. First, this is the anniversary of the landing in Normandy, when our troops took Omaha Beach. Second, the governor of Maryland has proclaimed today Maryland National Guard Day.

"As a tribute to the men who took part in that invasion, and as a memorial to the men who did not return to be with us now, I read the presidential citation."

Then Maj. Dickey read the citation, in which the 115th Regiment is credited for securing their section of beach, and making further advancement possible. "The courage, the tenacity, aggressiveness, the extraordinary heroism of all personnel of the 115th Infantry Regiment, at a time when the success of this great military undertaking was in the balance, reflects the highest credit on the military forces of the United States," the citation concluded.

Veterans Lower Colors

Joseph M. Fradiska, veteran of World War 1 and local American Legionnaire, sounded Retreat on a bugle.

All units came to attention and "Presented Arms" as the Junior Order Band of Mt. Savage, under the direction of Thomas Lewis, played the National Anthem.

As the anthem was being played, Tech. Sgt. William Norwood, veteran of the 115th Infantry who was taken prisoner by the Germans shortly after the D-Day invasion, and Sgt. Raymond Humbertson, Marine Corps veteran of World War II, lowered the flag, removing it from the lanyard at the last note of music. The flag was then folded military fashion into a small bundle of blue and handed to a Court House attache for the night. Both Norwood and Humbertson are members of the local guard units.

With the conclusion of the ceremony, Farrady Post Drum Corps, with Lloyd McNeal as drum major, stepped off briskly to lead the parade back to the Armory. The troops moved off followed by the band with the Sons of the Legion, with Albert Valentine as drum major, closing the procession.

Colorful Spectacle

A large crowd of spectators came to the Court House to see the ceremony, which is seldom observed anywhere except on a military post. It was both colorful and impressive and the gay uniforms of the musical units provided a gala background for the khaki-clad veterans.

Maj. Dickey last night said he and members of his guard units are very grateful to the three musical units who participated in the ceremony. He praised especially the appearance of the Mt. Savage Band and the Frostburg drum corps who came to Cumberland at their own expense and on their own time to participate.

Since this is National Guard month in Maryland, as proclaimed by Governor William Preston Lane, guardsmen indicated last night that other public ceremonies are being planned as a part of a recruiting program for enrolling 300 men, in the two local units.

Area Young Men May Be Appointed To Naval Academy

High school juniors who will be 17 years of age on or before July 1 of this year have an opportunity to apply for appointment to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis next year, according to Lt. Comdr. Walter N. Hedrick, organizing officer of the Cumberland Organized Naval Reserve Division.

To be eligible, however, such young men must enlist in the Naval Reserve before July 1, Comdr. Hedrick said. He explained that during their senior year in high school they can take subjects which will aid them in passing entrance examinations for the Naval Academy.

Comdr. Hedrick said that 160 appointments are open to members of the Naval Reserve throughout the country who meet these qualifications, and that such appointments have no political connection.

Comdr. Hedrick also announced that Raymond Miller Kelley, storekeeper second class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Royal S. Valentine, 245 Humbird Street, has been assigned to temporary duty at the Naval Reserve office.

A veteran of two years' previous Navy service, Kelley was stationed at Okinawa air bases for one year. He was graduated from Fort Hill High School in 1943.

Local Motorist Held For Striking Taccino

Accused of striking another man in the mouth following a minor auto collision on the corner of Liberty and Baltimore Street's last night, a man identified as Earl E. Cooley, 506 Maryland Avenue, was charged with disorderly conduct and released on $10 bond.

Assistant Chief of Police John J. Trieber said Cooley was attempting to pull into a lane of traffic on Baltimore Street from North Liberty Street when Joseph Taccino, Mt. Savage, struck the rear fender of Cooley's car.

Trieber said Cooley got out of his machine and walked over to Taccino's car and struck the man in the mouth. Taccino was summoned as a witness. Cooley will be given a hearing this morning.

New Playground Is Recommended At Centre Street

Group Suggests Fund Allocations

In a letter to the Park Board, the Cumberland Playground Associations group has recommended that $2,550 of the current $9,700 playground appropriation be used for permanent improvements and development of new playgrounds, including one in the vicinity of the Centre Street School, Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday.

At a meeting earlier this week of the playground group, William H. Buchholtz, president, said that the recommendations in the letter were approved by vote of the entire group.

Under the "permanent improvements" item, the group recommended a wading pool for Gephart playground, a basketball court at West Side, and a small shelter for the playleader at Mt. Royal.

The largest single item in the proposal is the recommended allocation of $5,750 of the appropriation to pay weekly salaries of $25 each to 23 playleaders for 10 weeks. The group said that efforts should be made to secure three men as playleaders, to promote playground activities and inter-play group contests, and to act as substitutes where needed.

Another item in the letter is the suggested allocation of $1,000 to a maintenance fund. The group said that "immediate attention" should be given to the step approach from East Street leading to the East Side playground, and that steps from Marion Street on to the playground should be erected, to correct unsafe conditions.

The remaining $400 in the appropriation, it was stated, could be used to purchase games and small equipment from lists to be submitted by the various playleaders and associations. The letter recommended that the equipment be purchased in a lot by the City of Cumberland or the Park Board and distributed to each playground—$40 worth of small equipment to be allocated to each of the 10 playgrounds.

The communication was signed by Buchholtz, William E. McCullough, vice president, and Fern E. Kenney, acting secretary. Henry Gehauf is secretary-treasurer.

At a meeting prior to the establishment of this year's city budget by the Mayor and Council, the playground group had recommended a playground appropriation of $14,900, including a $5,000 increase for the establishment of new playgrounds.

Mayor Post, Commissioner Myers G. Light and Mrs. Marguerite E. Findlay, the three members of the Park Board, attended that meeting and invited the officers of the playground group to "sit in" with them when playleaders are selected for the coming season. City playgrounds are scheduled to open June 23.

No date has been set for the conference as yet.
